This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

LONDON:

BURNS AND LAMBERT, 17 PORTMAN STREET,

AND 63 PATERNOSTER ROW.

TO THE SUBSCRIBERS AND PURCHASERS OF THE CATHOLIC DIRECTORY.

As it has been found absolutely necessary to raise the price of the CATHOLIC DIRECTORY, it may be proper to give the reasons for such rise, which, we cannot doubt, will be deemed satisfactory.

The Laity's Directory (of which the CATHOLIC DIRECTORY is the authorised successor) was commenced, it is believed, about seventy or eighty years ago. It consisted of a few pages only, and the price was 4*d.* In the year 1798 the price was raised to 6*d.*; and successively advanced to 8*d.* and 9*d.* till the year 1814, when, from its further enlargement, it was considered necessary to raise it to 1*s.* The publication of that year extended to eighty-four pages only, and contained notices of no more than forty-five chapels, chiefly in London and its vicinity: its successor of 1856 consists of 268 pages, and notes 849 churches, chapels, and stations, throughout Great Britain! In twenty years the further extension of the Laity's Directory did not exceed eighteen pages; and in the year 1839 it was discontinued. In 1840 the CATHOLIC DIRECTORY came out under episcopal authority, considerably enlarged and improved by the addition of an Alphabetical List of the Clergy, and other additions, at the same price as its predecessor; and although it has been increasing from year to year in bulk and importance, the price has till now remained stationary. The enlargements alluded to will appear from the following view:

In 1814 the Laity's Directory amounted to . .	84	pages.
In 1824 " " to . .	90	"
In 1834 " " to . .	100	"
In 1844 the CATHOLIC DIRECTORY, which had been previously extending, was enlarged to	167	"
In 1854 " " " to	221	"
In 1855 " " " to	234	"

All these enlargements are exclusive of the portion occupied by the "Catholic Advertiser." Besides, the CATHOLIC DIRECTORY is greatly superior to its predecessor in the getting-up and the quality of the materials employed; and the one now presented surpasses in these respects all those preceding.

The DIRECTORY for 1856 amounts to 268 pages, being 34 pages more than that of 1855, and IS MORE THAN THREE TIMES THE SIZE OF THE Laity's Directory of 1814.

The result is that the CATHOLIC DIRECTORY now no longer clears its own proper expenses; and were it not for the Advertisements, it would be an actual loss. There was a deficit upon the sale of it and the ORDO in 1855 of upwards of 18*l.*, notwithstanding their great circulation—a deficit which had to be made good from the profits of the Advertisements, which are now far from considerable, owing to the state of the times and the numerous advertising media. And be it observed, that in the account of loss the expense of the DIRECTORY is limited to its own legitimate cost, by deducting from the whole amount the expense of the advertising portion.

Under these circumstances, the price of the CATHOLIC DIRECTORY will be raised to 1*s.* 6*d.*, at which price it will remain stationary, notwithstanding further contemplated improvements and enlargements.

Feast of the Immaculate Conception, 1855.

EXPLANATORY PREFACE.

THE Ecclesiastical Year commences with the first Sunday of Advent, and closes with the last Sunday after Pentecost.

The words Double, Semidouble, and Simple, occurring in the Directory, show the different degrees of solemnity with which the Offices of the Church are performed.

The word Double, subjoined to a Festival, denotes that the Office of that Festival is more solemn than that of a Semidouble or Simple.

The order of the Festivals is as follows: Double of the first class; double of the second class; double major; double; semidouble; and simple.

A Festival is called double when an entire Anthem in the Church Office is recited or sung before and after each Psalm, semidouble when only a word or two of the Anthem are sung before the Psalm, and the entire Anthem after it, as is the case on Sundays. A simple has only three lessons at Matins. A feria is any day of the week for which no Saint's Office is appointed.

The principal Solemnities throughout the year are denominated doubles of the first class. The Festivals instituted by the Church, in memory of the Incarnation, Birth, Resurrection, and Ascension of our Lord, and of the Descent of the Holy Ghost upon the Apostles, recal to our remembrance all that a good and merciful God has done for our salvation: and as the recollection of these Mysteries contributes powerfully to inflame the devotion of the Faithful, it is proper that these should be celebrated with more solemnity than other Festivals.

Among the Saints, there are some whose Festivals are celebrated more solemnly than those of others. Such are the Feasts instituted in honour of the Blessed Virgin Mary, Mother of our Redeemer; of the Holy Apostles, who preached the Gospel and planted the Church; and of some other eminent Saints.

Some of these greater Solemnities have an Octave; which including the day of the Feast, is a succession of eight days, on which the Office and Mass of the Feast are said: but in some cases, when another Festival occurs within the Octave, the Office and Mass of that Festival are said instead of those of the Octave.

Directions for using the Roman Missal or Mass-Book.

The Prayers and portions of the Holy Scripture, of which the Mass is composed, are in part unalterably the same, and partly different every day. Those that are fixed and invariable, are contained in what is called the Ordinary of the Mass, to be found at the beginning of the Missal. The parts that are changeable or proper,—viz. the Introits, Collects, Epistles, Graduals, and Tracts, Gospels, Offertories, Secrets, Communions, and Postcommunions,—form the subsequent contents of the book. As the Prefaces are not so frequently subject to change, they follow each other in regular succession in the Ordinary of the Mass.

In order, therefore, to find out the proper Mass of the day, look for that day in the Calendar at the beginning of the book; opposite to which may be seen a reference to the page wherein it is contained. If a Double should fall on a Sunday, then the Mass of the Double is said instead of that of the Sunday, unless it be a Sunday of the first class, viz. the first Sunday of Advent or Lent, Passion, Palm, Easter, Pentecost, and Trinity Sundays, which are never superseded. The Sundays of the second class, which cannot be superseded except by doubles of the first class, are the 2d, 3d, and 4th, of Advent, Septuagesima, Sexagesima, and Quinquagesima; as also the 2d, 3d, and 4th of Lent. It must, however, be remarked, that the Gospels for Sundays, thus superseded by Doubles, are never omitted, but are recited at the end of Mass, instead of St. John's Gospel; and also, that a commemoration of the Sunday, by its proper Collect, Secret, and Postcommunion, is always made immediately after the Collect, &c. of the Festival.

But as it sometimes happens that a Double is transferred to some future vacant day, on account of the Octave of some Festival of higher rank intervening, then the difficulty of finding out the day on which such transferred Festival is celebrated, as well as all other difficulties regarding the service, may be easily removed by consulting the DIRECTORY, published annually, as a Guide to the Morning as well as to the Evening Service of the Church.

Directions for using the Vesper-Book, or Book of Evening Service.

It appears necessary to explain the order, as well as the manner, in which that part of the public Liturgy of the Catholic Church called Vespers is recited or sung,

Our Father and Hail Mary being said in silence, the Priest, making the sign of the Cross, intones aloud the Versicle, Deus in adjutorium meum intende; to which the Choir add the Responsory, Domine ad juvandum me festina, with the Gloria Patri; and when five Psalms, with as many anthems, have been sung, the Priest sings the little Chapter.

Then are sung the Hymn, with its Versicle and Responsory, and the Magnificat, with its Anthem, followed by such Prayers and Commemorations as are suitable to the day; which, if it be neither a Double nor within the Octave of a Festival, are the common Commemorations or Suffrages, and are to be found after the Vespers for Sundays.

Every Double has first and second Vespers: the first are said on the Eve of the Festival, and the second on the Festival itself. Hence it often happens that the Vespers are not of the Sunday, but of some Double that falls on the ensuing day.

To find out the particular Vespers for every Sunday and Holiday throughout the Year, consult the Directory at the day of the month on which such Sunday or Festival falls.

That if their state and condition allow it, they give some alms to the poor, either on the eve or on the day of their communion. 4. That, on the day of their communion, they offer some prayers to God, for the whole state of the Catholic Church throughout the world; for bringing back all straying souls to the fold of Christ; for the general peace of Christendom, and for the blessing of God upon this nation.

Note.—It is not required, for gaining these four Indulgences granted by Pope Benedict XIV., that these works of mercy, corporal or spiritual, or the assisting at catechism or sermons, be done on the same day with the communion; but only that persons be then in a disposition or readiness of mind to do these things, or some of them at least, when they may have an opportunity.

N.B. It may be necessary to observe, that in dating letters by Saints' days, care should be taken not to date by the day to which the office of any Saint or other Feast may happen to be transferred. In commercial or business of any kind purely secular, it would be better to avoid this mode of dating letters, as troublesome questions might arise in the Law Courts in proving such dates.

SECULAR CLERGY COMMON FUND.

The attention of the Catholic public is earnestly solicited to the above fund. This institution is the principal support of the aged and infirm Clergy of the dioceses of Westminster and Southwark. Though founded above 150 years since, it is painful to relate that our limited means are not adequate to meet the numerous pressing wants of our poor clerical invalids. We confidently hope that there are many pious souls, blessed by a benevolent Providence with ample means, who will not allow the Lord's anointed ministers to pine away in penury and privation, after they have devoted the active energies of their lives, with edifying zeal and exemplary fervour, to the poor members of the flock of Christ. There are four Masses celebrated annually by every member of this Institution for the benefit of living and deceased benefactors.

Further particulars may be obtained of the Very Rev. Jas. Canon O'Neal, Administrator, Grove-road, St. John's-wood.

Form of Bequest to this Charity.

I, A. B., do bequeath to the Very Rev. James O'Neal, of Grove-road, St. John's-wood, London, or to the Administrator for the time being of the Institution called "The Secular Clergy Common Fund," the sum of , for the benefit of that Institution.

THE CATHOLIC CEMETERY, Cadogan Terrace, Chelsea.

This Cemetery, solemnly consecrated according to the Rites of our Holy Church, is the principal source of revenue for the support of aged and infirm clergymen.

Particulars may be obtained of the Very Rev. James O'Neal, V.G., Administrator, 13 Grove-road, St. John's-wood, of the dioceses of Westminster and Southwark. It contains spacious vaults and catacombs for families, and also family and common graves. There is also on the ground a neat mortuary chapel, and a resident Priest for the regular performance of the burial-service according to the solemn rites of the Catholic Church.

THE CONTINENT.—CONFESSIONS.

Catholics travelling on the Continent may have felt the want of information respecting the places at which priests versed in the English or French language may be found to hear the confessions of their families and domestics. To remedy in part this want the following list is offered; and we beg to be favoured in future with a more complete list, and with any other details which travellers may consider useful.

This Church was opened in June 1854. It stands in the midst of the poor. Since the opening, three poor schools have been established: one for boys, day and evening; one for girls, day and evening; and one for infants. The Brothers of St. Vincent of Paul also support two infant schools in this district.

The daily attendance of children in all these schools averages 300. The school-accommodation is shockingly bad—low, close rooms, furnished in the barest make-shift manner. It is intended to build some school-rooms as soon as sufficient money to warrant a beginning can be obtained. The real difficulty is, how to get time, in the midst of laborious and incessant missionary duties, to collect money for the purpose. It is therefore hoped that good Catholics, on reading this, will be induced to send, of their own accord, some contributions towards the new schools.

The address of the priests is 146 Great Saffron Hill, London.

A collection is then made for the support of the Chapel. The Chaplains have the spiritual direction of St. Patrick's Charity Schools, and attend several workhouses and hospitals.

HANWELL, St. Augustine's, Clifden Lodge. (Opened in May 1853, by the Rev. John Bonus.) Mass on Sund at 10. Benedic at 3.

Attached to this small Chapel is an eligible piece of ground for a New Church and Schools, which the donor is most anxious to see erected. But having exhausted her own slender means in enfranchising it and enclosing it, she can now do little more than pray to see her work completed. She trusts Almighty God will inspire some one richer in this world's goods to come forward and assist her to carry out her plans for God's glory and the salvation of souls.

It may be added, that this is quite distinct from Rev. John Bonus' proposed Church at Acton. There is a distance of nearly four miles between the sites of the two future Churches.

Donations towards the erection of St. Augustine's may be sent to Miss Rabnett, Clifden Lodge, Hanwell; or to the Rev. John Bonus, Ivy House, Turnham-green; or to the Very Reverend James Canon O'Neal, V.G., Our Lady's Church, St. John's-wood.

N.B.—The estimated cost of St. Augustine's is under £1000.

A large population existing in this rapidly increasing northern suburb of London at a considerable distance from any Catholic Church, a mission has been opened during the past year, at his Eminence's suggestion, by the Rev. Father Lockhart of the Order of Charity; already a considerable Catholic congregation has been collected, and a temporary Chapel and Schools fitted up by the exertions of this zealous body of Catholics, many of whom are converts to our Holy Faith.

The Fathers appeal to the charity of the faithful to assist them in placing this mission on a permanent footing, by the erection of a Church and Schools. A subscription list has been opened, headed by the Father-General of the Order of Charity, with a donation of 500*l*. All subscriptions will be thankfully acknowledged; and a Mass will be said every Sunday at the Altar of St. Joseph for all benefactors, living or dead.

"We earnestly recommend this appeal to all the Faithful, vouching for the accuracy of all the facts stated in it.

"N. CARD. WISEMAN.

ROMFORD, St. Edward the Confessor's. Rev. J. B. Colomb.

But a small sum is now required for the completion of this Church, and the Pastor confidently appeals to the piety of the Catholics of this diocese for assistance in the good work. This is the only Church in the diocese which has been erected in honour of our local patron. His own church of S. Peter (glorious even in its decay and dishonour) is now desecrated by strange rites and novel services; whilst his sacred shrine is almost an object of disrespect, though it contains the relics of the best and greatest of our kings, to whom we are indebted for the common law of England, and all the best features of our constitution. In the ancient coronation oath our kings swore to observe the laws and constitutions of their "glorious predecessor S. Edward;" and our sovereigns continue to receive "S. Edward's crown" before his shrine at Westminster. His sacred body is in the very midst of us, reposing not merely within the diocese, but in the city of Westminster, in which he died, and in his own church of S. Peter,—a lasting monument to his memory, and of England's former devotion to the See of Peter. S. Edward occasionally resided at Romford (see a little book which has been published in aid of our undertaking), and he is still represented in a window of its ancient church.

Mass is offered every day in the Petre Chantry for the repose of the soul of the late Hon. Edward Petre. This is the first foundation for the support of St. George's Church.

Bequests to St. George's Church must be left to the "Trustees of St. George's Roman Catholic Church, St. George's-road, St. George's-fields, Southwark, in the county of Surrey." The debt upon the Church still presses heavily.

To this Church are attached four Confraternities, viz. of the M.H. Sacrament, of the Rosary, of Christian Doctrine, and of the Way of the Cross. The Catholic population attached to this Church is beyond 9,000. It consists entirely of labouring people, whose poverty renders them incapable of defraying the necessary expenses of the Church. In this poor congregation the Chaplains are charged with the duty of attending four extensive workhouses; the distressed objects of which look up to them not only for spiritual assistance, but also for pecuniary aid. In addition to a large School, conducted by the Religious of our Lady of Mercy, there are four other numerously-attended Schools, all of which entirely depend for support on the Pastors, who take this opportunity of earnestly appealing to a generous public to assist them with the means of keeping open these Schools, and thus baffling the malignant designs of the adversaries of truth, and rescuing the souls of these poor children from the danger of perversion, to which, alas! they are so fearfully exposed. (See the public journals.) Any assistance for the Poor or the Schools will be most gratefully received by the Right Reverend Bishop Grant and by the reverend Chaplains, 1 Parker's-row, Bermondsey.

This is one of the poorest and most destitute Missions in London, being exclusively composed of the labouring Irish. The present temporary Chapel is not near large enough, and must, besides, very likely in a short time be given up, and therefore a new Church is much wanted. A Boys' and Girls' School is established; but both are in a sad state for want of books, maps, &c., as the School depends mainly on the scanty means of the Mission. Any charitable donations for the poor, the Chapel, or the School, most thankfully received by the Right Rev. Dr Grant, Bishop of Southwark, St. George's, St. George's-fields, and the local Clergy of New Weston-street, Borough.

YORKSHIRE BRETHREN'S FUND.

This fund was established by the secular clergy of Yorkshire, in the year 1660.

Its objects are: 1. To constitute a perpetual retribution fund, by means of which the benefactors may secure for themselves or for their friends, for the living or for the dead, the benefits of the Holy Sacrifice; 2. To furnish aid and support to the secular clergy of Yorkshire during temporary sickness, and to provide a maintenance in old age for those who are no longer equal to the duties of the mission.

Its register is a memorial of Catholic piety. It bears evidence how anxious the Catholics of this country have uniformly been to make some provision for those "who have borne the burden of the day and the heats" in their service; and, at the same time, to avail themselves of the prayers of the Church and the sacrifice of the altar.

Any person wishing to become a benefactor to the Brethren's Fund, may be informed of the advantages derivable from this institution, and of the condition required for participating in them, by making application to any of the Yorkshire secular clergy, or to the undermentioned officers.

Treasurer, Rev. John Glover, Houghton Hall, Brough, Yorkshire; Secretary, Rev. William Fisher, St. Marie's Presbytery, Sheffield.

CATHOLIC BLIND ASYLUM,

20 St. Anne-street, Liverpool.

This Institution was established in 1841, by the exertions of a few zealous Catholics, under the patronage of the Right Rev. Dr. Brown, the present Bishop of Liverpool, and was presided over by the late lamented Dr. Youens, up to the time of his death. It has since received the cordial approval of his Holiness the Pope, who, to mark his earnest desire for its success, has bestowed upon it his Pontifical benediction.

Under such distinguished auspices, as might be anticipated, it has continued to realise the purposes for which it was founded. Demands for admission have been so great, that the Committee, a few years ago, were compelled to engage a larger house, with more ample accommodation.

Its Objects.

The promoters have in view to protect the poor blind from danger both as to body and soul; to train them up religiously; and to teach them some trade adapted to their capacity; whereby they can hereafter, if they so wish it, wholly or partially provide for their own subsistence.

Its Resources of Maintenance.

It has no other available means of support than:

1. The scanty and inadequate pensions of the pupils. 2. The sale of work executed in the school, which does little more than meet the cost of the raw material. 3. Occasional musical entertainments given by them to the public. 4. A list of subscriptions and donations, principally confined to the Catholics of Liverpool.

Its Claims upon the Public.

Assuredly a School and an Asylum for the Blind have the highest claims upon Catholic charity, independently of the peculiarly distressing privation to which the inscrutable dispensations of a merciful Providence have subjected them, in the fact that it is the only establishment of the sort belonging to Catholics in the United Kingdom. The inmates at the present time, male and female, number about thirty; collected together from the remotest localities in England and Ireland.

The following particulars may be useful and interesting to the public:

RULES and REGULATIONS for the government of the CATHOLIC BLIND ASYLUM, established in Liverpool, A.D. 1841.

I. This Institution is under the patronage of the Blessed Virgin Mary and St. Joseph, and is called the "CATHOLIC BLIND ASYLUM," its objects being to afford to the Catholic Blind an elementary education, and instruction in those branches of industry which shall be found suitable to each pupil's capacity; and to bring them up in the principles of their religion.

II. The property of the Institution shall be invested in five Trustees, namely, three Clergymen and two Lay Gentlemen of the Town; and the formation of rules and the government of the Institution shall be confided to a Committee, consisting of the Catholic Clergy of Liverpool, of all Governors for Life, and of a President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary, two Auditors, and six Gentlemen, to be elected at the Annual Meeting of the Subscribers.

III. The Committee shall hold Monthly Meetings to transact the ordinary business of the Institution, and the President shall be empowered to call Special Meetings as often as he shall deem it necessary.

IV. A donation of Ten Guineas shall constitute a Governor for Life, and any Clergyman who shall make a Collection for the Institution of Ten Guineas or more shall be a Governor for Life.

V. A Subscription of a Sovereign or more, per year, shall entitle the Subscriber to a vote at the Annual Meeting.

VI. All applications for admission shall be laid before the Committee, at their first meeting after the applicants' names have been written in the Minute-book of the Secretary. The Committee shall admit or reject such applicants at their discretion.

VII. The Committee shall have the appointment of all the Officers and Servants of the Asylum.

VIII. The inmates will be required, under penalty of dismissal by the Committee, to obey the Rules and Regulations of the Institution.

IX. Applicants must be ten years of age; they must produce a testimonial of good moral character, as also a certificate of health signed by a medical gentleman, and a register of baptism.

N.B. Applicants subject to fits are inadmissible.

X. Every applicant must be recommended by a Subscriber, and have a sufficient guarantee for the payment of the pension required, and must be provided with the following articles of clothing:

MALES.

4 Shirts,	4 pair Stockings,	2 Waistcoats,
4 Neckerchiefs,	2 Bodycoats,	2 pair Shoes,
3 Handkerchiefs,	1 Greatcoat,	2 Hats or Caps.
2 Night Caps,	2 pair Trowsers,

FEMALES.

4 Shifts,	1 Shawl,	2 pair Shoes,
2 Undercoats,	4 Handkerchiefs,	2 Bonnets,
2 Uppercoats,	4 Night Caps,	1 Cloak,
3 Dresses,	4 pair Stockings,	1 pair Stays.
2 Aprons,

XI. When a pupil is about to leave the Asylum, the said pupil shall be removed by his or her friends, at their expense, on receiving one fortnight's notice from the Secretary.

Persons desirous of leaving a Legacy to this Asylum are requested to do so in the following manner:

"I bequeath to the Treasurer for the time being of the CATHOLIC BLIND ASYLUM in Liverpool, the sum of £ , to be applied towards the purposes of that Institution; and I direct that the receipt of the person who shall be Treasurer of the same institution at the time when the above Legacy in favour thereof is paid shall be a sufficient discharge to my Executors."

N.B. The Legacy must not be out of, or charged upon, any Freehold, Leasehold, or Copyhold Estate.

ARTICLES of WORK made by the PUPILS of the CATHOLIC BLIND ASYLUM, No. 20 ST. ANNE-STREET, and sold there for the Benefit of the Institution. The Goods are manufactured under the superintendence of competent teachers, and are of the best material:

Hearth rugs; fancy door mats of approved patterns; cocoa chain mats of all sizes, and made to order; cocoa and Manilla foot-bears; fibre-loom matting, adapted for office or house floors; market, reticule, clothes, and plate baskets; black and coloured gipsy and melon baskets; fire-screens; cribs and cradles; nursery-chairs; children's carriages; bottle-baskets and hampers; patent sash cord; thread girdles; fancy knitting in great variety, and stockings; church and hall mats of all sizes.

The Pupils form a Singing Class each Wednesday at Two o'Clock, when any friends visiting the Asylum may have an opportunity of hearing them.

Contributions will be thankfully received by the Very Rev. Canon WALMSLEY, President, 53 Ashton-street; Mr. EDWARD DUNN, Treasurer; Mr. JOHN LYNCH, Secretary, 14 James-street; by the CATHOLIC CLERGY of the town; and by the Matron, Mrs. MACNAB, at the Asylum, 20 St. Anne-street, Liverpool.

MERIONETHSHIRE—MONTGOMERYSHIRE.

No Chapel. No Mission-house. No School-house. No Mission-fund. No Missioner.

From the above note, it will appear how desolate is still a large part of the Diocese of Shrewsbury. The Bishop most earnestly recommends this portion of his charge to the charity of the faithful. Were there means to establish Missions in Wales, he has no doubt that soon a vast number of souls would be brought by instruction and example to the blessings of the true faith. There are yet remaining amongst the Welsh many Catholic traditions and practices, and they would soon recognise the reality of that of which they still admire even the shadow. Whatever means may be placed at his disposal, either for the establishment of Missions or for the education of Clergy, shall be most carefully and faithfully administered; and the benefactors of the Diocese shall have a constant remembrance in the Holy Sacrifice,—the only return, and the best, he has to offer.

Rev. Charles Kavanagh, Swansea, Rural Dean of the Deanery of St. Illtyd, comprehending Glamorganshire and Brecknockshire.

Rev. Samuel Fisher, Llanarth, Rural Dean of the Deanery of St. Dubritius, comprising Monmouthshire.

Rev. Francis Jarrett, Hereford, Rural Dean of the Deanery of St. Thomas of Hereford, for the County of Hereford.

MONMOUTHSHIRE.

NEWPORT, St. Mary's Church. (1840.) Revv. Dominick Cavalli and Henry Hopkins. Mass on Sund at 8½ and 11. Catech at 3. V Serm and Benedic at 6½. Mass on HDs at 5, 7 and 10. V and Benedic at 7. On WDs Mass at 7 and 8. Ros on Mond Wed and Frid evngs at 7. Benedic on Thurs evngs at 7.

No Mission-fund. Catholics, 3,000, exclusive of soldiers and their families, in the extensive barracks newly erected. About 300 poor children receive education; the girls from the Sisters of Providence, the boys from the Brothers of the Institute of Charity. The income of this Mission derived entirely from the congregation, almost wholly composed of the labouring class.

ABERGAVENNY, St. Michael's. Rev. James Millward, O.S.F. Catholics about 600.

CHEPSTOW, St. Mary's. Rev. Francis Trappes. Mass with a Discourse on Sund at 10½; Catech at 3. V with Serm at 6. Mass on HDs at 9. Mass at 8 in summer, and 8½ in winter.

No Mission-house. A small School-house lately built. Catholics about 200.

Coedangryd, Skenfrith, near Hereford. Church of the Immaculate Conception. (1845-47.) Rev. J. A. Arquis.

Mass on Sund at 10. On HDs at 9. V on Sund and HDs at 3. On WDs Mass at 8. Catholics 70.

Charity truly Catholic has provided for this new Mission a beautiful Church, with a good Mission-house and School-house. Means, however, adequate to the support of an incumbent, are yet wanting.

Llanarth Court. Rev. S. Fisher, O.S.F. Catholics 275.

Llansanffraid, Raglan. Rev. John Bonomi.

Longworth, Hereford. Rev. T. Rolling, O.S.B.

Rotherwas, Hereford. Vacant.

Weobly, St. Thomas of Hereford's. (1834.) Rev. — Caldwell, O.S.B.

SOUTH WALES.

BRECKNOCKSHIRE.

Brecon. Rev. Peter Lewis. Mass on Sund. at 10½ in winter, and at 11 in summer. V. in winter at 3 P.M. and in summer at 6 P.M. Mass is said at Blaen Senny on H.Ds. solely at 10. An entirely Welsh congregation.

No School-house. Catholics, 150, exclusive of soldiers and their families, amounting sometimes to 200 more. This interesting Mission consists almost entirely of Welsh Catholics (the only one of the kind now existing), there having been, it appears, a Missioner always here till the death of the Rev. William Lloyd, in prison under sentence of death for his faith, in 1679. From that period there was no resident Priest, for a considerable time, at Brecon, till 1788, since which time it has been seldom vacant.

GLAMORGANSHIRE.

CARDIFF, St. David's. (1841-42.) Revv. Fortunatus Signini and Stephen Bruno. On Sund Mass at 8, 9½, and 11. Catech at 3. V Serm and Benedic at 6½. On H Ds Mass at 5, 8, and 10. Evng Serv at 7. On W Ds Mass at 7 and 8. Ros on Mond, Wedn and Frid Evngs at 7. Benedic on Thurs Evngs at 7.

Catholics about 6000, the great bulk being poor Irish labourers. The grievousness and urgency of the wants of this important Mission, as regards both school and church accommodation, can hardly be overrated.

After strenuous efforts, persevered in for more than a long year, in Cardiff and elsewhere, to collect funds, the new Schools are at last in the course of erection, and are expected to be finished before May 1856; but a large amount still remains to be obtained. The case of a congregation of 6000 souls, and whose present Schools are only made to accommodate 80 children (!!), is surely well deserving of generous sympathy; especially when it is known that unremitting exertions are not spared in the locality itself to forward the work.

ABERAFON AND STATIONS. Rev. William Marshall.

Catholics about 1000. No Chapel. No Mission-house or School-house.

ABERDARE. Served fortnightly from Newbridge. Mass at 11½. Catholics about 200.

DOWLAIS, St. Illtutus'. (1844-46.) Revv. Patrick Millea and Thos. Muldone. Mass on Sund. at 9 and 11, with Serm. Catech. at 3 P.M. V. with Catechet. Instruct. at 6 aftn. On H.Ds. Mass at 9, and Evng. Prs. at 7. On W.Ds. Mass at 8.

No Mission-fund! Catholics about 1500.

NEWBRIDGE. Rev. Austin Neary. Sund Mass at 8 and 10. V at 6.

TREDEGAR AND STATIONS. Rev. John Dawson.

Catholics above 1000. No Mission-house: no School-house. No fund. Mass is celebrated, through total want of means for providing a decent place of worship, in a room engaged for Sunday worship, connected with a public-house.

SWANSEA, St. David's. (1846-47.) Rev. Charles Kavanagh.

No Mission-house! A large School-house has been recently erected. Catholics 700.

PEMBROKESHIRE.

PEMBROKE DOCK. (1846-47.) Rev. Oliver Murphy.

A Chapel in the pointed style is erected at Pembroke Dock, or Pater, as it is commonly called, a rapidly increasing town, and a military and marine station—the site of her Majesty's dock-yard, where about 1400 shipwrights and labourers are employed. A large Catholic congregation will in all likelihood be formed here, now that the chapel is completed; but as yet the Mission falls heavily for support upon the Bishop. Catholics about 400.

The adorable sacrifice will be occasionally celebrated in Tenby, a cheap and delightful watering-place, for the accommodation of the nobility and gentry who wish to visit this healthy and picturesque locality, upon their giving notice to the Rev. Oliver Murphy.

CAERMARTHENSHIRE.

† CAERMARTHEN, St. Mary's. Rev. Lewis Havard, junior. Mass on Sund. at 11. Catec. from 2 till 3½. Evng. Prs. at 6, with a Discourse. On W.Ds. and Ds. of Dev. Mass at 8.

Catholics at Caermarthen and its several widely-separated stations, about 350. Mrs. Arengo Cross has a school for the poor children at Caermarthen.

The Mission is dependent for support entirely upon alms, and the scanty resources of the Diocese.

SOCIETY FOR THE RELIEF OF INFIRM PRIESTS IN THE CLIFTON DIOCESE.

There formerly existed in the Western District a fund for the relief of such poor Priests as, from old age or other infirmity, were no longer able to live by the altar they had served. The want of such a fund has been deeply felt, and it is our object to revive it; in fact, a sum of money has been already bequeathed for the purpose.

We can scarcely conceive a work more truly useful and charitable than this; for Priests ought surely to have some provision against old age and infirmity; and it could not be expected or wished that they should either be always, even to the very last moment of their lives, battling with extreme want, or should contrive to wring enough out of the meagre resources of their ministry to supply not only food and raiment for the present, but also this necessary provision for the future. All who are acquainted with the pecuniary condition of our Missions will know that we are not exaggerating their poverty; and we have, consequently, some claim on the laity for assistance towards this fund.

All Priests of the Diocese are alike invited to become members of our Society, though the Secular Clergy are more especially considered, because, as a matter of course, they can have no share in the provision so properly made by the religious bodies for their own members. In fact, it would be well to correct, in some degree, this apparent anomaly: that the Secular Clergy should, in temporals, be so much worse provided for in their old age than their religious brethren.

Earnestly, then, and lovingly, we commend this charity to all friends of the Clergy—to all, indeed, who esteem "the labourer worthy of his hire," even though his life be prolonged beyond his power to labour; and we have only to add, that, in grateful return for all charity, the Holy Sacrifice will be offered up every year by each of the rev. members for all benefactors, living and dead; and every donor to the amount of 10*l.* and upwards shall have, besides, one Mass offered up on his behalf by every one of the members.

With the usual complement of Professors and others.

Situated in one of the healthiest parts of England, and built expressly for its present purpose; St. Mary's College receives Students from the age of eight years and upwards, to be prepared for commerce, and for the learned professions, equally as for the Church. The system pursued in it embraces, besides the classical languages, French, Italian, and German, which are taught to all who pursue the ordinary course of studies, Mathematics and Natural Philosophy, assisted by very complete apparatus, as well as History, Geography, Elocution, and other branches of learning becoming either a scholar or a gentleman. Every care is taken of the health and comfort of the pupils; and it need not be added, that their moral and religious instruction is an object of the utmost solicitude and attention. The College is aggregated to the London University, and several of its pupils have been presented there for examination, both for matriculation and bachelorship of arts, with most satisfactory success. The course of studies is likewise directed to meet the matriculation-examination of Trinity College, Dublin.

For particulars apply to the President, the Right Rev. Monsignor Weedall, D.D.; or to the Right Revv. the Bishops of Birmingham, of Northampton, of Nottingham, or of Shrewsbury.

In proceeding by rail they are advised to "book" for the "Gilling Station" on the above-named line, to which station parcels should be invariably directed, as the Gilling station is much more convenient than the one at Ampleforth.

The pension is 40*l.* a-year under the age of twelve; 45*l.* between twelve and fourteen; and fifty guineas above that age. The pension is paid half-yearly in advance, and a quarter's notice is required previous to the removal of any student. Instead of each student providing himself with silver fork, spoon, and linen, three guineas will be charged as entrance, and those articles will be supplied by the house. Music, Drawing, Dancing, French and German, are extra charges; books and stationery for the use of class 2*l.* a-year. Washing according to the expenditure of each individual.

There are two vacations in the course of the year; one of seven weeks at Midsummer, and another at Christmas of about three weeks' duration. Punctuality in sending back the pupils to College for the opening of classes, after each vacation, is most urgently inculcated upon parents.

Director—The Very Rev. Louis B. English, D.D.

This College was founded by his Holiness in 1852, and has been quite recently located under the same roof as the venerable English College; retaining, however, its own separate regulations. The object of its establishment was to supply the long-felt want of a College adapted for the reception of such persons as, having indeed a vocation to the Priesthood, were prevented by age, or health, or previously-formed habits, from conforming to the usual minute discipline enforced in the seminaries abroad.

The agents for this College in England, appointed by the Holy Father, are the Very Rev. Mgr. Ferdinand English, D.D. (Canon of Clifton), Cannington, Bridgwater; and the Very Rev. Frederick Oakeley (Canon of Westminster), Duncan-terrace, Islington. By either of these contributions (whether annual or single) will be gratefully acknowledged, and any information required readily given.

TO STUDENTS IN ARTS.

1. The University Session of each year consists of three terms: the first, before Christmas; the second, between Christmas and Easter; the third, after Easter; extending, with the Christmas and Easter holidays, through thirty-eight weeks.

2. The normal age of admission to the University will be considered to be sixteen.

3. A first examination in the elements of Latin and Greek grammar, of mathematics, &c. (as explained below), will take place at entrance, when the candidate will be formally admitted as a Student of the University; and a second at the end of two years of residence, on passing which he will receive the title of Scholar of the University.

4. The subjects of study during these two years will be the classics, modern languages, geometry, algebra, logic, geography, chronology, and Ancient, Irish, and English history.

5. After passing his examination, the Scholar, being then eighteen years of age, will be able to retire from the University, if his destination requires it; or he will pass into the schools of medicine, of civil engineering, and of other material and physical sciences; or he will continue his studies in Arts for another two years; at the end of which, being twenty years of age, he will undergo a third examination issuing in the degree of B.A. The M.A.'s course will follow.

6. The subjects of study during the second two years (between eighteen and twenty) will consist of modern history, political economy, ethics, metaphysics, analytical mathematics, the principles of law, the elements of astronomy and chemistry. A prosecution of classical studies will constitute a dispensation from some of these.

7. The Examinations, placed at the end of two and four years of residence, will be regulated by the subjects of the lectures which have been attended in those two courses respectively.

TO CANDIDATES FOR ADMISSION.

1. The classical and mathematical schools of the University were opened on the Feast of St. Malachi, Nov. 3, 1854.

2. The school of medicine was opened Oct. 1, 1855, that of civil engineering in November.

3. The entrance-examination will take place at the time when the student presents himself for residence, which will be ordinarily at the commencement of the session.

4. The subjects of that examination will consist of Latin and Greek construing and parsing, one classical work in each language being presented by the candidate for the purpose; translation into Latin; general knowledge of Greek and Roman history; the elements of geography; the first book of Euclid's elements; arithmetic; and the matter of the Gospel according to St. Matthew, and of any approved Catechism.

5. Students of the University will be located in lodging-houses under the superintendence of a Dean. The terms of the house 86 Stephen's Green, South, including all University fees and every extra, will be 40 guineas for the session. This arrangement will not preclude gentlemen, who are so desirous, from paying a larger sum, without prejudice to community of academical advantages, social equality, and unity of discipline,—a provision which has in some instances been taken advantage of. (Several scholarships or exhibitions will be offered to competition, according to the number of students; which will have the effect of diminishing the expenses of residence still further to those who obtain them.)

6. Students who are desirous of availing themselves of only the second course in Arts,—viz. that between the normal ages of eighteen and twenty,—may, on producing testimonials of residence and good conduct for two years in an approved College, present themselves at once for the second examination, and proceed to the degree of B.A. at the end of two years.

It is earnestly requested that candidates for admission will send in their names to the Vice-Rector, or to the Secretary, or to any of the College authorities. The Secretary's office is at 87 Stephen's Green, South, next door to the University House.

SECOND EXAMINATION, VIZ. FOR SCHOLAR'S DEGREE.

The candidate will choose, at his option, three out of the following four subjects of examination;

1. The text of one Greek book.
2. The text of one Latin book.
3. One science (which, if the candidate chooses, may be the matter of the work which serves for his Latin or Greek book, as above).
4. One modern language and literature.

Besides these three subjects of examination, every candidate must be prepared with an exact knowledge of the matters contained in some longer Catechism and in the four Gospels, and with a general knowledge of ancient history, geography, chronology, and the principles of composition, as already at the entrance examination.

It will be observed, that the list can be adapted to the classical student, the ecclesiastic, or those who are intended for engineering, for business, &c.

Gentlemen who are unable to reside, and are desirous of submitting themselves to an examination, will be enabled, on acquitting themselves satisfactorily, to obtain a diploma or certificate similar to that bestowed by the College of Preceptors in England.

SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING.

This school was opened at the commencement of the session in November.

All members of the University who have obtained the scholar's degree are admissible into this school.

The subjects of study are mathematics, natural philosophy, chemistry, geology, &c., and the special application of these sciences to engineering, together with the principles and practice of surveying and levelling.

At the end of two years devoted to these studies an examination will take place, and a certificate of merit will be given to those who pass creditably.

Measures will then be taken to assist those who obtain such certificate in entering the offices of engineers, where they may complete their practical education in the particular branches of the profession which they may severally select.

After three years so passed, a further examination will be held, and an engineering diploma conferred upon such as are deemed qualified.

Gentlemen desirous of entering the school are requested to forward their names to the Secretary of the Catholic University, 87 Stephen's Green, South.

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE.

The Medical School was opened in the autumn of last year.

Practical Anatomy was commenced on the 1st October, and the lectures on the 1st November.

Two classes of students are admitted to the instructions given in this school, viz.: 1st, Matriculated Students of the University of two years' standing; 2dly, Non-matriculated Students.

Terms of attendance: Matriculated Students of two years' standing, free; Non-matriculated Students, 2*l.* 2*s.* for each course.

At the conclusion of the session public examinations will be held, and premiums awarded to the successful candidates in each class.

The apparatus necessary for the Professor of Chemistry is in course of preparation.

For further particulars of each department of the University, and for prospectuses, &c., apply to the Secretary, Thomas Scratton, Esq., 87 Stephen's Green, South, between the hours of 10 and 4.

ALLHALLOWS COLLEGE, DUBLIN.

This College was founded in the year 1842, with the sanction of His Holiness Pope Gregory XVI., and of the Sacred Congregation of the Propaganda; and is under the patronage and direction of his Grace the Archbishop of Dublin.

The object of the College is the education of Ecclesiastics for the FOREIGN MISSIONS. For the furtherance of this end, a number of clergymen have formed themselves into a community, modelled upon that of St. Sulpice, in Paris, and gratuitously devote themselves to the education of the young Missionaries.

The yearly pension of a Student is 10*l.*, provided that he is prepared to leave himself for the choice of his mission at the disposal of the Directors of the College.

The Right Reverend the Bishops and Vicars-Apostolic of the Foreign Missions may have Students affiliated and educated for their Dioceses and Districts by paying an additional sum of 10*l.* per annum for the maintenance of each Student.

Students entering for any particular Mission, or who may be desirous to reserve the right of choosing their Mission, must pay 20*l.* per annum.

By a subscription or bequest of 10*l.* annually, a free place for one Student may be established. Thirty such have already been formed.

The College at present contains about 110 Students, who, with the exception of a few not yet engaged, are adopted for the following Missions, viz.: Beverley, Hexham, Liverpool, Nottingham, Plymouth, Salford, and Shrewsbury, in England; the Eastern and Western Districts in Scotland; and Missions in the United States, Canada, British North America, West Indies, Cape of Good Hope, Australia, New Zealand, and the East Indies.

The daily increasing number of Students imposes on the Directors the duty of providing more enlarged accommodation. A portion of the new buildings is now completed at a cost of from five to six thousand pounds, a part of which sum yet remains unpaid.

To meet this debt, and to carry out the objects of the College, the alms of the faithful are earnestly solicited.

Annual subscriptions, donations, and bequests are gratefully received.

The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass is offered up every morning for all the Subscribers and Benefactors, living and dead, and for their intentions; and they will, moreover, be entitled to a participation in the merits of all the apostolic labours, conversions, masses, prayers, and other good works, which may be the fruit of this institution throughout the world to the end of time.

Our Holy Father the Pope (as stated in a letter from the Cardinal Prefect of the Propaganda, dated August 16, 1854) specially blesses the benefactors of this College.

Communications to be addressed to the Very Reverend the President, or to any of the Directors, Allhallows College, Dublin, Ireland.

Subscriptions received by MESSRS. BURNS and LAMBERT, Portman-street; by Mr. DOLMAN, 61 New Bond-street; and by the authorised Collector for England, Mr. HAMILTON, 5 Hawley-road, Kentish-town, London.

ASSOCIATION FOR THE PROPAGATION OF THE FAITH.

Under the especial patronage of His Holiness Pius IX. and the Right Rev. the Catholic Bishops of Great Britain.

President—The Earl of Arundel and Surrey.
Treasurer—Charles J. Pagliano, Esq., The Lodge, Brook Green, Hammersmith.
Secretary—Mr. Charles Dolman, 61 New Bond-street.
Bankers—Commercial Bank, 6 Henrietta-street, Covent-garden.

To become a member of the Association two conditions only are required:—1st. To recite, once for all, for this intention, the Our Father and Hail Mary of the morning or evening prayers, and add on each occasion the following invocation: "St. Francis Xavier, pray for us." 2d. To give, in alms for the Missions a halfpenny per week.

Catholics of every age and of both sexes are earnestly exhorted to join the Association. It has been placed within the reach of the most humble ranks; but this has been done in the hope that the number of members would make up for the smallness of their offerings. When heresy, for the extension of its errors, voluntarily contributes upwards of thirty millions annually, shall we do nothing for the propagation of our faith? We say daily to God, "Thy Kingdom come;" let us, then, manifest by our actions that this prayer is not mere empty words.

Memoir

HIS EMINENCE CARDINAL JOSEPH CASPAR MEZZOFANTI.

It may be safely assumed that there is not one among our readers, whether lay or clerical, to whom the name of Cardinal Mezzofanti has not long been familiar. For the last thirty years of his life he had been one of the chief celebrities of Italy. Every stranger sojourning at Bologna or at Rome made it a point to seek an interview with this prodigy of languages. Every tourist devoted a chapter to the description of his extraordinary attainments. He was popularly known as "a monster of languages," a "universal interpreter," a "walking Pentecost." The most marvellous accounts of the extent, the variety, and the versatility of his powers as a linguist, were long current; and, notwithstanding the proverbial questionableness of travellers' tales, each new narrative seemed but to heighten the wonder with which his extraordinary gifts were regarded.

Nevertheless, there have not been wanting sceptical individuals who have suggested, that, in much that has been told of him, there was a degree of generality which leaves in the mind a vague and unsatisfied feeling as to the reality, or at least, the extent, of Mezzofanti's accomplishments. Many of the witnesses of his successes as a linguist were but ordinary travellers, possessing no peculiar fitness to criticise strictly the solidity of the gift which they attested; and although there were not wanting among the number others of unquestionable capacity as judges, and sometimes of acknowledged reputation as linguists, yet their calm and discriminating judgment was, to a certain extent, lost in the sweeping and declamatory eulogies of the crowd.

It was to be hoped that, upon the lamented death of this wonderful man, some of his many friends would have hastened to set these doubts at rest, by publishing a minute and satisfactory account of the real extent of his acquirements; and for a time it was believed that his successor in the office of chief-keeper of the Vatican Library, Mgr. Laureani, was actually engaged in such a memoir. Unhappily Mgr. Laureani died, leaving the task unaccomplished. The few biographical notices which appeared in the journals on the occasion of the Cardinal's death were liable to the same charge of vagueness and want of precision, which is applicable, although in a minor degree, to the more extended memoir of M. Manavit. A memoir of the Cardinal is at present in preparation, in which an attempt is made to arrive at an accurate estimate of his attainments, based upon the result of careful and systematic inquiries addressed to members of almost all the different families of language and to some of the most eminent living philologers, who had enjoyed the acquaintance of Mezzofanti. We shall not pretend to anticipate the result; but our readers, we doubt not, will gladly accept at our hands, in the meantime, a condensed and popular memoir of the great Cardinal, founded on the most authentic materials.

Joseph Caspar Mezzofanti was born at Bologna, September 17th, 1774, of a family humble in position, and poor in fortune, but of honourable repute in their native city. His father, Francis Mezzofanti, was a carpenter, and there seems little doubt that his son Joseph was designed for the same, or at least for some equally mechanical craft, and that he may even have, as a boy, occasionally shared the humble occupation of his father. From a destiny so uncongenial, however, he was rescued by the discovery of his very remarkable talents, by the friendly interposition of a priest of the Congregation of the Oratory, Padre Respighi.

At the earnest instance of this enlightened clergyman, he was removed from the poor school of the Oratory, to which his father had sent him, and placed under the care of a Bolognese priest, the Abbate Cicotti; soon afterwards he was transferred to one of the well-known Scuole Pie, free educational establishments for the humbler classes, conducted by the religious brotherhood of the Scolopini; and eventually he entered the archiepiscopal seminary of Bologna.

His master in philosophy was Joseph Voglio, in theology the Abbate Joachim Ambrosi, and in law the celebrated Professor Borrini.

More interesting, however, for our purpose would it be to trace the history and the order of his linguistic studies; but unfortunately very few particulars regarding them are now recoverable. He seems to have acquired the rudiments of Latin under the Abbate Cicotti, already mentioned. His first instructor in Greek was a Spanish ex-jesuit, Father A Ponte, author of several elementary works on the Greek language, well known in Italy. Hebrew he learned in the ordinary routine of the collegiate classes; and, during the same period, he seems, chiefly by private study, to have become acquainted with Arabic. About the same time he attained, under the direction of a learned priest named Mingarelli, who had resided in Egypt, as a missionary, for some years, the more rare and difficult accomplishment, a knowledge of Coptic; and by assiduously availing himself of the assistance of all the foreigners resident at Bologna, he gradually added to his stock, while he was still an undergraduate of the University, the French, German, and Swedish languages.

Mezzofanti's piety, even as a boy, was most remarkable. From early predilection, and, it would seem rather against the wish of his father, he embraced the ecclesiastical profession, and received the clerical tonsure, in the year 1795. On September 24th and 25th, 1796, he received the minor orders and sub-deaconship; April 1st, 1797, he was ordained deacon; and on the 24th September, in the same year, he was admitted, by dispensation of age, to the holy order of priesthood. A short time previously, September 15th, 1797, he had been appointed professor of Arabic in his native university; and he commenced his first course of lectures on the 15th December, in the same year. This office, however, he enjoyed but for a short time. On the annexation of the Papal Legations to the newly-proclaimed Cisalpine Republic, he refused to take the oaths of the revolutionary government, and was deprived of his professorship in consequence. In 1803, however, he was appointed, January 29th, to the subordinate post of assistant in the city library, and on the 4th November, in the same year, was reinstated as Professor in the chair of Oriental Languages; this appointment, however, was again withdrawn, November 15th, 1808; and thus Mezzofanti was compelled for several years to have recourse to the common expedient of needy scholarship—private instruction. But, although the Emperor Napoleon, who, with the instinct of true genius, never failed to discern and to appreciate eminence, no matter in what department, endeavoured by very tempting offers to induce him to settle in Paris, he continued to struggle with fortune in his native city till 1812, when he was rewarded by an appointment as assistant-librarian of the university, from which post he was advanced to the librarianship-in-chief in 1814.

On the events of these long years of struggle and difficulty the published memoirs of the Cardinal are entirely silent. Fortunately, however, a portion of his correspondence, during this period, with the celebrated Abbate de Rossi, and the Cavaliere Pezzana, librarian of Parma, has been recovered, from which much light may be expected, both upon his personal history, and the nature and order of his studies. In one of his letters to De Rossi, for instance, he submits to him, for correction and criticism, a composition in twelve languages. These letters, with many other documents of interest, will be included in the forthcoming biography.

His conduct during this period was marked by the same firm and conscientious adherence to principle which he displayed in after life. At the outset of his career, his position was an exceedingly difficult one. Slender and precarious as were his resources, the death of a brother-in-law threw upon him the charge of the support and education of the children of his sister. The income of the benefice, which formed the title under which he was ordained, was little more than nominal; the humble revenue of his professorship was his only fortune; and it required no little fortitude on his part to relinquish, at the call of duty, an office, the emoluments of which were literally his only resource, whether for his own livelihood or for the maintenance of those who were hardly less dear to him. It is difficult to conceive the amount of labour which he voluntarily underwent in order to make up by his scanty gains, as private tutor, the income which he had thus relinquished. During a part of the time he undertook no less than fifteen lessons in the day; and as he pursued his private studies with unabated energy, even in the midst of these harassing occupations, his allowance of sleep is said to have been reduced, at this period of his life, to the almost incredible term of three hours.

In an ordinary man, such a course of life could not fail to have extinguished the love of study, if it were only through the very physical exhaustion which it involved; but to Mezzofanti it would seem to have given an additional stimulus. His singular passion for languages, especially, continued daily to develop itself; he soon exhausted the opportunities for this particular study afforded by his native city. During the wars of the Revolution, however, Bologna became, from the constant passing and repassing of the armies of France, Austria, and Russia, a most admirable school for the student of languages. The public hospitals, to which Mezzofanti was attached as a volunteer chaplain, were constantly crowded with the sick and wounded soldiers of all the motley races of these empires, among whom the great Slavic, German, Magyar, and Czechish families are all amply represented. Mezzofanti, partly in the discharge of his priestly duties, partly, no doubt, also, under the impulse of the great passion of his life, applied himself to the acquisition of every language which came within his reach in his attendance on the hospitals. His plan was a very simple one; he endeavoured to ascertain a few leading words in the new language as a basis of communication; if the stranger who presented himself was able to repeat from memory the Lord's Prayer, the Creed, the Ten Commandments, or any similar formulary, Mezzofanti soon contrived to turn even these slight materials to account; he proceeded from these to the names of the great leading ideas in natural religion, and of the ordinary objects that occur in everyday life. For the acquisition of the inflections of a language he appears to have possessed an almost instinctive power; and more than one instance is related, in which he actually constructed from such rude data as could alone be supplied in the sort of communications which we have described, a regular and systematic grammar of the language thus imparted to him.

By degrees, as his fame extended, his opportunities increased. "The hotel-keepers," he himself relates, "were in the habit of apprising me of the arrival of all strangers at Bologna; I made no scruple, when any thing was to be acquired, about calling upon them, interrogating them, making notes of their communications, and taking instruction from them in the pronunciation of their respective languages. A few learned Jesuits and several Spanish, Portugese, and Mexicans, who resided at Bologna, afforded me valuable aid in learning both the ancient languages and those of their own countries. I made it a rule to learn every new grammar, and to apply myself to every strange dictionary which came within my reach. I was constantly filling my head with new words. Whenever any new strangers, whether of high or low degree, passed through Bologna, I endeavoured to turn them to account, using the one for the purpose of perfecting my pronunciation, and the other for the purpose of learning the familiar words and turns of expression. I must confess, too," he adds, "that it cost me but little trouble; for, in addition to an excellent memory, God had blessed me with an incredible flexibility of the organs of speech."*

It has commonly been believed, and the impression is confirmed by the sketches of his biography hitherto published, that Mezzofanti had never left Bologna until he had passed his fortieth year, and that all his prodigious stores of language were acquired within the cloisters of his native university. It appears, however, from one of the letters already referred to, that in the year 1803 he visited Modena, where he formed the acquaintance of the celebrated orientalist, John Bernard De Rossi, an acquaintance which soon ripened into a sincere and affectionate literary friendship. His reputation as a linguist was already well established in the north of Italy. In the collected edition of the works of Giordani, now in course of publication at Milan, there are several letters which allude to Mezzofanti in terms hardly less marvellous than those by which he is described in his later career. Giordani calls him "the divine Mezzofanti," the "man of all nations and all ages;" and declares that one would think, so extraordinary was the variety of his languages and accomplishments, "that he would seem to have lived from the beginning of the world."

The protracted wars of the period, however, interrupting all literary intercourse, Mezzofanti seems as yet to have remained unknown outside of Italy. But the moment that the continent was opened to travellers on the establishment of the general peace, he became one of the recognised notabilities of his native city. No tourist of any eminence ever passed through Bologna without paying a visit to the wonderful polyglotist. Pope Pius VII., on his return to Rome after his long captivity, the Emperor of Austria, the crown-prince of Prussia, the crown-prince of Sweden, the Grand Duke of Tuscany, and other royal tourists, were among the number of his visitors, and in most cases they availed themselves of the presence in their suite of several individuals of different tongues to test the versatility as well as the extent of his powers. To professional sight-seers, too, he was one of the established lions of Bologna; and there is hardly one among the many tourists from every country of Europe, who visited Bologna after this period, that has not reported of him in terms which place beyond all doubt his unexampled familiarity with all the principal languages of the ancient and modern world.

"Signor Mezzofanti of Bologna," writes Mr. Stewart Rose, in 1817 (to begin with our own countrymen), "though when I saw him he was only thirty-six years old, read twenty and spoke eighteen languages. He spoke all these fluently, and those of which I could judge, with the most extraordinary precision. I had the pleasure of dining with him at the house of a Bolognese lady, at whose table a German officer declared that he could not have distinguished him from a German. He passed the whole of the next day with G— and myself, and G— told me he would have taken him for an Englishman who had been some time out of England. A Smyrniote servant who was with me bore equal testimony to his skill in other languages, and declared he might have passed for a Greek or Turk in the dominions of the Grand Seignior. But what surprised me most was his accuracy; for, during long and repeated conversations in English, he never once misapplied the sign of a tense,—that fearful stumbling-block to Scotch and Irish, in whose writings there is almost always to be found some abuse of these indefinable niceties."*

Lord Byron, who saw him about the same time, and speaks of him as one of the few notable men whom he ever desired to see twice, calls him "a walking polyglot," "a monster of languages, a Briareus of parts of speech." When Baron Zach, the astronomer, met him, in 1820, he had the reputation of speaking thirty-two languages, living and dead. "He accosted me in Hungarian," writes the Baron, "and with a compliment so well turned, and in such excellent Magyar, that I was taken by surprise, and stupefied. He afterwards spoke to me in German, first in good Saxon (the Crusca of the German), and afterwards in the Austrian and Swabian dialects, with a correctness of accent that amazed me to the last degree, and made me burst into a fit of laughter at the contrast between the language and appearance of this astonishing professor. He spoke English to Captain Smyth, Russian and Polish to Prince Volkonski; not stuttering and stammering, but with the same volubility as if he had been speaking his mother-tongue, the dialect of Bologna."† At a dinner at the Cardinal Legate's, at which the Baron afterwards met Mezzofanti, he "spoke two additional and much more uncommon languages, Wallachian and the Zingari, or gipsy dialect."

Baron Zach's account having been called into question, and represented as overcharged, he reiterated it in a subsequent number of his journal; and he appealed to the authority of his fellow-travellers on the occasion of his visit, for the accuracy and fluency with which Mezzofanti had conversed with each of them in his respective language—German, Hungarian, Slavonic, Wallachian, Russian, Polish, French, and English.

Fame speedily magnified even this reputation, extraordinary as it must appear. The number of his languages, even so early as 1822, was commonly reported to be forty, and Lady Morgan, who visited him in that year, put a distinct question to him on this point; he himself, however, smiled at this report as an exaggeration, and confessed that up to that period, although he had gone over the outline of so many languages, there were some among them which he had not prosecuted so as to consider himself master of them. Lady Morgan bears testimony to the excellence and purity of his English, which she describes as resembling in tone of phrase, and selection of words, the Spectator and other works of that period of our literature.

A Danish traveller, M. Molbech, who saw Mezzofanti in the same year, speaks in an equally admiring strain. "This learned Italian," he says, "is certainly one of the world's greatest geniuses in point of languages. I do not know the number he understands, but there is scarcely any European dialect, whether Romanic, Scandinavian, or Slavonic, that this miraculous polyglottist does not speak. It is said, that the total amounts to more than thirty languages, and among them is that of the gipsies, which he learned to speak from a gipsy who was quartered with a Hungarian regiment at Bologna. I found a German with him, with whom he was conversing in fluent and well-sounding German: when we were alone, and I began to speak to him in the same language, he interrupted me with a question in Danish, 'Hoorledes har det behaget dem i Italien?' (How have you been pleased with Italy?) After this he pursued the conversation in Danish by his own desire almost all the time I continued with him, as this, according to his own polite expression, was a pleasure he did not often enjoy; and though he did not speak the language, for want of exercise, with the same fluency and ease as English or German, yet he conversed with almost entire correctness."

The well-known French tourist, M. Valery, confirms these extraordinary statements. At the time of his visit Mezzofanti was said to know thirty-two languages including dialects. The celebrated German philologer, Professor Jacobs visited him a few years later, in 1825. His testimony is peculiarly interesting upon two points connected with Mezzofanti's wonderful gift, the perfect purity of his German, both as to the selectness of his vocabulary and the accuracy of his pronunciation, in which Jacobs "could detect nothing foreign but a little north accent," and "the ease and readiness with which in conversation he passed from one language to another."

The Countess of Blessington, in her "Idler in Italy," gives an equally interesting account of Mezzofanti's extraordinary gift, while she draws a most pleasing picture of his simple and agreeable manners, the easy courtesy of his address, and the hearty and unaffected good-nature by which he was at all times distinguished. In the office of chief-librarian, which he held from the year 1815, this good-nature was severely tried by the unreasonable tax upon his time which was levied without scruple by every visitor of Bologna. To an occupied man no infliction is more painful than the intrusion of commonplace idlers, whose only business is to squander the time which to him is so precious. But no visitor, however tedious or commonplace, could ever complain of rudeness, or even of indifference, on the part of the Abbate Mezzofanti. Forgetting or suppressing the chagrin with which an ordinary student cannot help watching and fretting over each squandered minute as it flies, he preserved his equanimity and even his cheerfulness under the most trying circumstances, and it was remarked often by those who knew him best, that he possessed the rare gift of never seeming to be bored.

Another species of occupation in which his ready good-nature involved him, was the deciphering letters in unknown languages, and drawing up the answers. Merchants, booksellers, bankers, and sometimes lawyers, had recourse to him in their difficulties, and no small portion of the foreign correspondence of Bologna passed through his hands.

In discharging the duties of his office, too, he was most laborious and painstaking: the catalogue of the public library bears to this day evidences of his industry and of the profound bibliographical knowledge, which although, as appears from his letters, but scanty and imperfect when he entered upon office, he acquired by unremitting attention to the studies which he believed necessary for its due discharge.

To his priestly duties, above all, the Abbate Mezzofanti was especially devoted. He was assiduous in his attendance at the hospital; he took particular delight in the instruction of children and their preparation for first communion; and was regular in the confessional, and especially in hearing the confessions of foreigners. Instances are recorded in which, as has been already described, he was at the pains to learn a language for the sole purpose of hearing the confession of a single individual. Not unfrequently, too, while the legations were occupied by Austrian troops, he preached to the soldiers in their native language; and we have heard of one instance at least in which he addressed a Polish regiment extempore in Polish, and with most complete success, both as regarded language and matter.

From the date of his appointment as chief-librarian, in 1815, his circumstances, though far from affluent, were comparatively independent. Many tempting offers were held out to him, for the purpose of inducing him to leave Bologna, and settle in some of the more distinguished cities. He had already been invited to Paris by the Emperor Napoleon. He was earnestly, almost commandingly, pressed by Pius VII. to take up his residence in Rome; but in vain. Similar offers from Florence and Vienna were equally unsuccessful; and, with exception of a short excursion to Pisa, Florence, Leghorn, and Rome, he remained in Bologna in the same humble, though honourable position till the year 1831.

The political complications of that unhappy period forced him very reluctantly into public life. After the suppression of the revolutionary movement of the Bolognese, and their return to the Papal allegiance, Mezzofanti was one of a deputation sent by the city to Rome to offer the expression of their repentance and the renewal of their fealty to the Holy Father; and, on the termination of his mission, the Pope Gregory XVI. expressed so strongly his desire to retain him at Rome, that Mezzofanti could no longer refuse. He resigned his office at Bologna, therefore, and finally took up his residence in Rome in 1832. The Pope, who had long known and admired him, received him with marked favour and distinction, which soon ripened into a warm and affectionate friendship. Immediately on his arrival, he was appointed prebendary of St. John Lateran, and canon of St. Peter's. Soon afterwards he was made rector of the College attached to St. Peter's; and on the promotion of Monsignor, afterwards Cardinal, Mai, then chief-keeper of the Vatican library, to the office of Secretary to the Propaganda, Mezzofanti was appointed to succeed him in the former office, which he held till his elevation to the Cardinalate in 1840, as cardinal-priest of the title of St. Onofrio.

It might, perhaps, be supposed that a part at least of the extraordinary reputation, which he had hitherto enjoyed, was the result of his comparatively obscure and insulated position in a second-rate provincial university; but Mezzofanti contrived to maintain the same unquestioned pre-eminence, now that he had been translated to the more extended and more trying theatre of Rome. A German scholar, Herr Fleck, describes him, soon after his instalment as librarian of the Vatican, in terms, which, being, in some respects, less flattering than those employed by other critics, are less open to the suspicion of exaggeration; "One forenoon in the Vatican," he writes, "Mezzofanti spoke modern Greek to a young man who came in, Hebrew with a rabbi or scrittore of the library, Russian with a magnate who passed through the manuscript rooms, Latin and German with me, Danish with a young Danish archæologist who was present, English with the English, Italian with many." And, in describing the nature and origin of this accomplishment, he adds, that "he seeks the society of foreigners very eagerly, in order to converse with every one in his own language. His predilection for acquiring foreign idioms is so great, that he observes and imitates the provincial dialects and accents. He has carried this so far, that, for example, he can distinguish the Hamburg and Hanoverian German very well; even of Wendish he is not ignorant." A Hungarian lady, Mlle. Wesselengi, who met him in 1841, bears testimony to his Hungarian. A Russian traveller, whose visit brings us down to a still later period, reports in the same strain of his Russian, and adds that he spoke eight languages fluently in his presence. On this gentleman's asking him for a test of the number of languages and dialects in which he was able to express himself, Mezzofanti sent him the name of God written with his own hand in fifty-six languages, of which thirty were European, seventeen Asiatic, five African, and four American.

But the most complete, detailed, and careful account of Mezzofanti's gift of languages which has been published by any of those who enjoyed his acquaintance in Rome, is that given by Herr Guido Görres, son of the celebrated German author of that name, in a sketch published in 1842. "The vastness of the range of languages which he has mastered," writes Herr Görres, "borders closely on the incredible; and, what appears hardly less marvellous, this enormous store has not produced any Babel-like confusion in his head, but, on the contrary, lies completely at his command, so that without the least effort, and without any observable interval he passes from one realm of language to another, as lightly as a bird hops from spray to spray. He is familiar with all the European languages; and by this we understand, not merely the old classical tongues and the first-class modern ones, that is to say, the Greek and Latin, the Italian, French, Spanish, Portugese, German, and English;—his knowledge embraces also the languages of the second class, viz. the Dutch, the Danish, and Swedish, the whole Slavonic family, the Russian, Polish, Bohemian or Czechish, the Servian, Hungarian, and Turkish; and even those of the third and fourth class, the Irish, Welsh, Albanian, Wallachian, Bulgarian, and Illyrian are equally at his command. Even the Romani of the Alps and the Lettish are not unfamiliar to him; nay, he has made himself acquainted with the Lappish, the language of the wretched nomadic tribes of Lapland. Passing along to Asia, it is true he does not claim acquaintance with all the dialects of this vast region, but nevertheless, even here, there is hardly one of the more prominent languages, especially those which fall within the circle of European intercourse, that has escaped his grasp. Thus he is master of all the languages which are classed under the Indo-Germanic family, the Sanscrit and Persian, the Koordish, the Georgian, the Armenian; he is familiar with all the members of the Semitic family, the Hebrew, Arabic, Syriac, Samaritan, Chaldee, Sabaic, and even the Chinese, which he not only reads but speaks. As regards Africa and its Hamitic races, the recent revival of intercourse with that country, and especially with Egypt and Abyssinia, have facilitated the extension of his acquaintance with its languages. He knows the Coptic, Ethiopic, Abyssinian, Amharic, and Angolese."*

One of his best facilities of study, during his residence in Rome, was the opportunity which he there enjoyed of constant intercourse with the pupils of the well-known College of the Propaganda. He was a frequent and industrious visitor of this institution, which comprises students of almost every known race and tongue; and he was especially careful to turn to account the assistance of every new-comer, with whose native tongue he was still unacquainted or unfamiliar. In this way, at a very late period of his life, he learned the Cingalese, the Amharifia, the Californian language, the "impossible" Basque, and even the Chinese—the latter in such perfection as to be able to preach to the Chinese students of the Propaganda.

Such were the popular accounts of this extraordinary linguist which prevailed during his lifetime; and, although it is impossible not to admit some allowance for the exaggeration inevitable in a subject so full of marvel, yet, when it is remembered how frequently and how severely Cardinal Mezzofanti's powers were tested, especially during his residence in Rome, it will be seen that the deduction to be made from his fame upon this score is not so considerable as might at first sight appear. It is clear, of course, that the great danger of over-estimate, in all such cases, lies in the difficulty of applying any satisfactory test of the real powers of a linguist, at least when once we pass the limits of a certain circle of the more familiar and more accessible languages. Thus, in the case of Mezzofanti, very many of the languages ascribed to him would seem to be of a class of which, under ordinary circumstances, no sample could ever be met in Europe, or, indeed, anywhere, except in the native haunts of the rude tribes by which they are spoken. But, on the other hand, when the peculiar position which he occupied in Rome is taken into consideration, it will be seen that there are very few languages indeed, in which an opportunity of trial did not present itself at some period or other of his career; very few, we might aver, in which his knowledge was not fully and fairly tested on repeated occasions by foreign visitors at Rome (each of whom could speak to the Cardinal's familiarity with his own language), by philologers who made these languages the study of their lives, and, above all, by the students of the College of the Propaganda, or priests returned from its many-tongued missions.

The College of the Propaganda, indeed, was the great theatre of the display of the Cardinal's marvellous accomplishments. His visits to this institution for years formed his chief recreation; and his simplicity, affability, cheerfulness, piety, and genuine kindheartedness, made him the idol of the students. He paid them a daily visit, in summer for an hour, in winter for an hour and a half; partly directing and superintending their own linguistic studies, partly for the sake of practice for himself in their respective languages, partly as an innocent and profitable relaxation. In several instances it occurred that youths who had arrived at the Propaganda ignorant of the language of their own country, acquired it during their course from the lectures and conversation of the Cardinal. In some cases, too, still more extraordinary, of pupils, who on their arrival were entirely ignorant of every language but their own (and that a language with which the Cardinal had no previous acquaintance), he contrived by degrees to acquire from themselves the rudiments of their own language; and, by that wonderful command of the analogies of language which he possessed, to reduce it to a grammatical system, in which he became in turn the instructor of his preceptors.

In order to form an adequate idea of his powers as a linguist, and especially of the readiness and elegance with which he flew in conversation from one language to another, even the most dissimilar in form and the most irreconcilable in structural characteristics, it would be necessary to see Cardinal Mezzofanti in the midst of a group of his favourite Propaganda pupils in all the unrestrained ease of their hour of college recreation. Foreign visitors of Rome had a more formal opportunity of witnessing the same wonderful performance on occasion of the well-known annual academy of the Propaganda during the octave of the Epiphany, in which short appropriate pieces in prose and verse are delivered by the students in all the various languages at that time represented in the community, sometimes to the number of fifty or sixty. Many of these compositions were from the pen of the Cardinal: many more underwent at least a revision at his hands; and, at the close of the exhibition, it was a common sight to see him surrounded by a group of speakers of the most opposite languages, turning from one to the other with the quickness of thought, and replying to all with such incredible rapidity, that he might seem, if it were possible, to speak the languages of several simultaneously, and by the very same action, not alone of the mind, but even of the lips.

Considerable diversity of statement has prevailed as to the precise number of languages which may be ascribed to this prodigious polyglottist. The published accounts which have been cited in this memoir vary very much in this regard. The memoirs which have appeared since his decease, though differing widely from one another, are more precise as to the number of languages which they ascribe to him. The memoir printed by Signor Stoltz gives a detailed list of fifty-eight languages, all of which he asserts to have been spoken by the Cardinal. A memoir published anonymously in the Civiltà Cattolica gives the still more astonishing total of seventy-eight as the number of his languages, and rests this statement on a conversation which the writer had with the Cardinal in the year 1846.

These statements, however, although precise enough as regards the number of languages with which Cardinal Mezzofanti was acquainted, leave a wide field of inquiry still open as to the degree of his familiarity with each among the number. Unfortunately he himself never appears to have drawn up, what he alone could have done with precision, any exact report as to the extent of his knowledge of each particular language, similar to the memorandum left behind by Sir W. Jones, and published by Lord Teignmouth in his life of that distinguished linguist. M. Manavit, the author of the French memoir of the Cardinal, urged upon him the propriety of drawing up such a statement; but he does not appear to have carried out the intention.

In the absence of such a statement from the Cardinal himself, the precise degree of his familiarity with each of the several languages in particular can only be ascertained by the reports of natives of each language who had enjoyed the opportunity of conversing with him in their respective languages, and of testing by actual trial the extent and exactness of his knowledge of each. The narratives already published regarding him supply many data for such an estimate; but much more may be hoped from a more extended and systematic inquiry, which has been recently instituted, and which has been addressed to natives of almost every race and every tongue, not only in Rome, Venice, Paris, Vienna, and all the other great centres of language, but to missionaries in the remote East, once students in the Propaganda, and to eminent philologers, Catholic and Protestant, in every country in Europe, who had had the advantage of Mezzofanti's acquaintance, whether in Bologna or in Rome. Even now, however, it may be pronounced with certainty, as the result of this collative testimony has been but to establish more firmly the reputation of the great linguist. In all the learned languages without exception; in all the languages of Europe—not only the leading ones, but even the second-class languages—and very many provincial dialects; in all the languages of the Hebrew family, Chaldee, Syriac, Arabic, Persian, Turkish, Coptic, Ethiopian, and Abyssinian; in the leading members of the Sanscrit family; in the great stumbling-block of former linguists, the Chinese, together with its leading derivative tongues; in many of the languages of both continents of America, and even in some of those of the southern Archipelago, he is proved to have spoken with a fluency and correctness which few foreigners have ever attained in any of them, except by the almost exclusive study for life.

Cardinal Mezzofanti enjoyed in a high degree the confidence and friendship of Pope Gregory XVI. He was a member of all the most important congregations of the Sacred College—of that of the Propaganda, of the Index, of Rites, of Studies, and of the Examination of Bishops. He was, moreover, official visitor of several of the hospitals, and the other charitable institutions in which Rome abounds,—a charge for which his early tastes and the natural benevolence of his disposition eminently fitted him.

Under his present Holiness he continued to enjoy the same favour; and personally he was most affectionately attached to the Holy Father. During the troubled months that preceded the Pope's withdrawal from Rome in 1848–9, his health suffered severely from the anxiety and alarm inseparable from such events; and, from the time of the flight of the Holy Father, he began rapidly to sink. In February 1849 he was attacked by pleurisy; and, though the acute symptoms were relieved, it was succeeded by low gastric fever, which soon reduced his strength beyond the hope of recovery. His end, it need hardly be said, was such as might have been anticipated from such antecedents,—holy, calm, resigned, and even cheerful. He himself fixed the day and hour for his receiving the last sacraments, and made all his preparation for death with the humble confidence of a Christian. He retained to the very last the full use of all his faculties; and, still, to his latest sigh, breathing acts of penitence and love, he expired at midnight, March 15, 1849, in the 76th year of his age. It is no equivocal tribute to the amiableness of his manners and the blamelessness of his life, that even the revolutionary government, to which his hostility was open and undisguised, offered to his family the honours of a public funeral; an offer, however, which was unhesitatingly declined.

As an author, Cardinal Mezzofanti is almost entirely unknown. He occasionally composed essays for various learned societies of which he was a member, but only one of these, a panegyric of one of his first professors at Bologna, has ever been published. His attainments, nevertheless, both in literature and in science were highly respectable. Although not a professed philologist, he was familiar with the works of all the best modern writers, German, French, and English, in this science. He was well acquainted with literary history and bibliography. In his youth he had cultivated botany; he enjoyed while at Bologna the reputation of a clever mathematician; and, late in life, M. Libri found him conversant not only with the language of the Bija Gannita, or Hindoo algebra, but with all the details of algebraic science as cultivated by the Hindoos, as well as with the most obscure details of Indian literature, history, chronology, and antiquities. Many of the scholars of other countries render the same testimony as to their own history and literature. In strictly professional learning his reputation was considerable at Rome. He was a skilful canonist and a well-informed theologian, and his preaching, though not eloquent, was extremely solid and impressive. His general character was most estimable. He was courteous and good-natured to all. His charities were liberal almost to prodigality, and won for him the title of Monsignor Limosiniere (My Lord Almoner); while his personal habits, even after his elevation to the cardinalate, were simple and unassuming in the highest degree. Above all, his modesty, simplicity, and profound humility constituted the great charm of his character; his extraordinary gifts borrowed additional lustre from his own apparent unconsciousness of their extent, and his lowly estimate of their value; and his tender and unaffected piety supplied all that was wanting to complete the character of the true Christian scholar.

He is buried in the church from which he drew his title,—that of St. Onofrio; already an object of deep interest for every literary pilgrim, as the resting-place of Torquato Tasso.

MORTLAKE CHORAL GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

This school is especially designed as a place of education for boys, who unite good natural abilities with a taste for being employed about the Altar or in the Choir.

The course of education comprises, besides the ordinary subjects of an English education, an accurate knowledge of the rudiments of Latin, and of Vocal Music; thus tending to fit them for the ecclesiastical state if they have a vocation, and to give them a sound general education, together with a practical knowledge of the Services of the Church, such as may still be useful to them if they take to secular pursuits.

In accordance with this object, the following rules will be observed in granting admission:

1. The boys must have good natural abilities, with some capacity for music.

2. They must not be under eight years of age, and be able to read and write.

3. They must be recommended for their general good conduct and a disposition to exert themselves.

The terms, which are purposely as low as possible, vary from 16*l.* to 20*l.* per annum for education, board, lodging, and extras. Entrance-money, 1*l.*

But to those whose time at school will not admit of such a course, instruction is given chiefly in the departments more immediately preparative to their intended avocations. Professors of Music, Drawing, and Drilling, attend twice a-week. Drawing, Perspective, &c. &c., are taught by a very able master, trained in the "School of Science and Art," under the Board of Trade. The religious instruction is undertaken by the Rev. W. Johnson, S.J., Trenchard-street.

KINGSDOWN, though municipally a part of Bristol, is locally in Clifton, on the same delightful eminence, and enjoying the same pure and salubrious air. Prospect House contains every convenience for a boarding-school; a lofty school-room, airy dormitories, and a convenient bath-room, with a good enclosed play-ground.

The bath-room contains warm, cold, and shower-baths, with an unlimited supply of water. Each young gentleman has a warm-bath once a-week, Mrs. Dunn herself attending the junior boys.

The health and happiness of the pupils are objects of constant attention and solicitude. Every boy has a separate bed; and the number being limited to thirty, they have all the comforts of home under Mrs. Dunn's maternal care. The age for admission is from six to fourteen years.

CONVENT OF OUR LADY OF THE ORPHANS,

Norwood, Surrey,

FOR THE EDUCATION OF YOUNG LADIES.

Under the patronage of his Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, and of his Lordship the Bishop of Southwark.

The Religious of Our Lady of the Orphans, in order to enable them to receive and support gratuitously a greater number of orphans, have opened a special department, entirely distinct from the orphanage, for the education of young ladies, who are taught all the various branches of a continental and English education.

This Establishment, which the first year contained 1 orphan, the second 31, the third 71, the fourth 75, now contains about 80, and has thus educated 103 children. But this number of 80 can scarcely be maintained for want of dormitories and other necessaries; and the religious would be glad to increase it if they had the means to enlarge their house as much as their 17 acres of freehold would permit.

For this charitable purpose, subscriptions and donations are earnestly solicited, and may be forwarded to his Eminence the Cardinal, his Lordship the Bishop of Southwark, to any of the Clergy, to the Joint-Stock Bank, 69 Pall Mall, London, or to the Rev. D. M. Vesque, at the Convent.

His Holiness Pope Pius IX. has granted an indulgence of seven years to all those who, either by their prayers or alms, shall forward this good work.

For further particulars respecting the boarding-school, and likewise for admission into the orphanage, apply to the Rev. M. Superioress, Catholic Orphanage, Norwood.

Music, drawing, and dancing are extras. The pension to be paid quarterly, in advance. A quarter's notice to be given previous to the removal of a pupil. CONVENT IN THE ISLAND OF JERSEY.

ORDER OF THE RETREAT.

The Ladies of the Retreat beg particularly to recommend their establishment to the consideration of Catholics in England. They have taken upon themselves an extensive building, in hopes that the famed salubrity of the island and the gentleness of its climate would supply for delicate children a want difficult to be found either in England or France. In undertaking this establishment, they saw but little resources in the island itself; but great hopes were naturally held out to them, that with the daily extending reputation of the island for its health, its beauty, its cheapness of living, a field for great good would be opened for their exertions in the children of families whom economy or ill-health would bring to so favoured a spot.

The Ladies of the Retreat have a second design also in their undertaking, which is, to receive ladies who wish for any length of time to retire from the world to live in quasi religious life.

The terms, for children under fourteen years of age, are 20 guineas. Music and Drawing are extras.

For further particulars, apply to the Rev. J. M'Carthy, chaplain to Dr. Grant, Bishop of Southwark; or to the Very Rev. Dr. Whitty, 22 Finsbury-circus, Moorfields, London.

ST. EDWARD'S CONVENT OF OUR LADY OF MERCY, POOR SCHOOLS, AND HOUSE OF MERCY,

Blandford-square, London.

The Ladies of this community have at present under their fostering care above 400 poor children of the congregations of St. John's-wood and Spanish-place receiving gratuitous education. The fruits of their charitable labours are becoming daily more clearly developed in the mental improvement of their little pupils, and more particularly in their external neat appearance and personal character. We regret to have to state, that their largest school-room is still employed as a temporary chapel. Thus the sphere of their usefulness is considerably abridged by the want of means to build their new chapel; whilst the outstanding debt of 2000*l.*, with the interest on the same, for the erection of the school and convent premises, is a source of serious embarrassement to the community.

The House of Mercy.

The object of this branch of the Institute of our Lady of Mercy is to protect and train well-conducted young females to habits of industry. The Nuns receive their little pupils into the elementary schools at the tender age of two years; and they devote themselves with untiring solicitude to impress upon their minds and hearts the conviction that the faithful discharge of their duties in this life is the best and safest passport to the happiness of the next. Oh, how charming it is to see those pious ladies moulding the wayward wills of their little pupils to the sweet influence of order and discipline, whilst they store their minds with the knowledge of their duties as subjects and Christians, and inflame their hearts with the love of God!

From the elementary schools they are raised in due time into the House of Mercy, where they are thoroughly instructed in laundry and needlework, and in all the duties of domestic service. Here they are boarded and lodged and preserved from all external contagion of vice until they are provided with suitable situations. The ladies also receive young women of good character into the Institution during the time they are out of situations, and improve them in the knowledge of domestic duties, until they provide proper situations for them. There is ample space for the accommodation of 60 young women in the House, but the heavy debt upon the building-account is a serious drawback upon the efficiency of the Charity. There are at present 56 young women in the establishment, many of whom have to repose on the floor of the dormitory for want of means to purchase bedsteads and proper furniture for them. The present high price of provisions greatly augments the embarrassments of the administration of this Charity.

The pious sex are specially invited to patronise this charity by laundry and needlework, which is executed with the greatest care and skill, and which is an important source of maintenance for the objects of the charity. Subscriptions and donations will be thankfully received by his Eminence Cardinal Wiseman; by the Joint Stock Bank, Pall Mall; by the Very Rev. Provost Whitty; the Very Rev. William Canon Hunt; the Rev. Edward Hearn; the Very Rev. James Canon O'Neal; and by the Rev. Mother, at the Convent.

N.B. Cast-off clothing will be thankfully received by the Rev. Mother, to fit out the young women for their situations. The Convent van conveys the clothes to and from the laundry every week. For more ample details of this charity, please to refer to the Report of last year in the Directory.

CONVENT OF THE LITTLE SISTERS OF THE POOR,

Elm-tree House, King-street, Hammersmith.

There are fifty or sixty poor old women lodged and provided for in this institution, which is entirely dependent upon voluntary contributions of food or money. The Sisters will feel much indebted to any family who will allow them to call once or twice a week for broken victuals, &c.; or subscriptions may be forwarded to the Superior as above, or to the Rev. the Clergy of Hammersmith. His Eminence the Cardinal Archbishop has granted it his especial protection.

CONVENT OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD,

Hammersmith.

"The poor ye have always with you."—St. Matt. xxvi. 11.

The prayers of the community will be constantly offered for their benefactors; and the duty of gratitude is carefully impressed on the Penitents. Their prayers are most earnestly offered for those who help to support them, and the religious are obliged by their rule as follows:

1. The Holy Sacrifice twice in the month for living benefactors.
2. In the months of March and September a Requiem Mass is said for the dead.
3. Twice in the day the De profundis is said in the community for the same, and once after Matins a Hail Mary is said for the living.
4. A general communion is offered every month for the benefactors, and two Sisters communicate every Saturday for their "intentions."

Subscriptions will be gratefully received by His Eminence Cardinal Archbishop Wiseman, 8 York-place, Portman-square; by Charles Dolman, Esq., 61 New Bond-street; at the Commercial Bank, Henrietta-street, Covent-garden; by the Very Rev. Canon O'Neal, V.G., at Our Lady's Church, St. John's-wood; by the Rev. H. P. Heneage, Superior of the Convent, Hammersmith; and by the Superioress, to whom applications for admission to the Asylum must be addressed. Non-subscribers are expected to pay a fee of Two Guineas entrance, with all expenses to and from the Asylum. No Penitent can be admitted under the age of eighteen years.

Annual Subscribers of Two Guineas are entitled to have one Penitent recommended by them always in the Asylum. On one being dismissed, another may be recommended without further subscription.

ST. JOSEPH'S CONVENT OF OUR LADY OF MERCY, AND POOR SCHOOLS FOR GIRLS,

Cadogan-street, Chelsea.

The charity of the Catholic public is earnestly solicited in behalf of this Convent, and the Poor Schools attached to it.

These spacious and commodious Schools, annexed to the Convent, built by Joseph Knight, Esq., and opened in the spring of 1845, are now attended by nearly 400 children. (This does not include the boys.) The Sisters, besides constant attention to the spiritual instruction and education of the children, are daily engaged in visiting the sick, instructing adults, &c. For the further accommodation of the community, now increasing, it is in contemplation to add to the building should the means be realised to effect this, which it is humbly hoped may be the case.

Those who cannot co-operate by giving a life of labour to the works of mercy, are requested to forward their subscriptions to His Eminence the Cardinal Archbishop, 8 York-place, Portman-square; Very Rev. Provost Whitty, St. Mary's, Moorfields; Very Rev. Monsignor Eyre, St. Mary's, Chelsea; Very Rev. Canon Hunt, St. James's, Spanish-place; Very Rev. Canon Last, Ingatestone Hall, Essex; or to the Mother Superior of the Convent, by whom they will be most gratefully received.

ST. JOSEPH'S CONVENT OF OUR LADY OF MERCY,

In Clifford.

The establishment of the Sisters of Mercy in this diocese cannot but be regarded by all who have the interests of our holy religion at heart as one of the most cheering prospects for the advancement of the cause of charity, so intimately connected with the spread of true religion in this country.

A visit to the Convent of Mercy in Clifford will not only amply repay the trouble, but will also prove how much has been already accomplished by the self-sacrificing ladies who have renounced all to dedicate themselves to the service of the poor.

May Our Lady of Mercy look down with protecting love on all who shall contribute to the support and advancement of this invaluable institution, is the heartfelt prayer of the Pastor of the Mission.

E. L. CLIFFORD.

PENSIONNAT FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Under the Direction of the Ursuline Nuns at Thildonck, near Louvain.

The agreeable situation of this establishment, the pure air of the locality, the courts and spacious gardens which surround the house,—all contribute to make this abode both salubrious and joyful. The food is healthy, abundant, and varied. Great care is taken of the health of the pupils, and in case of sickness the most assiduous attentions are paid to them. Every endeavour is made to form the manners of the pupils, so as to develop their more amiable qualities, and render their society agreeable.

Religion, being the basis of instruction, enters into the plan of study in each class.

The studies comprise reading and writing, the French, Flemish, German, and English languages, the elements of literature, epistolary style, arithmetic, book-keeping, geography, the elements of natural history, and the use of the globes.

The French language is constantly spoken, and great care is taken of the purity of the accent.

The pension, including drawing, painting, and gymnastics, is 300 francs (12*l.*) per annum, payable quarterly in advance. Vocal and instrumental music and the Italian language are extras. Washing is 20 francs (16*s.*) per annum.

BOARDING SCHOOL FOR YOUNG LADIES,

Maeseyck, Province of Limburg, Belgium.

Patronised by His Eminence Cardinal Wiseman and the Lord Bishop of Liège.

Under the direction of the Ursuline Religious.

Religion being the basis of education, is the groundwork of instruction in this establishment. To impart to the pupils a solid knowledge of the dogmas it teaches, and form them to the love and practice of the duties it imposes; to dissuade children from vice, and attract them to virtue by the persuasive means of emulation; to enrich the mind with scientific knowledge, at the same time to adorn the heart with those virtues which not only render the possessors amiable and useful members of society, but enable them to triumph over adverse circumstances of time and fortune,—such is the triple object which the religious of this institute propose in the education of the young persons confided to their care.

The situation of the Convent is most desirable, being salubrious, agreeable, and surrounded by spacious gardens and meadows, that furnish the pupils extensive space for exercise and recreation.

Terms, including instruction in the English, French, Italian, and German languages, history, geography, writing, and arithmetic, the piano, guitar, singing, drawing and painting, needlework of every description, both plain and ornamental, as also washing, Twenty Guineas per annum, to be paid quarterly in advance.

The following are extra charges: Clothing, expenses of sickness, stationery, postage, materials for work, musical pieces, and books.

Pupils who are desirous to learn the guitar are required to provide or hire one.

To obviate the attendant difficulties respecting the voyage, and to intimate to parents resident in England an expeditious and convenient route to Maeseyck, the Religious Sisters beg to observe that there is communication, by railway, from Ostend, Antwerp, and Liège, to Hasselt. The community have arranged to procure their pupils a free conveyance from Hasselt to Maeseyck, under the condition of being apprised of the arrival a few days previous.

Further particulars may be known by applying to Madame la Révérende Mère Odile, Supérieure des Dames Ursulines (address as above).

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL'S ORPHANAGE, BRUGES,

Was founded, a few months since, for the rescue of a certain number of destitute orphan boys of good character, who, by the loss of their parents, are exposed to every privation and vice, become inmates of workhouses, and in fearful peril of losing their faith. Already sixteen most interesting little fellows have found a secure haven in this asylum, who must otherwise have been irrevocably lost. Many amongst them, who had almost forgotten the name of their Redeemer, and of His blessed Mother, are now true models of piety and edification in the churches of this ancient city, and every encouragement is given to those who evince talent or disposition for a high vocation.

None are admitted who have any friends likely to bring them up in the true faith, this most important institution being the work of a member of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, exclusively for orphans who are altogether destitute. After the founder's decease the orphanage will become the property of the Society; and, whenever the means are sufficiently ample, it will be removed into the diocese of Southwark.

More need not be said to prove the value and importance of this pious foundation, the further extension of which is so very desirable. It is, therefore, most earnestly hoped that the friends of the founder, as well as the Catholic public, will do all in their power to extend this haven of salvation to many more of their destitute little countrymen—although it be, for the present, abroad and out of sight—and that they will not fail to give their utmost aid to one who has thus sacrificed, not only his all, but even himself, by devoting the whole of his time to the care of these orphans, and rendering to them every personal service, however menial, which their forlorn position requires.

Any subscription, or donation, will be most gratefully received by the Founder, 37 Rue St. George, Bruges; or may be passed to the Account of A. R., London Joint Stock Bank, 69 Pall Mall.

COLLEGE OF HAZEBROUCK, DEPART. DU NORD, FRANCE.—Mons. l'Abbé Dehaene has for many years zealously devoted himself to the education of youth in France, and that with great success, under the kind patronage of an extensive circle of friends, both lay and clerical. Spiritual Director of the Establishment: Mons. l'Abbé Dekeister.

The College of Hazebrouck is corporation property, and aggregated to the University of France. It numbers a large staff of ecclesiastical professors, who have taken their degrees at Douai. A considerable number of Church-students who have completed their humanities are annually draughted off to the grand Séminaire of Cambrai.

Mons. l'Abbé Dehaene is desirous of having an additional number of English students, and therefore affords every facility to parents who are anxious to bestow on their children a liberal education. Education is not undertaken in this case as a private speculation, but as a public duty; and therefore, as the establishment is extensive, Mons. l'Abbé can offer very moderate terms, still insuring every comfort, physical, mental, and moral.

In consequence of the increase of English students, there is an English Cours d'Anglais, by an English Professor, embracing English literature, &c. &c. Music, drawing, &c. on more than usual reasonable terms, by the best professional gentlemen, on account of the extent of the establishment.

The College is conveniently situated on the Northern Railway, Hazebrouck being an important junction-station en route to Paris, three leagues from St. Omer, and twelve from Dunkerque, where there is another educational establishment under the surveillance of the same Principal. It is not more than three hours' journey to either place.

CATHOLIC POOR-SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Established in 1847, by the Bishops of England and Wales, to promote the Education of the Catholic Poor.

Chairman.—The Hon. Charles Langdale.
Secretary.—Thos. Wm. Allies, Esq.
Bankers.—The London Joint-Stock Bank, 69 Pall Mall.
Offices.—11 John-street, Adelphi, London.

On the 27th September 1847 the eight Bishops of England and Wales issued a letter creating and nominating the Catholic Poor-School Committee, "it being the unanimous intention of the Bishops to carry on henceforward the great work of the religious education of the children of the poor by the assistance, and through the instrumentality of this new Committee." The Committee, thus formed originally, consists of thirty-nine Members,—one priest and two laymen from each of the thirteen Dioceses. Its office and functions will be best attested by the following extract from the Synodal Letter of the Council of Oscott, 1852: "Make your schools equal in every respect to those which are open to allure away our children; avail yourselves of every encouragement and every improvement which tends to raise the standard of your education; and let there be no pretence tenable for sending Catholic children elsewhere. In effecting these most useful purposes, and procuring means for encouraging a high order of education, as well as extensively diffusing its blessings, we consider that the institution established by us, and known as the 'Poor-School Committee,' has been eminently useful, and deserves our public approbation and our joint recommendation. Composed as it is of priests and laymen selected from all our dioceses, it has attended to their several interests with fidelity and impartiality; and it has been the instrument for obtaining assistance and means for education, which, without its co-operation, would not have reached us. Through it the character of our poor-school teaching has been signally raised; and the erection of normal and training schools, which we now owe to its exertions and zeal, promises to secure on a stable basis the future enjoyment of this blessing. We therefore exhort and urge you to support this excellent Institution, by your liberal contributions, by your hearty co-operation, and by your friendly encouragement."

It is respectfully requested that subscriptions and donations may be remitted to the Secretary, either by cheque or bill on a London banker, or by a post-office order, payable at the General Post-office, London.

ST. PATRICK'S CHARITY SCHOOLS,

For the gratuitous education and clothing of the destitute offspring of the poor, at Tudor-place, Tottenham-court-road, and Asylum for Female Orphans bereft of both parents, lately at Heath House, New End-square, Hampstead, now removed to Norwood.

His Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, Patron.

The Right Hon. the Countess Dowager of Shrewsbury, Patroness of the Female Orphan Asylum.

St. Patrick's Charity is dependent on the voluntary subscriptions and donations of the benevolent, which have of late been insufficient for the promotion of its several objects; comprising the support of—

Two schools for 320 boys, superintended by Brothers of the Christian Schools;

One school for 140 girls.

Thus does the charity gratuitously afford to the children of the poor the blessing of a sound, useful, and virtuous education; and to female children bereft of both parents shelter, maintenance, and education in an asylum which is the only one in the district exclusively devoted to the gratuitous protection of parentless Catholic female orphans.

The Orphan Fund of St. Patrick's Charity is composed of the subscriptions of ladies, and exclusively applied to board, medical attendance, and rewards to the orphans for exemplary conduct during two years after they have been placed out in service. Every other expenditure for rent, clothing, and education, is provided for by the General Fund of St. Patrick's Charity, the annual contributions to which having of late years much decreased, it becomes necessary earnestly to invoke the benevolence of all, to rescue the institution from impending decay, and to perpetuate the blessings it has for more than half-a-century widely diffused.

Subscriptions and donations received by the Rev. Gentlemen of St. Patrick's Chapel; the Rev. William Waterworth, No. 9 Hill-street, Berkeley-square; Henry Barnewall, Esq., of Copthall-court, Throgmorton-street, and Richmond-hill, Surrey; the Commercial Bank of London, Henrietta-street, Covent-garden; and also (towards the maintenance of the female orphans) by Mrs. Henry Barnewall.

ST. PATRICK'S AUXILIARY SCHOOLS.

1. Infant School, Crown-street.—2. Evening School, Tudor-place. 3. Sunday School, Tudor-place.

ST. FRANCIS'S CATHOLIC FREE SCHOOL, ST. GILES'S.

Established 1828.

ST. ALOYSIUS'S SCHOOLS,

Patron—Cardinal Wiseman, Archbishop of Westminster.

The Rev. J. Nerinckx, in calling attention to these Schools, for the maintenance of which, for a period of half-a-century, he is indebted to the generous co-operation and patronage of the Catholic public, thinks it well to make known their present position, and to put forward their claims to future support.

Twenty-five years back he was fortunate to induce the ladies of a religious community to establish a branch of their Order in connection with these Schools, since which time these Schools have been resigned to their entire control. These religious impart to the children intrusted to their charge a solid English education; they foster habits of industry, and implant in the youthful mind a thorough and practical knowledge of our holy faith. Each pupil is provided with good board and lodging, and taught those things most suitable for her future position in life, whether she remain an inmate of her family, be engaged in business, or seek her means of livelihood in service. Those intended for the last-named duty are trained for their future calling (as far as health and strength will permit, and subject to the approval of their friends and benefactors) in the necessary household requirements of the establishment. They are also instructed in needlework, which is taken in at the Schools and carefully executed. The terms expected for these advantages are from 10*l.* to 12*l.* per annum, exclusive of clothes and school-books; but of the 160 children who are at present in the two houses, thirty-six are orphans or destitute children, and are fed, clothed, lodged, and educated free of all expense.

Besides the boarding-schools, there are attached to these establishments day-schools, in which 220 children receive gratuitous education, forty of whom are fed and in part provided with clothing. And it may not be uninteresting to know, that during the past year sixty boarders and fifty day-scholars have left the schools of St. Aloysius entirely fitted to take their places in their family circles, or to provide for themselves in the world.

It is painful to the Rev. J. Nerinckx to state, that from the loss by death of many benevolent patrons who had cheered him on in his labours, as well as from the increasing demands upon the Catholic public, and the high price of provisions, the funds of these institutions have so much diminished, that it has been found necessary to reduce the number of gratuitous admissions, as well as to refuse to parents of limited means the admission of their children at half the pension, as has hitherto been done. It is hoped that these adverse circumstances may not continue, and that the patronage which has hitherto upheld establishments so useful will preserve their utility undiminished, now that it is more than ever necessary to guard the children of our holy faith from the proselytising influences of the anti-Catholic systems of education in operation.

Subscriptions and Donations will be gratefully received by Very Rev. Monsignor Searle, 8 York-place, Portman-square; the Rev. J. Nerinckx, Clarendon-square, Somers-town; and the Joint-Stock Bank, 69 Pall Mall.

SCHOOLS OF OUR LADY OF COMPASSION,

Dunne's Passage, 154 High Holborn.

These schools were established more than three years ago by the Fathers of the Oratory, under whose direction they are still carried on.

They comprise an Infant School, a Boys' Day School, Girls' Day School, and Night Schools for those boys and girls who (being employed in selling fruit, sweeping crossings, and similar occupations) cannot attend school in the day-time.

Attached to the schools is the establishment called St. Philip's Home, which affords a refuge to young destitute girls of good character; and there is also an Industrial School, where a number of girls find employment. These, as well as the Girls' and Infants' Schools, are conducted by the Sisters of Compassion. By the permission of the Cardinal Archbishop, the school is used on Sundays as a chapel for the children. Mass is said for them, and confessions heard; and on one evening of the week there is a meeting of a Confraternity of Perseverance, consisting of those children who have been admitted to their first Communion.

The average number of children present daily is about 600; the number on the books being nearly 1200.

The schools are situated in the centre of a densely populated neighbourhood, being close to St. Giles's, Drury-lane, Seven Dials, &c. The children are of the poorest class. During the past winter and spring the distress among them was so great, that upwards of 100 starving children received food at the schools daily.

Subscriptions for the support of the schools, and donations towards the new school-buildings now in the course of erection in Charles-street, Drury-lane, will be thankfully received by the Rev. Father Hutchison, the Oratory, Brompton; at Messrs. Burns and Lambert; and at the London Joint-stock Bank, 69 Pall Mall.

In case of subscriptions being paid into the London Joint-stock Bank, care should be taken to explain distinctly that they are for the Catholic Schools of Compassion, in order to prevent mistakes.

EAST LONDON CATHOLIC INSTITUTION,

14 Red Lion-street, Wapping.

For educating and clothing poor children.

SPITALFIELDS CATHOLIC FREE SCHOOLS,

Spicer-street, Brick-lane.

Patron: His Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, Archbishop of Westminster.

Spiritual Directors of the Children: The Marist Fathers.

These schools are situated in the midst of a densely-populated neighbourhood, comprising the parishes of Spitalfields, Whitechapel, and Bethnal-green, where poverty and vice abound to an extent perhaps unequalled in any other part of the metropolis. It has been computed that there are nearly 1000 Catholic children in this district requiring more or less gratuitous education. Of this number there are between 400 and 500 now in the schools, and great exertions are being made to secure the remainder. The building in Spicer-street was originally erected for boys and girls, and up to about two years since was found adequate for the purpose. But since the boys have been under the care of a religious Brotherhood, the number of scholars has been doubled, and the whole of the building is now required for their use. It is now contemplated to erect a school-room for the girls on ground the property of the Institution in Spicer-street, and then to place them under the charge of a religious community. To enable them to accomplish this, the Committee are necessitated to appeal to every "Friend of Education" for assistance; and should this notice be seen by any lady or gentleman whom Providence has placed in a position to spare a trifle, it is hoped they will "embrace with gladness this opportunity of doing good," by enrolling themselves as Annual Subscribers to the Institution, or by a donation to the Building Fund.

The smallest contribution will be thankfully received by his Eminence the Cardinal Archbishop, 8 York-place, Portman-square; by the Marist Fathers, 8 Albert-place, Mile-end, New-town; by the Trustees, W. J. Lescher, Esq., 10 Chapel-street, Grosvenor-square; and J. Swiney, Esq., 4 Brett's-buildings, Hoxton; or to their account at the Commercial Bank, Henrietta-street, Covent-garden; by the Treasurer, Mr. J. Connery, Thomas-street, Whitechapel-road; or by the Secretary, Mr. F. Napper, 16 Selby-street East, Waterloo-town, Bethnal Green.

TOTTENHAM, EDMONTON, AND PONDER'S END SCHOOLS.

These schools were opened to give religious education to the poor Catholic children in and about Tottenham, Edmonton, and vicinity.

Subscriptions will be thankfully received by his Eminence Cardinal

Wiseman; by the Clergy at all the Chapels; and by the Rev. T. H. Ewart, Chapel-place, White Hart-lane, Tottenham.

HAMMERSMITH CATHOLIC SCHOOLS.

Subscriptions for the support of these schools will be thankfully received by the Rev. Daniel O'Keefe, Hammersmith; or by his Eminence Cardinal Wiseman.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETY,

For the Relief of the Aged and Infirm Poor.

Patron: His Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, Archbishop of Westminster.

Subscriptions will be thankfully received by his Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, Archbishop of Westminster; the Very Rev. Provost Whitty, and the Rev. Chaplains of St. Mary's, 22 Finsbury-circus; the Rev. Chaplains of St. George's Cathedral, Southwark; the Rev. Chaplains of the Oratory and Virginia-street; Henry Barnewall, Esq., the Treasurer, Copthall-court; Thomas Barnewall, Esq., Commercial Bank, Henrietta-street, Covent-garden; and by the Honorary Secretary, Edward Firth, 2 Aldgate.

SOCIETY OF CHARITABLE SISTERS, AND THE CATHOLIC LYING-IN CHARITY.

The Charitable Sisters gratefully acknowledge the kind support they have met with, and respectfully intreat the co-operation of the benevolent, and particularly of their own sex, to aid them by donations of money, apparel, &c. Any person wishing for particulars may have the last year's Report by applying to Mrs. Dinmore, President and Treasurer, 3 City-road.

ASSOCIATION OF THE DAUGHTERS OF OUR LADY OF COMPASSION.

This Association, which was commenced in the year 1854 with the approval of the Cardinal Archbishop, consists solely of girls under the age of eighteen. Its object is to afford the young an opportunity of practising a work of charity by combining together to raise funds for the support of female orphans.

It is thought that the children, having a distinct work thus given them to be undertaken and carried on by themselves, are likely to feel a greater interest in it; and that the Association may thus become a useful instrument in initiating the young betimes in the practice of works of charity.

Already seven orphans are being supported in a Catholic orphanage by the alms of the children of the Association.

The subscription is 2½*d.* a month, or half-a-crown a year. A copy of the Rules, &c. may be obtained by writing to the Secretary, the Lady Victoria Fitzalan Howard, 11 Carlton-terrace, London; or by applying to the Fathers of the Oratory, Brompton, by whom donations to the Association will be thankfully received.

The Right Rev. Dr. Morris; the Earl of Arundel and Surrey; Lord Stourton; Lord Clifford; Lord Stafford; Rev. Dr. Doyle; Rev. W. J. O'Connor; Rev. Dr. Baldacconi; Rev. Dr. Melia; Rev. E. Price; Rev. J. Kyne; Rev. J. Cotter; Rev. D. Santry; J. Hercy and Kenelm Digby, Esqs.

Subscriptions and donations will be thankfully received by his Eminence the Patron and President; the Vice-Presidents; the Directors; the Hon. Secretary, C. J. Pagliano, Esq., The Lodge, Brook-green, Hammersmith; and by the Assistant Secretary and Collector, Mr. T. Blount, 2 Leicester-place.

The Almshouses—Cadogan-street, Chelsea.

Under the special patronage of his Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, Archbishop of Westminster.

There have been ten new rooms built at this charity during the past year, in addition to the eight which were erected by the late Rev. John Rolfe; so that there are now eighteen respectable aged women comfortably accommodated there rent-free. There is ample space still remaining there for the erection of eight rooms more, but the Committee regret the total absence of means to carry up the buildings. Contributions for that purpose, and also to supply coals and other necessaries to the poor deserving inmates, will be thankfully received by the Very Rev. Provost Whitty, D.D.; by the Very Rev. James Canon O'Neal; and by the Very Rev. Monsignor Eyre.

St. Joseph's Almshouses.

In connection with the above Society at Brook Green, Hammersmith. The Directors have the greatest satisfaction in informing the Catholic public that some of the Almshouses are now complete, and occupied. They have been built under the superintendence of Mr. Wardell, the architect, who is likewise building a new church on the same plot of ground. The whole of the fund has been expended, leaving a balance of about three hundred pounds still due to the builders. The present building will accommodate at least sixteen inmates; there will ultimately be rooms for forty. The committee or board-room is in keeping with the rest of the building, and does great credit to the architect. The directors now call upon the benevolent for contributions towards the endowment fund; seventy pounds have already been received for such purpose.

Subscriptions will be thankfully received, either for the completion of the almshouses or for the endowment fund, by any member of the Society, or by

C. J. Pagliano, Hon. Sec.

THE BROTHERHOOD OF ST. VINCENT OF PAUL.

Subscriptions and donations in money, clothes, shoes, blankets, flannel, &c., will be thankfully received by the Presidents at the same address. In London, old useful articles of furniture may be forwarded to 58 Newman-street, Oxford-street.

BRIXTON CATHOLIC POOR SCHOOLS,

10 St. Ann's-road, North Brixton.

The above Schools are badly supported, and hence the necessity of thus calling attention to them in the Directory. The number of children at present attending the Schools does not exceed one hundred. Twice that number should attend; but they will not, so long as neighbouring Protestant Schools will give them gifts and gratuities. Will not some generous souls assist us under these circumstances?—Donations received by Right Rev. Bishop Grant; Rev. J. Cotter, Treasurer, St. George's Catholic Cathedral, Southwark; or the other Chaplains.

ST. EDWARD'S LYING-IN CHARITY,

Blandford-square.

The object of this interesting Charity is to provide the necessary linen and suitable nourishment for respectable married women during the month of their confinement. The principal merit of this Charity, under the administration of the nuns, is, that no relief in pecuniary aid is bestowed, and that the ladies visit the objects of their charity, and minister to their wants according to the necessities of each individual case. Particular attention is paid to the recommendations of Subscribers to the Charity. Subscriptions are thankfully received by the Rev. Mother, at the Convent; and by the rev. gentlemen at Our Lady's Church, St. John's-wood, and of St. James's Church, Spanish-place.

INSTITUTION FOR FIRST COMMUNION,

15 Wood-street, Spitalfields.

Under the patronage of His Eminence the Cardinal Archbishop, and the Spiritual Direction of the Marist Fathers.

The object of this Institution is to instruct young women of good character who are deprived of the means of preparing for their first communion. It was established on the Feast of St. Anne, 1853. During two years and three months ninety poor girls, their ages varying from fourteen to twenty-two, have been supported, clothed, and instructed in the Institution. Sixty-three girls have been placed in good situations; thirteen returned to their parents; and there are at present fourteen girls in the house.

These poor young women have been supported and clothed, with the exception of six, whose friends have paid a small sum towards their support. The young women are employed in washing and needlework.

The Sisters have an establishment at 17 Princes-street, Spitalfields; an infant school for boys and girls under seven years of age; a girls' school; a work-room for young women; and an evening school for adults. They receive religious instruction, and are taught reading, writing, arithmetic, and singing. There is also a Sunday-school for children and adults, who are taught the same as in the evening school.

There is also a Lending Library of pious and instructive books, suitable for the young girls who attend the schools; and books are distributed every Sunday after school. It must be observed, that the greater number of children are so extremely poor as to require food and clothing, which the Sisters provide as far as their means will permit. They also devote a portion of every Saturday and Sunday to the visiting and instruction of the poor in their own houses.

Under the patronage of Our Lady of Mercy.

THE MEDICAL BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION,

For supplying Medical Advice, Medicines, Visitation, and Sanitary Care to the Sick Poor of the Warwick-street, Soho, and Spanish-place districts.

Founded in 1843 by W. Brett, Esq., M.R.C.S., 18A Maddox-street, Hanover-square.

"Salus infirmorum, Ora pro nobis."

Compassion for a suffering fellow-creature, and promptitude in rescuing him from present danger and impending death, are gems of the Divine Essence, and virtues of the Divine nature, which God has planted in the minds of all men, and yet more abundantly stored in the hearts of men of good-will. These are the talents of which the strictest account must be rendered. Have you saved life by doing mercy, or killed a man by extinguishing charity and ignoring humanity in his regard? Sickness don't wait! life or death is the issue! The case is urgent. The duty is positive. The Creator, who commanded Israel to leave to the poor and the strangers ears of the corn-fields, and grapes of the vineyard not a few, has given to you abundantly, and left to all men and to all times a perfect example of true compassion, in saving the life of the wounded stranger. Your suppliant now is no stranger. Your Christian brother is in pain and in danger; and he crieth to thee! Have you had compassion on him? Have you saved him? If not, think well on it. You build up indeed the earthly, the temporal building, and all its appurtenances, high and towering to the angry heavens! Do you even prop up the sickly souls, and the famishing bodies of the poor? "He that hath the substance of this world, and shall see his brother in need, and shall shut up his bowels from him, how doth the charity of God abide in him?" (1 St. John iii. 17.) Compassion, therefore, that spirit of heaven, and prompt relief, its approved fruit, were of strict obligation under Moses and the prophets; but how much more stringent is the obligation become since the kingdom and compact of love were promulgated? "This is my commandment, that you love one another, as I have loved you." (St. John xv. 12.) I pray you, therefore, pass not by unheeded, unpitied, and unrelieved, your poor sick and dying brethren, as the Priest, the Levite, and the Lawyer passed by, and left to perish the wounded stranger. Do rescue some of the many wounded, afflicted ones of the household of faith, who contribute to your riches, and who minister to your comforts and pleasures in many ways. The world is the rich man's friend; but the poor man has no friends. His streams are no more; no lands smile, no rivers flow for him. Look around you, and your awakened charity will heal the wounds, the sorrows, and trials of the sick. Behold! the rich become richer, and the poor become poorer day by day. Hence it is, that we have the cities of joy and the cities of sorrow; and so it is that Christianity bleeds at both ends. If this were the place for historical parallels, we could exhibit the pride of prosperity, the ruin of the people; ay, more, and the fall of the mighty. We could show in the mirror of Divine Truth the heavens themselves made as iron, and the earth as brass, to the richly-endowed and loved ones, because they had neglected the poor man, and sold him for a pair of shoes. The poor have many claims, and their advocates are the priests of God. They work very hard; they enrich contractors; but the children of toil are poor indeed. Their labours are many, their wages small, their food scanty, and their illnesses make the angels weep. Alas, alas! thus it is that two or three generations of the sick-poor ascend on high to give in their testimony, before Dives is summoned to his account in the land of spirits. To set before my eyes the body of this sin, and the immensity of this death, I was obliged to refer to a sermon preached in the year of Redemption One, more than 1500 years ago, by the brother of the Lord: "Go to now, ye rich men, weep and howl in your miseries, which shall come upon you." (St. James v. 1.) Read the subsequent verses down to the 7th verse inclusive. Come to the rescue, and join the goodly company of our charitable and illustrious Cardinal Archbishop, and the many noble persons who now support the Medical Benevolent Institution, and who have sustained it for many years.

The Clergy.—A subscription of One Guinea per annum provides medical care for four sick-poor.

The Nobility and Gentry.—An annual subscription of One Guinea provides annual medical care for three persons.

N.B. Donations of larger amount will be applied to meet urgent cases, and to extend the charity.

THE SUBSCRIBERS TO THE "CATHOLIC DIRECTORY," AND OTHERS CONCERNED.

It may be necessary to repeat here the announcement made some time ago through the newspaper press, viz. that in order that the character of the Catholic Directory might be equal to its professions, as an authorised Catholic publication, their Lordships the Catholic Bishops of England had, at their last annual meeting, resolved to appoint two priests to examine the whole Directory, and determine what should be introduced and what omitted; and that such priests had accordingly been appointed.

As the Directory of last year was made the object of animadversion and attack by some anonymous writers on different and opposing grounds, the editor became desirous of some arrangement being made under which, without attempting the impossibility of satisfying every body, every just ground of complaint, if any, might be removed. With this object he stated his views in a letter inserted in the Weekly Register. The editor, therefore, received with pleasure the resolution adopted by our Venerable Hierarchy; and he cannot doubt that it will be equally so received by the Catholics of England.

The result of the revision of this year's Catholic Directory is now laid before the public. The chief change consists in the absence of certain lists, which the reverend gentlemen considered it expedient to discontinue. The editor would be sorry if, by the publication of these lists, any individual, and particularly any convert, has been put to any inconvenience or trouble. A convert himself, for nearly half a century it has been his good fortune to witness for many years the gradual, and, latterly, the rapid extension of the Catholic faith in these islands,—an extension resembling more the progress of Christianity in the Apostolic age, and the conversion of England under St. Augustine, its protector, than any similar movement in the history of the Church. It was, therefore, extremely gratifying to him to record the names of so many illustrious confessors who, regardless of worldly considerations, came to worship before the altars which, in evil and troublous days, their fathers deserted. But he cheerfully submits to the determination before expressed, which he considers wise and expedient.

Octave of the Immaculate Conception, 1856.

EXPLANATORY PREFACE.

THE Ecclesiastical Year commences with the first Sunday of Advent, and closes with the last Sunday after Pentecost.

The words Double, Semidouble, and Simple, occurring in the Directory, show the different degrees of solemnity with which the Offices of the Church are performed.

The word Double, subjoined to a Festival, denotes that the Office of that Festival is more solemn than that of a Semidouble or Simple.

The order of the Festivals is as follows: Double of the first class; double of the second class; double major; double; semidouble; and simple.

A Festival is called double when an entire Anthem in the Church Office is recited or sung before and after each Psalm, semidouble when only a word or two of the Anthem are sung before the Psalm, and the entire Anthem after it, as is the case on Sundays. A simple has only three lessons at Matins. A feria is any day of the week for which no Saint's Office is appointed.

The principal Solemnities throughout the year are denominated doubles of the first class. The Festivals instituted by the Church, in memory of the Incarnation, Birth, Resurrection, and Ascension of our Lord, and of the Descent of the Holy Ghost upon the Apostles, recal to our remembrance all that a good and merciful God has done for our salvation: and as the recollection of these Mysteries contributes powerfully to inflame the devotion of the Faithful, it is proper that these should be celebrated with more solemnity than other Festivals.

Among the Saints, there are some whose Festivals are celebrated more solemnly than those of others. Such are the Feasts instituted in honour of the Blessed Virgin Mary, Mother of our Redeemer; of the Holy Apostles, who preached the Gospel and planted the Church; and of some other eminent Saints.

Some of these greater Solemnities have an Octave; which including the day of the Feast, is a succession of eight days, on which the Office and Mass of the Feast are said: but in some cases, when another Festival occurs within the Octave, the Office and Mass of that Festival are said instead of those of the Octave.

Directions for using the Roman Missal or Mass-Book.

The Prayers and portions of the Holy Scripture, of which the Mass is composed, are in part unalterably the same, and partly different every day. Those that are fixed and invariable, are contained in what is called the Ordinary of the Mass, to be found at the beginning of the Missal. The parts that are changeable or proper,—viz. the Introits, Collects, Epistles, Graduals, and Tracts, Gospels, Offertories, Secrets, Communions, and Postcommunions,—form the subsequent contents of the book. As the Prefaces are not so frequently subject to change, they follow each other in regular succession in the Ordinary of the Mass.

In order, therefore, to find out the proper Mass of the day, look for that day in the Calendar at the beginning of the book; opposite to which may be seen a reference to the page wherein it is contained. If a Double should fall on a Sunday, then the Mass of the Double is said instead of that of the Sunday, unless it be a Sunday of the first class, viz. the first Sunday of Advent or Lent, Passion, Palm, Easter, Pentecost, and Trinity Sundays, which are never superseded. The Sundays of the second class, which cannot be superseded except by doubles of the first class, are the 2d, 3d, and 4th, of Advent, Septuagesima, Sexagesima, and Quinquagesima; as also the 2d, 3d, and 4th of Lent. It must, however, be remarked, that the Gospels for Sundays, thus superseded by Doubles, are never omitted, but are recited at the end of Mass, instead of St. John's Gospel; and also, that a commemoration of the Sunday, by its proper Collect, Secret, and Postcommunion, is always made immediately after the Collect, &c. of the Festival.

But as it sometimes happens that a Double is transferred to some future vacant day, on account of the Octave of some Festival of higher rank intervening, then the difficulty of finding out the day on which such transferred Festival is celebrated, as well as all other difficulties regarding the service, may be easily removed by consulting the DIRECTORY, published annually, as a Guide to the Morning as well as to the Evening Service of the Church.

Directions for using the Vesper-Book, or Book of Evening Service.

It appears necessary to explain the order, as well as the manner, in which that part of the public Liturgy of the Catholic Church called Vespers is recited or sung.

Our Father and Hail Mary being said in silence, the Priest, making the sign of the Cross, intones aloud the Versicle, Deus in adjutorium meum intende; to which the Choir add the Responsory, Domine ad juvandum me festina, with the Gloria Patri; and when five Psalms, with as many anthems, have been sung, the Priest sings the little Chapter.

Then are sung the Hymn, with its Versicle and Responsory, and the Magnificat, with its Anthem, followed by such Prayers and Commemorations as are suitable to the day; which, if it be neither a Double nor within the Octave of a Festival, are the common Commemorations or Suffrages, and are to be found after the Vespers for Sundays.

Every Double has first and second Vespers: the first are said on the Eve of the Festival, and the second on the Festival itself. Hence it often happens that the Vespers are not of the Sunday, but of some Double that falls on the ensuing day.

To find out the particular Vespers for every Sunday and Holiday throughout the Year, consult the Directory at the day of the month on which such Sunday or Festival falls.

1. That the faithful confess their sins, with sincere repentance, to a priest approved by the Bishop. 2. That they worthily receive the Holy Communion. 3. That they visit some Chapel or Oratory, where Mass is celebrated, and pray to God for the peace of His Church. 4. That they be in readiness of mind to assist the poor with alms in proportion to their abilities, or to frequent catechism and sermons as often as they can do so without great inconvenience; or to afford their assistance to the sick, or to such as are near their end, out of the motive of Christian charity.

Note.—It is not required, for gaining these four Indulgences granted by Pope Benedict XIV., that these works of mercy, corporal or spiritual, or the assisting at catechism or sermons, be done on the same day with the communion; but only that persons be then in a disposition or readiness of mind to do these things, or some of them at least, when they may have an opportunity.

The Conditions of V. are,

1. That the faithful confess their sins, with sincere repentance, to a priest approved by the Bishop. 2. That they worthily receive the Holy Communion. 3. That for some space of time, they pray to God, with a sincere heart, for the conversion of Infidels and Heretics, and for the free propagation of the holy faith.

N.B. It may be necessary to observe, that in dating letters by Saints' days, care should be taken not to date by the day to which the office of any Saint or other Feast may happen to be transferred. In commercial or business of any kind purely secular, it would be better to avoid this mode of dating letters, as troublesome questions might arise in the Law Courts in proving such dates.

SECULAR CLERGY COMMON FUND.

The attention of the Catholic public is earnestly solicited to the above fund. This institution is the principal support of the aged and infirm Clergy of the dioceses of Westminster and Southwark. Though founded above 150 years since, it is painful to relate that our limited means are not adequate to meet the numerous pressing wants of our poor clerical invalids. We confidently hope that there are many pious souls, blessed by a benevolent Providence with ample means, who will not allow the Lord's anointed ministers to pine away in penury and privation, after they have devoted the active energies of their lives, with edifying zeal and exemplary fervour, to the poor members of the flock of Christ. There are four Masses celebrated annually by every member of this Institution for the benefit of living and deceased benefactors.

Further particulars may be obtained of the Very Rev. Jas. Canon O'Neal, Administrator, Grove-road, St. John's-wood.

Form of Bequest to this Charity.

I, A. B., do bequeath to the Very Rev. James O'Neal, of Grove-road, St. John's-wood, London, or to the Administrator for the time being of the Institution called "The Secular Clergy Common Fund," the sum of , for the benefit of that Institution.

THE CATHOLIC CEMETERY, Cadogan Terrace, Chelsea.

This Cemetery, solemnly consecrated according to the Rites of our Holy Church, is the principal source of revenue for the support of aged and infirm clergymen of the dioceses of Westminster and Southwark.

Particulars may be obtained of the Very Rev. James O'Neal, V.G., Administrator, 13 Grove-road, St. John's-wood, The Cemetery contains spacious vaults and catacombs for families, and also family and common graves. There is also on the ground a neat mortuary chapel, and a resident Priest for the regular performance of the burial-service according to the solemn rites of the Catholic Church. As the Cemetery at Chelsea is under notice from the Government to be closed two years hence, the clergy of both dioceses have purchased two plots of ground, one in the east and another in the west end of London, which will be consecrated and opened as cemeteries in the course of the current year.

The large Schools of this poor mission depend entirely upon charitable contributions for support.

This is the poorest and most needy mission in the diocese. Ground (freehold) has been purchased for a Church and Schools at an expense of 530*l.*, and 100*l.* besides has been expended to enclose it. The Pastor earnestly solicits alms both for the support of the mission and schools in their present state, and for the commencement of the new buildings. He will be happy to forward any particulars respecting the prospects, as well as the necessities of the mission, on application. Donations can be paid to the account of Rev. John Bonus, at the London Joint-Stock Bank, 69 Pall Mall.

Attached to this small Chapel is an eligible piece of ground for a New Church and Schools, which the donor is most anxious to see erected. But having exhausted her own slender means in enfranchising it and enclosing it, she can now do little more than pray to see her work completed. She trusts Almighty God will inspire some one richer in this world's goods to come forward and assist her to carry out her plans for God's glory and the salvation of souls.

It may be added, that this is quite distinct from Rev. John Bonus' proposed Church at Acton. There is a distance of nearly four miles between the sites of the two future Churches.

Donations towards the erection of St. Augustine's may be sent to Miss Rabnett, Clifden Lodge, Hanwell; or to the Rev. John Bonus, Ivy House, Turnham-green; or to the Very Reverend James Canon O'Neal, V.G., Our Lady's Church, St. John's-wood.

On Thurs mornge at 8 Mass is offered for the Confrat of the B Sacrament; on Frid for that of the Sacred Heart of Jesus; and on Sat for that of the H and Immac Heart of the B V M. The members of each Confrater assist, and there is a short Discourse.

The Church is open all day for the faithful, from 6 in the morning (7 in winter) till the end of the evening services, except on Tues evenings, when it is closed at 6.

Mass is offered every day in the Petre Chantry for the repose of the soul of the late Hon. Edward Petre. This is the first foundation for the support of St. George's Church.

Bequests to St. George's Church must be left to the "Trustees of St. George's Roman Catholic Church, St. George's-road, St. George's-fields, Southwark, in the county of Surrey." The debt upon the Church still presses heavily.

To this Church are attached four Confraternities, viz. of the M.H. Sacrament, of the Rosary, of Christian Doctrine, and of the Way of the Cross. The Catholic population attached to this Church is beyond 9,000. It consists entirely of labouring people, whose poverty renders them incapable of defraying the necessary expenses of the Church. In this poor congregation the Chaplains are charged with the duty of attending four extensive workhouses; the distressed objects of which look up to them not only for spiritual assistance, but also for pecuniary aid. In addition to a large School, conducted by the Religious of our Lady of Mercy, there are four other numerously-attended Schools, all of which entirely depend for support on the Pastors, who take this opportunity of earnestly appealing to a generous public to assist them with the means of keeping open these Schools, and thus baffling the malignant designs of the adversaries of truth, and rescuing the souls of these poor children from the danger of perversion, to which, alas! they are so fearfully exposed. (See the public journals.) Any assistance for the Poor or the Schools will be most gratefully received by the Right Reverend Bishop Grant and by the reverend Chaplains, 1 Parker's-row, Bermondsey.

ROTHERHITHE, Stroud Cottage, Trinity-road. Served from Bermondsey. Mass on Sund at 10½. Aftern Serv at 3.

A new and very destitute mission well deserving of support.

SOUTHWARK, Webb-street. St. Mary's. Rev. F. Lawrence, O.C., and Rev. P. Fannery. On Sund Mass at 8, 9, 10, and 11. Catech at 3. Evng Serv at 7, with Ros, Serm and Benedic. Thurs Evngs at 8, Devs of the Confrat of the Precious Blood, with Serm and Benedic. Ros every evng at 8. Confessions heard in English and German on Frid and Sat Evngs from 6 to 10.

St. Thomas's and Guy's Hospitals attended.

This is one of the poorest and most destitute Missions in London, being exclusively composed of the labouring class. The present temporary Chapel is not near large enough, and must, besides, in a short time be given up, and therefore a new Church is very much wanted. A Boys' and a Girls' School is established; but both mainly depend on the scanty collections of the Mission. Any charitable donations for the poor, the Chapel, or the School, most thankfully received by the Right Rev. Dr. Grant, St. George's, St. George's-fields, or the local Clergy, 8 Guy-terrace, Nelson-street, Borough.

There is felt in this mission very great need of a larger church. The present is totally inadequate to the needs even of the military portion of the congregation. The building is of wood, extremely wretched, and does not accommodate more than 350. The average number of Catholic soldiers in this garrison is alone over 1000; and to this we have to add a civilian congregation of more than 3000, mostly of the poorest class. Moreover, we attend four military hospitals, a military prison, a workhouse, and a convict prison for more than 1500 inmates. The following, from the Bishop's late Pastoral Letter, will serve to explain our necessities:

"When we look to the multitude of soldiers who cannot even enter the chapel at Chatham, and whom the utmost activity of the clergy cannot prepare for the Sacraments before they sail for the treacherous climate of India, we are filled with dismay."

Contributions thankfully received by the Bishop of Southwark, and by the local clergy.

——— St. Vincent of Paul. Revv. Michael Burke, C.M. (Superior), Thomas Plunkett, C.M., Peter Duff, C.M., and John Meyers, C.M. The hours of Divine Service the same as at St. Marie's. This Mission was opened on the first Sunday of Advent 1853, and placed under the care of "The Priests of the Congregation of the Mission," or, as they are generally called, "The Missionaries of St. Vincent of Paul." The extensive female Schools of this Mission are conducted by the Sisters of Notre Dame. A new Mission has been opened at Reville Grange, Stanington, attended by one of the Priests of the Mission. A Day, Night, and Sunday School has been established there.

On the Feast of the Annunciation 1856 the first stone of the new Church of St. Vincent of Paul was laid in the centre of this populous but poor Mission; before Christmas the building was sufficiently advanced to admit the people to attend Mass within its walls. When benched it will accommodate a thousand persons.

It is hoped to erect a school-chapel in the village of Stannington without delay. At present Mass is celebrated in the little chapel of Reville Grange at 10½ on every Sunday and Holiday; afternoon Devotion and Instruction at 2.

YORKSHIRE BRETHREN'S FUND.

This fund was established by the secular clergy of Yorkshire, in the year 1660.

Its objects are: 1. To constitute a perpetual retribution fund, by means of which the benefactors may secure for themselves or for their friends, for the living or for the dead, the benefits of the Holy Sacrifice; 2. To furnish aid and support to the secular clergy of Yorkshire during temporary sickness, and to provide a maintenance in old age for those who are no longer equal to the duties of the mission.

Its register is a memorial of Catholic piety. It bears evidence how anxious the Catholics of this country have uniformly been to make some provision for those "who have borne the burden of the day and the heats" in their service; and, at the same time, to avail themselves of the prayers of the Church and the sacrifice of the altar.

Any person wishing to become a benefactor to the Brethren's Fund, may be informed of the advantages derivable from this institution, and of the condition required for participating in them, by making application to any of the Yorkshire secular clergy, or to the undermentioned officers.

Treasurer, Rev. John Glover, Houghton Hall, Brough, Yorkshire; Secretary, Rev. William Fisher, St. Marie's Presbytery, Sheffield.

For the last fifteen years, this poor congregation has met for prayer —first, in a miserable garret over a rag-store; later, in an almost open shed, previously used as a hut for the storing of timber. During this length of time, week after week have they contributed their pence—many a time in so doing stinting themselves in their scanty meals—to raise in time an edifice worthy of their holy religion. The fruit of these years of labour and sacrifice has been expended on the purchase of a site for a church, to be dedicated to the service of God in the name of the "Father of the Poor," St. Vincent of Paul, the foundations of which were solemnly blessed by the Bishop in April last. They are therefore left without a shilling to pay for the building now fast in progress, with a debt even now pressing hard upon them, and a heavier debt still in prospect, unless the charitably disposed lend them a helping hand. For the love of Jesus and His Immaculate Mother, of Holy Joseph and Blessed Vincent, give something, even a trifle, to help this poor mission, of which the late Venerable Bishop of Liverpool wrote, that to his knowledge in his diocese, and to his belief in all England, there was not a more urgent call of charity, or one that had more pressing claims upon the benevolence of Catholics. Give, then, a trifle to this poor mission, destitute alike of church and schools, and the blessing of God, which the prayers of eight thousand poor Catholics will merit for you, be your reward. It is hoped that the building may be completed and opened for public service in May or June. A table may supply the place of the altar, and the cast-off vestments of other churches may serve for the priests, unless the charity of Catholics provides better for the Divine worship. The smallest donation will be thankfully received by the Bishop, the Right Rev. Dr. Goss, St. Edward's College, the Rev. B. O'Reilly, or the other Pastors, 34 Great George-street, Liverpool.

We bear testimony to the correctness of these statements, and recommend to the charity of the Faithful this earnest appeal on behalf of a church as dear to us as it was to our venerated predecessor, because it is for God's poor, who have little to offer but their prayers towards the completion of this church.

This mission, commonly called "Black Stock-street Mission," almost exclusively composed of the labouring Irish, was founded by the late Right Rev. Dr. Brown, in 1853, and has been placed under the patronage of Our Lady of Reconciliation of La Salette. The district consists of a large number of the populous streets, situated between Vauxhall-road and Scotland-road. Its Catholic population is beyond 12,000. The priest of this very poor mission appeals with confidence to the sympathy of the Catholic public, to assist him in providing church-space for the very numerous congregation who reside in this district, for whom the accommodation is altogether too small. Donations will be thankfully received, and gratefully acknowledged, by the Right Rev. Dr. Goss, Bishop of the Diocese, St. Edward's College, Everton; the Very Rev. Provost Cookson, V.G., St. Nicholas', Copperas Hill; and by the Rev. Richard Vandepitte, 6 Juvenal-street, Liverpool.

The principal vocation of the Fathers is to give Retreats in public and in their own Convent.

CATHOLIC BLIND ASYLUM,

20 St. Anne-street, Liverpool.

This Institution was established in 1841, by the exertions of a few zealous Catholics, under the patronage of the Right Rev. Dr. Brown, the late Bishop of Liverpool, and was presided over by the late lamented Dr. Youens, up to the time of his death. It has since received the cordial approval of his Holiness the Pope, who, to mark his earnest desire for its success, has bestowed upon it his Pontifical benediction.

Under such distinguished auspices, as might be anticipated, it has continued to realise the purposes for which it was founded. Demands for admission have been so great, that the Committee, a few years ago, were compelled to engage a larger house, with more ample accommodation.

Its Objects.

The promoters have in view to protect the poor blind from danger both as to body and soul; to train them up religiously; and to teach them some trade adapted to their capacity; whereby they can hereafter, if they so wish it, wholly or partially provide for their own subsistence.

Its Resources of Maintenance.

It has no other available means of support than:

1. The scanty and inadequate pensions of the pupils. 2. The sale of work executed in the school, which does little more than meet the cost of the raw material. 3. Occasional musical entertainments given by them to the public. 4. A list of subscriptions and donations, principally confined to the Catholics of Liverpool.

Its Claims upon the Public.

Assuredly a School and an Asylum for the Blind have the highest claims upon Catholic charity, independently of the peculiarly distressing privation to which the inscrutable dispensations of a merciful Providence have subjected them, in the fact that it is the only establishment of the sort belonging to Catholics in the United Kingdom. The inmates at the present time, male and female, number about thirty; collected together from the remotest localities in England and Ireland.

The following particulars may be useful and interesting to the public:

RULES and REGULATIONS for the government of the CATHOLIC BLIND ASYLUM, established in Liverpool, A.D. 1841.

I. This Institution is under the patronage of the Blessed Virgin Mary and St. Joseph, and is called the "CATHOLIC BLIND ASYLUM," its objects being to afford to the Catholic Blind an elementary education, and instruction in those branches of industry which shall be found suitable to each pupil's capacity; and to bring them up in the principles of their religion.

II. The property of the Institution shall be invested in five Trustees, namely, three Clergymen and two Lay Gentlemen of the Town; and the formation of rules and the government of the Institution shall be confided to a Committee, consisting of the Catholic Clergy of Liverpool, of all Governors for Life, and of a President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary, two Auditors, and six Gentlemen, to be elected at the Annual Meeting of the Subscribers.

III. The Committee shall hold Monthly Meetings to transact the ordinary business of the Institution, and the President shall be empowered to call Special Meetings as often as he shall deem it necessary.

IV. A donation of Ten Guineas shall constitute a Governor for Life, and any Clergyman who shall make a Collection for the Institution of Ten Guineas or more shall be a Governor for Life.

V. A Subscription of a Sovereign or more, per year, shall entitle the Subscriber to a vote at the Annual Meeting.

VI. All applications for admission shall be laid before the Committee, at their first meeting after the applicants' names have been written in the Minute-book of the Secretary. The Committee shall admit or reject such applicants at their discretion.

VII. The Committee shall have the appointment of all the Officers and Servants of the Asylum.

VIII. The inmates will be required, under penalty of dismissal by the Committee, to obey the Rules and Regulations of the Institution.

IX. Applicants must be ten years of age; they must produce a testimonial of good moral character, as also a certificate of health signed by a medical gentleman, and a register of baptism.

N.B. Applicants subject to fits are inadmissible.

X. Every applicant must be recommended by a Subscriber, and have a sufficient guarantee for the payment of the pension required, and must be provided with the following articles of clothing:

MALES.

4 Shirts,	4 pair Stockings,	2 Waistcoats,
4 Neckerchiefs,	2 Bodycoats,	2 pair Shoes,
3 Handkerchiefs,	1 Greatcoat,	2 Hats or Caps.
2 Night Caps,	2 pair Trowsers,

FEMALES.

4 Shifts,	1 Shawl,	2 pair Shoes,
2 Undercoats,	4 Handkerchiefs,	2 Bonnets,
2 Uppercoats,	4 Night Caps,	1 Cloak,
3 Dresses,	4 pair Stockings,	1 pair Stays.
2 Aprons,

XI. When a pupil is about to leave the Asylum, the said pupil shall be removed by his or her friends, at their expense, on receiving one fortnight's notice from the Secretary.

Persons desirous of leaving a Legacy to this Asylum are requested to do so in the following manner:

"I bequeath to the Treasurer for the time being of the CATHOLIC BLIND ASYLUM in Liverpool, the sum of £ , to be applied towards the purposes of that Institution; and I direct that the receipt of the person who shall be Treasurer of the same institution at the time when the above Legacy in favour thereof is paid shall be a sufficient discharge to my Executors."

N.B. The Legacy must not be out of, or charged upon, any Freehold, Leasehold, or Copyhold Estate.

ARTICLES of WORK made by the PUPILS of the CATHOLIC BLIND ASYLUM, No. 20 ST. ANNE-STREET, and sold there for the Benefit of the Institution. The Goods are manufactured under the superintendence of competent teachers, and are of the best material:

Hearth rugs; fancy door mats of approved patterns; cocoa chain mats of all sizes, and made to order; cocoa and Manilla foot-bears; fibre-loom matting, adapted for office or house floors; market, reticule, clothes, and plate baskets; black and coloured gipsy and melon baskets; fire-screens; cribs and cradles; nursery-chairs; children's carriages; bottle-baskets and hampers; patent sash cord; thread girdles; fancy knitting in great variety, and stockings; church and hall mats of all sizes.

The Pupils form a Singing Class each Wednesday at Two o'Clock, when any friends visiting the Asylum may have an opportunity of hearing them.

Contributions will be thankfully received by the Very Rev. Canon WALMSLEY, President, 53 Ashton-street; Mr. EDWARD DUNN, Treasurer; Mr. JOHN LYNCH, Secretary, 14 James-street; by the CATHOLIC CLERGY of the town; and by the Matron, Mrs. MACNAB, at the Asylum, 20 St. Anne-street, Liverpool.

THE HOUSE OF MERCY,

MOUNT VERNON-STREET, LIVERPOOL.

This Institution is designed for the protection of young women of good character, who may be out of situation from causes over which they have no control. During their residence in the house, which is under the care and superintendence of the Sisters of Mercy, they are trained in the various duties of household service, and when considered sufficiently competent they are recommended to family situations. The establishment, capable of accommodating from 60 to 70 persons, is at all times quite full. The Sisters have often cause to regret that they have not room to enable them to afford protection to many more really deserving objects. Should the public feel desirous of extending this most useful charity, they have the opportunity of doing so by becoming subscribers, or in any other way becoming contributors to the funds of the Institution. In case the Sisters receive any considerable encouragement in the way mentioned, they propose to enlarge their present buildings, or founding another house in connection with it; and thus extending the benefits of this benevolent work to a wretchedly persecuted but deserving class of the Catholic community.

Subscriptions and donations will be received by the SISTERS, Mount Vernon-street, or by the Rev. Canon WALMSLEY, 53 Ashton-street, Liverpool.

The assistance of the charitable is earnestly solicited in support of this Mission.

MERIONETHSHIRE—MONTGOMERYSHIRE.

No Chapel. No Mission-house. No School-house. No Mission-fund. No Missioner.

From the above note, it will appear how desolate is still a large part of the Diocese of Shrewsbury. The Bishop most earnestly recommends this portion of his charge to the charity of the Faithful. Were there means to establish Missions in Wales, he has no doubt that soon a vast number of souls would be brought by instruction and example to the blessings of the true faith. There are yet remaining amongst the Welsh many Catholic traditions and practices, and they would soon recognise the reality of that of which they still admire even the shadow. Whatever means may be placed at his disposal, either for the establishment of Missions or for the education of Clergy, shall be most carefully and faithfully administered; and the benefactors of the Diocese shall have a constant remembrance in the Holy Sacrifice,—the only return, and the best, he has to offer.

This interesting Mission consists almost entirely of Welsh Catholics (the only one of the kind now existing), there having been, it appears, a Missioner always here till the death of the Rev. William Lloyd, in prison under sentence of death for his faith, in 1679. From that period there was no resident Priest, for a considerable time, at Brecon, till 1788, since which time it has been seldom vacant.

Two new and very capacious Schools have been erected last year, and were opened on the 1st September, together with an Infant-school, which at present is held in the old schoolrooms, though unfortunately much too small for the wants of the place. 500 poor children receive education daily, besides many more who can only attend the Sunday-schools. SOCIETY FOR THE RELIEF OF INFIRM PRIESTS IN THE CLIFTON DIOCESE.

There formerly existed in the Western District a fund for the relief of such poor Priests as, from old age or other infirmity, were no longer able to live by the altar they had served. The want of such a fund has been deeply felt, and it is our object to revive it; in fact, a sum of money has been already bequeathed for the purpose.

We can scarcely conceive a work more truly useful and charitable than this; for Priests ought surely to have some provision against old age and infirmity; and it could not be expected or wished that they should either be always, even to the very last moment of their lives, battling with extreme want, or should contrive to wring enough out of the meagre resources of their ministry to supply not only food and raiment for the present, but also this necessary provision for the future. All who are acquainted with the pecuniary condition of our Missions will know that we are not exaggerating their poverty; and we have, consequently, some claim on the laity for assistance towards this fund.

All Priests of the Diocese are alike invited to become members of our Society, though the Secular Clergy are more especially considered, because, as a matter of course, they can have no share in the provision so properly made by the religious bodies for their own members. In fact, it would be well to correct, in some degree, this apparent anomaly: that the Secular Clergy should, in temporals, be so much worse provided for in their old age than their religious brethren.

Earnestly, then, and lovingly, we commend this charity to all friends of the Clergy—to all, indeed, who esteem "the labourer worthy of his hire," even though his life be prolonged beyond his power to labour; and we have only to add, that, in grateful return for all charity, the Holy Sacrifice will be offered up every year by each of the rev. members for all benefactors, living and dead; and every donor to the amount of 10*l.* and upwards shall have, besides, one Mass offered up on his behalf by every one of the members.

HIS EMINENCE CARDINAL JAMES PHILIP FRANSONI.

No one, for many years past, can have visited Rome, and attended its religious functions, without bringing home a deeply-impressed and pleasing recollection of the late Cardinal James Philip Fransoni. His venerable appearance, the mild and amiable expression of his countenance, and the devout gracefulness of his mien and actions, have led many a stranger to inquire his name; while few English Catholics have neglected to court a closer acquaintance with him as the Prefect of the Sacred Congregation of Propaganda. This office gave him a certain claim to their respectful attention; but his personal virtues, and the charm of his manner and conversation, soon raised this into veneration, and even affection.

It is not, therefore, only his position in that high office, but also his personal character, that entitles him to the place which we regret to see him occupy in this year's Directory.

This holy prince of the Church was born of a noble Genoese family on the 10th of December 1775. His father was the Marquis Domenico Fransoni; his mother was Donna Bettina Carrega. He was older, by many years, than his brother, the exiled Archbishop of Turin. After having received his earlier education in his own country, he proceeded to Rome, where he was ordained priest in 1806; and soon after was named a Prelate. During the calamitous period which followed, he of course had no active employment; but in 1822 Pope Pius VII. named him one of the prelates composing the body known by the name of Abbreviatori del Parco maggiore, and Secretary of the Commission for the Care and Improvement of the Roads and Aqueducts.

These were secular occupations; but on the 24th of March of the same year he was appointed Nuncio to Lisbon, the first after the invasion of Portugal by France. On the 28th of September he was consecrated Archbishop of Nazianzum by Cardinal Geleffi, and proceeded to his Nunciature. He discharged the duties of his office so as to win the regard and affection of all who knew him, during the short interval between his appointment to it and his elevation to a higher dignity. For on the 2d of October 1826 he was named Cardinal by Pope Leo XII., though he continued to reside at Lisbon as Pro-Nuncio till September 29, 1827.

On his return to Rome he was named Prefect of the Congregation of Ecclesiastical Immunities (of which St. Thomas of Canterbury is patron), and of the Financial Committee of Propaganda. But in 1835 he received the appointment of Prefect of Propaganda, one of the most important in the Church. This congregation has the direction, under the Sovereign Pontiff, of ecclesiastical affairs in all countries of which the government is not Catholic, in the same proportion and manner as other congregations in Rome have in respect to Catholic countries. Thus the appointment of bishops, cases of dispensation, and generally whatever affairs require application to the Holy See, or emanate from it, pass through this board or congregation, composed primarily of Cardinals, assisted by consultors, theologians, and an efficient staff of clerks. The immense correspondence involved in this department for the transaction of its ordinary business in every part of the world—from America to Australia, from Lapland to the Cape of Good Hope; the superintendence of the great Urban College at Rome, in which are educated students from every climate and of every language, and of those for Chinese at Naples, and for other nations in Eastern and Western Asia; the arrangement for decision of graver questions that may arise,—in fine, the entire administration of this high and extensive subdivision of the Church's universal jurisdiction centres in the Prefect of the Sacred Congregation "de Propaganda Fide."

Every week a meeting is held in his presence of the principal officers of what may be called its executive; when matters of minor importance, or of current business, are discussed and prepared for submission, if they require it, to the Holy Father, on the Sunday evening, by the secretary, a prelate always of high class; after which answers are expedited to every part of the world. Once a month the Cardinals of the Congregation meet for the discussion of more difficult or important cases, three generally each time, the whole details of which, with all the documentary evidence, privately printed, have been placed in their hands some day previously. All nominations, for example, to bishoprics are made only at these more formal and solemn meetings, to which each Cardinal thus comes, after having duly studied, and, if he thinks proper, taken advice upon each matter to be decided. At every such meeting, as well as at the preliminary and more private ones, the Cardinal Prefect, unless prevented by illness, officially presides; and his duty it is to select the cases to be treated of, see them prepared, and furnish, viva voce, such additional information on them, or such explanations, as his more intimate acquaintance with them enables him to produce.

In the discharge of all these duties no one could be more assiduous, more painstaking, or more accurate than the late Cardinal Prefect during the twenty years that he occupied his post. Until his last illness, of which the symptoms appeared about two years before his death, his whole attention was devoted to the duties of his office. And in addition to what we have enumerated, there was one portion of his duty for which he was remarkably adapted, and which he most happily discharged. This was, to receive personally, and confer with, the bishops and clergy of every country connected with Propaganda whom business or devotion brought to Rome. Scarcely a day would pass in which he had not to give audience to one or more such visitors; and we are sure none ever left him without sentiments of respect, and even deeper feelings. His mild and gentle courtesy, his sweet temper, and the religious tone of his conversation, harmonising as they did with his noble and saintly appearance, obtained for him universal esteem. But beyond this, every new comer was astonished at the full acquaintance which he possessed with his country, diocese, and personal history; with the names of many of his clergy, and their characters. No matter from which hemisphere he came, or to what strange idiom these appellations were related, whether Anglo-Saxon, Dutch, Hindoo, Arabic, or Chinese, he remembered them, and pronounced them with an accuracy quite marvellous in an Italian mouth. Hence every bishop, from whatever quarter of the globe, found himself already known, and felt how no Catholic prelate is an alien at Rome, but how each one is cared for, and kept in mind there. Questions would be put to him about his neighbouring bishops, and individual priests, with a most perfect geographical accuracy that showed how the holy Prefect of Propaganda overlooked no part of the world confided to his superintending care. This power of individualising, which went to the extent of remembering the dates and details of appointments, translations, and particular actions, gave a charm to personal intercourse with him, and made every one feel as if a friendly rather than an official relation united him with the Sacred Congregation.

The period in which Cardinal Fransoni held his office is one that will ever be memorable for great events in the Church. During it, the number of sees in North America was immensely multiplied; hierarchies were established in Australia, British America, the West Indies, and Holland. And to him is greatly due the extension of a similar privilege to ourselves, accompanied as it was by the increase of the number of our bishops from eight to thirteen. In the progress of religion all over the world he ever took the liveliest interest; but nowhere more than in England. Nothing delighted him more than to hear of new conversions; and he followed the phases of the Oxford movement with accuracy and earnest sympathy. Some of our most illustrious converts, lay and clerical, can bear testimony to his affectionate reception of them; none better than the learned and pious founders of the Oratorian Congregation.

Among the many prerogatives conferred on him by his high office, there was perhaps none which he valued more, or more strictly claimed, than the consecration of bishops for sees connected with Propaganda. St. Damasus is said to have consecrated sixty-two bishops. When Cardinal Fransoni was attacked by the earlier symptoms of his last complaint,—abscesses on the instep,—he wanted one consecration to make up that number. But, though scarcely equal to the effort, he would not yield up his privilege of consecrating a new bishop for North America; and he was subsequently able to add several more consecrations, so as to reach the extraordinary, and perhaps unprecedented, number of seventy. Among these were the Cardinal Archbishop of Westminster, the Archbishop of Dublin, and the Bishop of Southwark.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF THE CARDINAL PRIESTS OF THE HOLY ROMAN CHURCH.

[The Titulus, or Title, to which a Cardinal Priest is named is a church, generally very ancient, of which he is appointed superior, with jurisdiction, right to a throne, and to pontificalia in it. The body of Cardinal Priests thus represents the clergy of Rome, and as such elects its Bishop. A Cardinal Priest therefore is said to be the titular, or priest, of the title of a given church in Rome, and he only obtains this nomination by personally visiting Rome.]

CONVENT IN THE ISLAND OF JERSEY.

ORDER OF THE RETREAT.

The Ladies of the Retreat beg particularly to recommend their establishment to the consideration of Catholics in England. They have taken upon themselves an extensive building, in hopes that the famed salubrity of the island and the gentleness of its climate would supply for delicate children a want difficult to be found either in England or France. In undertaking this establishment, they saw but little resources in the island itself; but great hopes were naturally held out to them, that with the daily extending reputation of the island for its health, its beauty, its cheapness of living, a field for great good would be opened for their exertions in the children of families whom economy or ill-health would bring to so favoured a spot.

The Ladies of the Retreat have a second design also in their undertaking, which is, to receive ladies who wish for any length of time to retire from the world to live in quasi religious life.

The terms, for children under fourteen years of age, are 20 guineas. Music and Drawing are extras.

For further particulars, apply to the Rev. J. M'Carthy, chaplain to Dr. Grant, Bishop of Southwark; or to the Very Rev. Dr. Whitty, 22 Finsbury-circus, Moorfields, London.

ST. LEONARD'S CATHOLIC FEMALE TRAINING-SCHOOL.

The St. Leonard's Catholic Training-School, beautifully and healthfully situated, overlooking the towns of Hastings and St. Leonard's, is conducted by the Sisters of the Holy Child Jesus, who are especially devoted to the work of education.

The advantages of pure air, sea-bathing, and extensive private grounds, together with the inviting character of the surrounding country, are peculiarly to be valued, as assisting physically the religious, moral, and intellectual training, which form the primary object of this Institute.

Pupil-teachers, who have completed their apprenticeship creditably, and can produce satisfactory testimonials, will be admitted to Examinations for Queen's Scholarships at the Training-School.

The expenses of education, lodging, board, washing, &c. of each Student will be sufficiently met by the Queen's Scholarship, together with the award made by the Privy Council for success (in any degree of merit) at the Examination held at the end of each year.

Students in Training, who are not in possession of a Scholarship, pay a pension of 26*l.* per annum.

Books proper for the course will be sold to the Students at reduced prices.

The proper time for training is two years; but those who wish to remain a third year will have every facility afforded to them.

A formal certificate of character, signed by the Principal of the Training-School, will be given to each approved Student at the completion of the two years' training, which will be independent of the certificate from the Privy Council.

The Examination for Scholarships is held at the Training-School in December each year.

TRAINING-SCHOOL OF THE SISTERS OF NOTRE DAME,

The Queen's Scholarship of each year, with the Exhibitions granted by the Privy Council, will be received in payment for the education, lodging, board, and washing of the Students.

Applications must be made in the month of October of each year: and although a preference will be given to Queen's Scholars, yet if vacancies remain after the annual examinations, other persons who are desirous of profiting by the course of studies, with a view to teaching in Poor-schools, may be admitted to the Training-School at any time in the year, upon payment of a moderate pension.

For terms and further particulars, apply to the Superior, as above.

ST. EDWARD'S CONVENT OF OUR LADY OF MERCY, POOR SCHOOLS, AND HOUSE OF MERCY,

Blandford-square, London.

The Ladies of this community have at present under their fostering care above 400 poor children of the congregations of St. John's-wood and Spanish-place receiving gratuitous education. The fruits of their charitable labours are becoming daily more clearly developed in the mental improvement of their little pupils, and more particularly in their external neat appearance and personal character. We regret to have to state, that their largest schoolroom is still employed as a temporary chapel. Thus the sphere of their usefulness is considerably abridged by the want of means to build their new chapel; whilst the outstanding debt of 2000*l.*, with the interest on the same, for the erection of the school and convent premises, is a source of serious embarrassment to the community.

THE HOUSE OF MERCY.

The object of this branch of the Institute of our Lady of Mercy is to protect and train well-conducted young females to habits of industry. The Nuns receive their little pupils into the elementary schools at the tender age of two years; and they devote themselves with untiring solicitude to impress upon their minds and hearts the conviction that the faithful discharge of their duties in this life is the best and safest passport to the happiness of the next. Oh, how charming it is to see those pious ladies moulding the wayward wills of their little pupils to the sweet influence of order and discipline, whilst they store their minds with the knowledge of their duties as subjects and Christians, and inflame their hearts with the love of God!

From the elementary schools they are raised in due time into the House of Mercy, where they are thoroughly instructed in laundry and needlework, and in all the duties of domestic service. Here they are boarded and lodged and preserved from all external contagion of vice until they are provided with suitable situations. The ladies also receive young women of good character into the Institution during the time they are out of situations, and improve them in the knowledge of domestic duties, until they provide proper situations for them. There is ample space for the accommodation of 60 young women in the House, but the heavy debt upon the building-account is a serious drawback upon the efficiency of the Charity. There are at present 60 young women in the establishment, many of whom have to repose on the floor of the dormitory for want of means to purchase bedsteads and proper furniture for them. The present high price of provisions greatly augments the embarrassments of the administration of this Charity.

The pious sex are specially invited to patronise this Charity by laundry and needlework, which is executed with the greatest care and skill, and which is an important source of maintenance for the objects of the charity. Subscriptions and donations will be thankfully received by his Eminence Cardinal Wiseman; by the Joint Stock Bank, Pall Mall; by the Very Rev. Provost Whitty; the Very Rev. William Canon Hunt; the Rev. Edward Hearn; the Very Rev. James Canon O'Neal; and by the Rev. Mother, at the Convent.

N.B. Cast-off clothing will be thankfully received by the Rev. Mother, to fit out the young women for their situations. The Convent van conveys the clothes to and from the laundry every week. For more ample details of this Charity, please to refer to the Report in the Directory for 1855.

CONVENT OF THE LITTLE SISTERS OF THE POOR,

Elm-tree House, King-street, Hammersmith.

There are at present sixty poor destitute old women lodged and provided for in all respects in this institution, which is entirely dependent upon voluntary contributions of food or money. The Sisters will feel much indebted and be truly grateful to any family who will allow them to call once or twice a week for broken victuals, &c.

Their present residence being much too small for their accommodation,—it is an old damp dilapidated house, which they rent from one quarter to another,—their friends have enabled them to procure a most eligible site in the Hammersmith-road for the erection of a large new house.

This great work of charity is thus recommended by His Eminence Cardinal Wiseman:

"The Hammersmith Congregation of the Little Sisters of the Poor, after labouring with edifying charity in wretched premises, have at length obtained a most eligible site for erecting a large house. They now apply to the charity of the faithful for the means of building. Of this charity they are most deserving on account of their truly religious life and complete devotion to the care of the aged and houseless. Whatever is given to them is, in truth, given to the poor,—to the poor among the poor, whose handmaids they have made themselves, on whose leavings they live. We pray God, therefore, to bless and reward a hundredfold all who will assist them and contribute towards their good work. N. CARD. WISEMAN.

"London, Oct. 10, 1856."

The new house is designed to accommodate 100 poor women and 20 nuns. The erections are already commenced, and are to be carried up in the plainest possible style. Subscriptions will be received at the Commercial Bank, Covent-garden; by His Eminence Cardinal Wiseman; by the Very Rev. James Canon O'Neal; by the Superioress, Madame Victoire Larmenier, at the Convent; and by the Rev. Father Bernin, the Cottage, Hammersmith.

CONVENT OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD,

Hammersmith.

It is usual to imagine that when any work of charity has been for some time established it becomes able to support itself, and those benefactors to whose benevolence it owes its commencement conceive that their aid may be withdrawn to further that of some other good work. This, however, is not the case with the Houses of Our Lady of Charity of the Good Shepherd. The greater the temporal means with which it pleases Divine Providence to bless them, the more incumbent upon them it becomes to extend their labours. No provision for the possibility of future needs can be made; but penitent women must be received according to the means of each House. This is the only limit put by the Holy Founder to the number—unhappily always abundant—of those who can find a resource in the Good Shepherd alone.

The House at Hammersmith owes the deepest debt of gratitude to all who do, or have done, so much to establish it on its present footing. The Community leave nothing undone to repay, to the best of their power, those whose names are well known in Heaven; but it cannot exist without a continuance of their assistance. This House has been named by His Holiness the Pope, and the honoured Mother-General of the whole Order, the Novitiate House for the British Islands. Inadequate as it is in size to the wants of the present Community, which is nevertheless small in comparison to the work on its hands, an addition is an imperative necessity; and this has been commenced with every attention to economy. Though the extent of the roof will not be much increased, still the expense would be alarming but for the thought that what Providence has already done He will doubtless do again.

Another additional expense is the revival of the rates and taxes, which, by the exertions of the Very Rev. Canon O'Neal, were taken off in the year 1847. The parish authorities being, however, unwilling that this house should be exempted when so many other charities are taxed, have again insisted on payment; and although this has been done in a more liberal manner than might have been expected, this charge, in addition to some other severe losses this year, falls heavily on the limited resources of the House.

Thus, therefore, the Religious of Our Lady of Charity of the Good Shepherd, taking this opportunity of returning their grateful thanks for the alms already so generously poured into their hands, humbly entreat still to be remembered, that they may not be obliged, instead of extending, to diminish the work entrusted to them by the Good Shepherd.

It is not money alone for which they beg. Those who give clothing to assist in the outfit of such of the poor rescued Penitents as are placed, by another exercise of charity, in situations, have equal claims on the gratitude and prayers of the whole Community, and on the favour of Him who has said, "As long as you did it to one of these my least brethren, you did it to Me."

Subscriptions will be gratefully received by His Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, 8 York-place, Portman-square; by Charles Dolman, 61 New Bond-street; at the Commercial Bank, Henrietta-street, Covent-garden; by the Very Rev. Canon O'Neal, V.G., 13 Grove-road, St. John's-wood; by the Rev. H. P. Heneage, Superior of the Convent, Hammersmith; and by the Superioress, Mrs. Elizabeth Gillett, in whose name post-office orders may be made out.

ST. JOSEPH'S CONVENT OF OUR LADY OF MERCY, AND POOR SCHOOLS FOR GIRLS,

Cadogan-street, Chelsea.

The charity of the Catholic public is earnestly solicited in behalf of this Convent, and the Poor Schools attached to it.

These spacious and commodious Schools, annexed to the Convent, built by Joseph Knight, Esq., and opened in the spring of 1845, are now attended by nearly 400 children. (This does not include the boys.) The Sisters, besides constant attention to the spiritual instruction and education of the children, are daily engaged in visiting the sick, instructing adults, &c. For the further accommodation of the community, now increasing, it is in contemplation to add to the building should the means be realised to effect this, which it is humbly hoped may be the case.

Those who cannot co-operate by giving a life of labour to the works of mercy, are requested to forward their subscriptions to His Eminence the Cardinal Archbishop, 8 York-place, Portman-square; Very Rev. Provost Whitty, St. Mary's, Moorfields; Rev. R. G. Macmullen; Very Rev. Canon Hunt, St. James's, Spanish-place; Very Rev. Canon Last, Ingatestone Hall, Essex; or to the Mother Superior of the Convent, by whom they will be most gratefully received.

ST. JOSEPH'S CONVENT OF OUR LADY OF MERCY,

In Clifford.

The establishment of the Sisters of Mercy in this diocese cannot but be regarded by all who have the interests of our holy religion at heart as one of the most cheering prospects for the advancement of the cause of charity, so intimately connected with the spread of true religion in this country.

A visit to the Convent of Mercy in Clifford will not only amply repay the trouble, but will also prove how much has been already accomplished by the self-sacrificing ladies who have renounced all to dedicate themselves to the service of the poor.

May Our Lady of Mercy look down with protecting love on all who shall contribute to the support and advancement of this invaluable institution, is the heartfelt prayer of the Pastor of the Mission.

E. L. CLIFFORD.

ST. BEDE'S CONVENT OF MERCY,

Sunderland.

Subscriptions and donations are earnestly requested towards the completion of the Convent-chapel, &c. Owing to the generosity of kind benefactors, the Sisters of Mercy have succeeded in getting up a portion of the building; but their funds are now exhausted, and unless assisted by the charity of those who interest themselves in the training of youth, and the religious instruction of the poor, the Sisters will be obliged for the present to suspend the enlargement of their Convent, so much needed as well for the Community as for the accommodation of the children and adults under their care.

Contributions for this object will be gratefully received by the Lord Bishop of Hexham, Darlington; Very Rev. Joseph Canon Brown, Carmel House, Darlington; Rev. James Bamber, 49 Clarendon-square, London; Very Rev. John Canon Bamber and Rev. F. Kirsopp, St. Mary's, Sunderland; or the Rev. Mother, Convent of Mercy, Sunderland.

Under the patronage of Our Lady of Mercy.

BENEDICTINE CONVENT,

Menin, West Flanders, Belgium.

Asylum and House of Retreat for Ladies.

Prospectus.

This Establishment, situated at the extremity of the city, is conducted by a religious community of the Order of St. Benedict. The whole of the buildings, apartments, chambers, corridors, promenades, and galleries, are well ventilated, and kept with the greatest care, neatness, and cleanliness. Many beautiful windings in the large gardens are at the service of the ladies for their walks and recreation.

The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass is daily offered up in the Church of the Convent, and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament given.

The object proposed by this House is to offer a peaceful retreat to ladies who have determined to lead a retired life, and also affording a sure and agreeable refuge to persons of the sex affected by indispositions which are of a nature to render life in a family difficult or impossible.

Every care which the most scrupulous exactitude can demand is constantly and superabundantly bestowed upon the inmates; they never cease to be the object of a charity as tender as it is patient; the watchfulness used in their regard extends to all times and to all places. The distractions which their state requires are ever anxiously procured for them: such as walks in the gardens and boundaries of the Convent, going out accompanied by confidential persons into the environs of the city, and carriage-drives, &c.

An able and renowned physician, gifted with a lengthened experience, belongs to the Establishment, and administers to the wants of the sick and indisposed with all that zeal and knowledge which their condition requires.

The Benedictine Nuns (who make it a duty to neglect nothing, in order to enter as largely as possible into the views of the families who give to them their confidence) are always happy when the Almighty blesses their pious efforts, and enables them to restore to the bosom of their family and to society the persons intrusted to their care.

The pension is not the same for all the lady pensioners. It varies in proportion to the quality of the apartment and the number of rooms made use of, as well as other exigencies. Each lady always takes her meals in her own apartment.

No lay person belongs to or enters the house: they are all religious who attend upon the inmates.

The nourishment is both healthy, abundant, and varied. There are, however, different tables, as there are different classes of persons.

Ladies who wish to engage the first class, and enjoy the advantages of the first table, pay an annual pension of from 1600 to 2500 francs (64*l.* to 100*l.*); and beyond that sum, according to the number of rooms they wish to occupy, the extraordinary cares or attention they may require, and the quantity of dishes they wish for their meals.

As regards the ladies who come under the second class, and who make use of the second table, their pension is on an average from 1000 to 1500 francs (40*l.* to 60*l.*). The ladies, besides their meals, which are often varied in their kind, are allowed wine every day.

Persons of the third class pay a pension of from 700 to 900 francs (28*l.* to 36*l.*). The table for this last class of persons consists of good soup and two dishes of meats, without dessert. They have the wine of the Convent every Sunday and festival-day.

The House provides, without any charge, furniture for the apartments and for the bedrooms. As regards washing, repairs, clothing, &c., should families desire it, the Convent will supply them at very moderate charges.

The pension is paid quarterly in advance. Should a lady leave before the expiration of a quarter already commenced, there is no deduction made, except in the case of a complete cure.

N.B. Families who select the Convent of the Benedictines at Menin for persons insane, are earnestly requested to provide them with certificates, and the other official papers required in such circumstances, for their admission into the Convent.

Applications to be made to the Reverend Prioress, Madame Devloo, Dames Benedictines, Menin, Belgium; the Rev. P. Smith, St. Nicholas' Church, Francis-street, Dublin; Rev. Richard Vandepitte, 6 Juvenal-street, Liverpool; M. A. M'Donnell, Esq., 23 Clarendon-buildings, South John-street, Liverpool; and Surgeon O'Shea, 17 Mount-street, Bridge-road, Lambeth.

 It is requested that all remittances may be made to the Secretary, either by cheques payable on a London Banker, or by Post-office Orders drawn to his name at the Charing-cross Post-office; but not by Stamps.

Applicants for Grants must apply to the Secretary for the requisite Forms.

On the 27th September 1847 the eight Bishops of England and Wales issued a letter creating and nominating the Catholic Poor-School Committee, "it being the unanimous intention of the Bishops to carry on henceforward the great work of the religious education of the children of the poor by the assistance, and through the instrumentality, of this new Committee." The Committee, thus formed originally, consists of thirty-nine Members,—one priest and two laymen from each of the thirteen Dioceses. Its office and functions will be best attested by the following extract from the Synodal Letter of the Council of Oscott, 1852: "Make your schools equal in every respect to those which are open to allure away our children; avail yourselves of every encouragement and every improvement which tends to raise the standard of your education; and let there be no pretence tenable for sending Catholic children elsewhere. In effecting these most useful purposes, and procuring means for encouraging a high order of education, as well as extensively diffusing its blessings, we consider that the Institution established by us, and known as the 'Poor-School Committee,' has been eminently useful, and deserves our public approbation and our joint recommendation. Composed as it is of priests and laymen selected from all our Dioceses, it has attended to their several interests with fidelity and impartiality; and it has been the instrument for obtaining assistance and means for education, which, without its co-operation, would not have reached us. Through it the character of our poor-school teaching has been signally raised; and the erection of normal and training schools, which we now owe to its exertions and zeal, promises to secure on a stable basis the future enjoyment of this blessing. We therefore exhort and urge you to support this excellent Institution, by your liberal contributions, by your hearty co-operation, and by your friendly encouragement."

As a specimen of the work which is doing by the Poor-School Committee, the Grants made in the year 1856 are subjoined:

13 Grants towards building schools . . .		£1350
99 Grants towards support of schools:
Of which to 20 applicants in London	£630	2007
„ 79 applicants in the country	1377
Grant to Sisters of St. Paul, for education of 5 religious teachers		100
Grant to Brothers of Charity, for education of 6 religious teachers		90
Grant to St. Mary's Training-School, religious and secular branches		800
Grant to Liverpool Training-College, under Sisters of Notre Dame		166
Loan to Rev. Henry Formby		600
Ditto of last year's grant		100

Besides this the Committee is charged with the erection of a lay training-college at Hammersmith, the whole expense of which will exceed 8000*l.*; and with the cost of a system of ecclesiastical inspection, and rewards for proficiency in religious knowledge.

MINUTE of the COMMITTEE of COUNCIL on EDUCATION, offering GRANTS for the Promotion of SCHOOLS, wherein Children of the Criminal and Abandoned Classes may be reformed by Industrial Training. Dated 2d June 1856.

At the COUNCIL CHAMBER, WHITEHALL, the 2d day of June 1856.
By the LORDS of the COMMITTEE on EDUCATION of her Majesty's most Honourable Privy Council.

Their Lordships resolved to continue the grants at present made in aid of field-gardens and workshops annexed to common elementary day-schools, but as regards "ragged or reformatory schools," to cancel all existing Minutes, and to provide as follows (no school being admissible to aid under this Minute, unless it be industrial in its character, and unless the scholars be taken exclusively from the criminal or abandoned classes):

1. To pay half of the rent.
2. To pay one-third of the annual cost of tools and of raw material for labour.
3. To make grants towards the cost of books, maps, and apparatus, upon the same terms as to other schools.
4. In order to encourage the preparation of suitable schoolmasters for employment in such institutions, to grant the sum of 35*l.* to the treasurer of any reformatory school in respect of every person qualified as next undermentioned who shall have been boarded, lodged, and trained as a master in such reformatory school during a period of twelve months, viz.:
   - (a) All teachers of common elementary day-schools holding certificates of merit, or registered.
   - (b) All teachers of workhouse-schools holding certificates of efficiency.
   - (c) All students in normal colleges under inspection, who shall have resided therein not less than one year, and shall have successfully passed the examination at the end of the year before her Majesty's Inspectors of Schools.

Their Lordships also resolved to reimburse to the said treasurer any sum not exceeding 6*l.*, which it may have been found necessary to advance for the purpose of travelling or personal expenses to such persons in training.

The conditions of all such grants to be:

(a) That the reformatory contain at least forty inmates, and be sanctioned or certified by the Secretary of State, under the Acts 17 and 18 Vict. c. 74 and c. 86.

(b) That her Majesty's Inspectors of Schools recommend the school, from year to year, as a suitable place in its character and arrangements for receiving masters into training for reformatory schools.

(c) That payment of the grant be made by quarterly instalments; and that the same certificates of good conduct be required from the principal of the institution on behalf of each person in training, as are now required in the case of Queen's Scholars.

5. To grant half of the salary agreed to be paid by the managers to every master and to every assistant-master, in any ragged or reformatory school, in the following ratio:

For any number of inmates not exceeding twenty-five, one master.

Between twenty-five and fifty, one master, one assistant.

An additional assistant to be allowable for every twenty-five additional inmates above fifty; and an additional master (instead of an assistant) for the first twenty-five inmates after every 100; these allowances giving one master and three assistants as the ordinary staff for every 100 inmates.

Every master, if untrained, must be upwards of twenty-five years old, and every assistant upwards of eighteen years old. Industrial instructors may be counted as assistants.

If the salary agreed by the managers to be paid to an assistant exceed half of that of a master in the same school, the excess will not be reckoned in calculating the sum to be reimbursed by the Committee of Council on Education.

Her Majesty's Inspectors of Schools must report favourably in each year for which the grant is paid, with especial reference to the following points:

(a) That the ability and character of the schoolmaster and assistants are satisfactory.

(b) That habits of obedience, cleanliness, and order are enforced in the school.

6. To grant as capitation, upon every child (according to the number in average attendance during the year preceding the annual inspection), who is not paid for by the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury under the Act 17 and 18 Vict. c. 86, the sum of 50*s.* per annum, provided that such child be fed at the school.

Circular to her Majesty's Inspectors of Schools in Explanation of the foregoing Minute.

Committee of Council on Education, Council Office, July 1856.

SIR,—I am directed to bring under your notice the enclosed copy of a Minute, dated 2d June 1856, on Reformatory Schools.

Certified and Uncertified Reformatories.

The inspection of Reformatories will be arranged upon the same plan as that of common elementary schools, i.e. a certain month will be fixed for the Inspector's visit, and all annual grants (except those under Section 4 of the Minute) will be paid for years ending at that date. The institutions to be inspected will fall into two classes. There will be,

1. Those institutions which are conducted upon a considerable scale, and which are recognised by the Secretary of State in pursuance of Acts of Parliament. But there will also be,
2. A large number of smaller institutions which now, under the names of Asylums, Homes, Refuges, Ragged Schools, and the like, attempt, with varying degrees of completeness, to effect the object proposed by the Minute.

Both classes of institutions (the larger and the smaller) may share equally in the following forms of aid: they may receive half the rent; one-third of the cost of tools, books, and raw materials of labour; one-half of the salaries; and an annual capitation grant upon every child who is provided with food as well as instruction, and who is not otherwise paid for by the Treasury.

The larger and certified institutions will, however, enjoy this further privilege, that they may receive candidates, from certain specified classes, for training as masters, and may be paid on their account such a sum as nearly corresponds to the allowance for a Queen's Scholar in a normal college of the ordinary kind.

Candidates in Training.

The system of examination, and the course of instruction proper for an ordinary normal college, would be unsuited to a Reformatory. In abandoning, therefore, any such requisition, it has been an object to specify those classes of candidates who have given proof that they already possess a fair amount of intellectual acquirements, as well as some familiarity with the ordinary routine of school-keeping. The reception of such candidates into training will require no addition to the staff for their own instruction; occasional lectures and examinations by the principal will suffice to keep up their knowledge; and they will be useful assistants to the ordinary officers of the institution, at the same time that they are qualifying themselves for independent employment.

In accordance with this view, the allowance which, in the case of a Queen's Scholar, is divided between his own bursary and the grant made to the college for his examination at the end of each year, is in the present instance consolidated. Her Majesty's Inspectors, at their annual visits, will report upon the qualifications and ability of the candidates in training; but the candidates will not be further subjected to a general examination in the same manner as students in ordinary normal colleges.

As the number of institutions in which masters can be suitably trained is not likely to be large, the special payments allowable under the fourth section of the Minute will be separated entirely from the rest, which are to be issued on the annual report of the Inspectors.

Intellectual Discipline as an Instrument of Reformation.

It is not supposed by their Lordships that the attainments implied by the definition of the classes from which the choice of candidates for training must be made constitute all that is wanted in a reformatory teacher. Their Lordships do, however, consider that there is a very close connection between the peculiar qualifications of such a teacher and the attainments in question, as means through which those qualifications may operate with increased effect.

If intellectual instruction ought to occupy any place at all in the reformatory process, it ought to be good as far as it goes.

Criminal boys often possess sharpness and cunning; but this is a very different thing from the power of sustained attention and methodical application of the mind. It is in the inculcation of such habits that intellectual discipline becomes identical with moral discipline of a high order. The humbleness of the form, and the limited degree in which intellectual instruction may be imparted, does not alter this truth, nor dispense with the necessity for an able teacher. In more than one Reformatory which has been inspected, the intellectual instruction is not only limited but bad. School-lessons should take their turn with hard bodily labour, but should never be allowed to supersede it as the staple of each reformatory institution.

Teachers employed in Reformatories.

Grants under the fifth section of the Minute are not confined to those masters and assistants who have been trained, nor are they offered in the way of augmentation. The managers will receive half the sums which they return as the salaries agreed to be paid; but, so long as those salaries are paid, the grants may be carried to the general account of the school. Their Lordships reserve to themselves discretion to determine whether any particular salary, by its amount or otherwise, falls fairly within the scope of the Minute.

You will observe that the Government leaves the choice of teachers absolutely to the managers, interposing no test whatever, except the Inspector's annual report upon certain specified points.

According to the organisation adopted in each Reformatory, the master, for whose salary allowance is made, may or may not be the principal teacher in school. If he is not, the school-teacher may be counted among the assistants in claiming a grant, according to the number of instructors admissible under the Minute. The principal officer ought in all cases to be well enough instructed to be able to control, and to be responsible for, the work of the schoolroom.

The literary ability of a teacher may be regarded as sufficient if the Inspector is satisfied that the boys under his charge learn to read, write, and cipher in such a manner as to acquire the practical command of those arts in earning their bread, and making their way in the world. A boy who reads with difficulty and without intelligence, who writes imperfectly and spells ill, who cannot readily apply the rules of arithmetic to a common transaction of the shop or of wages, might as well, for most practical purposes, be unable to read, write, or cipher at all. You should apply this test rigorously in examining all such boys as are on the eve of leaving the school.

In the same way, as to religious knowledge, you should endeavour to ascertain that the doctrines and maxims of Christianity are taught in such a manner as to be likely to become motives and rules of conduct.

In the same spirit you will bear in mind that no oral delivery of moral lessons can be so effective as that which results from daily practice. You will not, therefore, allow any general professions to weigh against the evidence which at school or workshop may present in itself of a want of order, obedience, and cleanliness. A disobedient, dirty, ill-conditioned lad is not to be talked out of those habits, but can only be cured by being obliged to live in daily and hourly contact with the practical opposites of them.

Inmates on whom the Capitation Grant is allowed must be fed, not paid for by the Treasury, and under 21 years of age.

With regard to the rule which confines the Capitation Grant to those children who are—

1. Fed, and
2. Not paid for by the Treasury, the former test is adopted, because experience seems to show that, without the offer of food, the lowest part of the juvenile population cannot be reached by instruction; and because, while this circumstance renders Ragged or Reformatory Schools more costly than others, it also serves to distinguish them broadly from common elementary day-schools. You will be careful on all occasions to inquire and report whether the Reformatory is confined to the most degraded class of children.

It has been known to happen that a Ragged School, by the offer of food, has emptied a neighbouring day-school, where the parents of the children were previously paying for their instruction; such a result is an unmixed evil. No positive rule can supply the place of personal vigilance and good faith on the part of the managers in guarding against such abuses. It is to be hoped that, if proper pains be taken to explain the nature of these schools, few decent parents, however poor, will be so wanting in honest pride as to be tempted to send their children to them. The relief of want should not be confounded with the remedy for vice and crime. The honest children of honest parents should no more be brought to Reformatories for education than to hospitals for food.

The Committee of Council considered the question, whether lodging as well as food should be taken into account, and decided in the negative, except so far as the allowance towards rent may suffice to meet the cost of dormitories. There are many excellent institutions in which the inmates are not lodged; and in some others where they are lodged, it would have been desirable to secure much more complete premises, and arrangements for classification, before undertaking any such charge. You will carefully examine and report upon the day-rooms, dormitories, and offices, no less than the schoolrooms and workshops, so as to form an opinion of the entire life of the inmates, and of the habits likely to result from it.

The Capitation Grant is not allowed on those children who are paid for by the Treasury, because the Act of Parliament 17 and 18 Vict. c. 86, sec. 3, enables the Lords of the Treasury to make a sufficient allowance for general care and maintenance in a single sum.

Their Lordships, following the analogy of the Act 17 and 18 Vict. c. 86, sec. 2, have decided that no inmates of Ragged or Reformatory Schools, who are above twenty-one years of age, are to be reckoned in calculating such allowances from the Education Grant as depend upon the number of inmates. Their Lordships do not regard it as advisable to associate persons who have reached mature years in crime with youths in one and the same Reformatory.

My Lords intend, as a general rule, to refer those institutions in England and Wales which fall exclusively under the Minute of 2d June 1856 to such of her Majesty's Inspectors as are charged with the inspection of workhouse-schools.

I have the honour to be, sir, your obedient servant,

R. R. W. Lingen.

Abridgment of an Act (19 and 20 Vict. c. 119, 29*th July* 1856) to amend the Provisions of the Marriage and Registration Acts (6 and 7 W. IV. c. 85; 1 Vict. c. 22; and 3 and 4 Vict. c. 72).

1. No intended marriage to be read or published before the Guardians of any Poor-Law Union, parish, or place.

2. Any party intending marriage under the Acts or Act above-named, must, at the time of giving notice to the Superintendent Registrar, or respective Superintendent Registrars, as the case may be, the notices required by said Acts, or either of them, make and sign or subscribe a solemn declaration in writing, or in the body or at the foot of such notice, that he or she believes that there is no impediment of kindred or alliance, or other lawful hindrance to the said marriage; and that the parties to the said marriage, in case the marriage is to be had without license, have for the space of seven days immediately preceding the giving of such notice had their usual place of abode and residence within the district of the Superintendent Registrar, or respective Superintendent Registrars, to whom such notice or notices, as the case may be, shall be given; or in case such marriage is intended to be had by license, that one of the said parties hath for the space of fifteen days immediately preceding the giving of such notice had his or her usual place of abode and residence within the district of the Superintendent Registrar to whom such notice shall be so given; and when either of the parties intending marriage, and not being a widower or widow, shall be under the age of twenty-one years, the party making such declaration shall further declare that the consent of the person or persons whose consent to such marriage is by law required has been given, or (as the case may be) that there is no person whose consent to such marriage is by law required; and every declaration so made as aforesaid shall be signed and subscribed by the party making the same in the presence of the Superintendent Registrar to whom the notice of marriage containing such declaration is given, or in the presence of his deputy, or of some registrar of births and deaths or of marriages for the district in which the party giving such notice resides, or of the deputy of such registrar, who shall respectively attest the same by adding thereto his name, description, and place of abode. And every person who shall knowingly or wilfully make and sign or subscribe any false declaration, or who shall sign any false notice, for the purpose of forwarding any marriage under the provisions of any of the said Acts, or the present Act, shall suffer the pains of perjury.

3. Form of notice of marriage after this Act shall come into operation (1st January 1857) to be in the form annexed to the Act, or to the like effect; and in every case where the marriage is intended to be had and solemnised under the provisions of the Act (3 and 4 Vict. c. 72), such notice shall, in addition to the several particulars comprised therein, contain the declaration required to be made by one of the parties to such intended marriage, pursuant to the second section of the said last-mentioned Act.

(N.B. The form of the above-mentioned Notice will be supplied by the Superintendent Registrars on application.)

4. Superintendent Registrar to whom notice of any intended marriage without license has been given, to cause such notice, or a true and exact copy thereof, as entered in the Marriage-Notice Book under the hand of such Superintendent Registrar, to be suspended or affixed in some conspicuous place in his office during twenty-one successive days next after the day of the entry of such notice in his "Marriage-Notice Book" before any marriage shall be solemnised in pursuance of such notice; and after the expiration of twenty-one days next after the day of the entry of such notice, the Superintendent shall issue, upon the request of the party giving such notice, the certificate in the appointed form; and at any time within three calendar months next after the day of the entry of such notice the intended marriage may be solemnised.

5. Notice of marriage by license NOT to be suspended in the office of the Registrar-General; but the party giving the notice to state therein that such marriage is intended to be celebrated by license.

6. In the case of marriage intended to be solemnised by license between parties who do not dwell in the same Superintendent's district, not required that notice of such intended marriage be given to more than one Superintendent Registrar; and not required that the said notice state how long each of the said parties has resided in his or her dwelling-place, but only how long the party residing in the district in which the notice is given has so resided.

7. In every case in which one of the parties intending marriage without license under the provisions of the said Acts, or of this Act, shall dwell in Ireland, the party so dwelling in Ireland to give notice in the form there used in that behalf, or to the like effect, to the Registrar of the District in Ireland within which such party shall have dwelt for not less than seven days then next preceding, and shall state therein the name and surname, and the profession and condition and age of each of the parties intending marriage, and also the dwelling-place of each of them, and the time, not being less than seven days, during which he or she shall have dwelt therein, and also the church or other building in which the marriage is to be solemnised; provided that if either party shall have dwelt in the place stated in the notice as his or her dwelling-place more than one month, it may be stated that he or she have dwelt therein one month or upwards; and such notice shall be dealt with in the manner, and such certificate for marriage shall be given by such Registrar in the mode respectively prescribed in Act 7 and 8 Vict. c. 81, intituled An Act for Marriages in Ireland, and for registering such Marriages (9 and 10 Vict. c. 72), intituled An Act to amend the Act for Marriages in Ireland, and for registering such Marriages, provided that in such case the certificate for marriage shall not be issued before the expiration of twenty-one days next after the entry of such notice. From and after the issuing of such certificate, the production thereof to any person duly authorised under the provisions of this Act to solemnise a marriage valid and effectual for authorising such person to solemnise such marriage as the production of a certificate for marriage of a Superintendent Registrar in England would be under any or either of the said three firstly-recited Acts, if the party giving such notice were resident within such district, and the other party to such intended marriage were also resident within another Superintendent Registrar's district in England; and where marriages have, since the passing of the said Act for Marriages in Ireland, and for registering such Marriages, been solemnised in England between parties, one of whom was resident in Ireland, under certificates, of which one was the certificate of the Registrar of the district in Ireland, within which one of the parties had dwelt for not less than seven days, and the other the certificate of the Superintendent Registrar of the district in England, within which the other party had dwelt for not less than seven days, such marriages are declared to be valid in the same manner as if the parties had been respectively resident for not less than seven days in the respective districts of the two Superintendent Registrars in England, and like certificates had been issued by both such Superintendents.

8. In every case in which one of the parties intending marriage without license under the said Acts shall dwell in Scotland, a certificate of proclamation of banns in Scotland under the hand of the Session Clerk of the parish in which such proclamation shall have been made sufficient to authorise any person, duly authorised under the said Acts to solemnise a marriage, to solemnise such marriage.

9. In case of intended marriages by license, Superintendent Registrar, after the expiration of one whole day after the day of entry of notice in the "Marriage-Notice Book," shall, upon the request of the party giving notice of the intended marriage, issue the certificate prescribed by the Act, and also a license to marry, if no lawful impediment be shown to his satisfaction.

10. Fee for license fixed at 1*l*. 10*s*. besides the stamp-duty.

11. No marriage to be solemnised in any registered building without the consent of the minister, or of one of the trustees, owners, deacons, or managers thereof; "nor in any registered building of the Church of Rome, without the consent of the officiating minister thereof."

12. Parties to any marriage contracted at the Registry Office of any district who desire to add the religious ceremony ordained or used by the church or persuasion of which such parties are members, they may present themselves for that purpose to a clergyman or minister of the church or persuasion of which they are members, after notice given to him of their intention to do so; and such clergyman or minister, upon production of their certificate of marriage before the Superintendent Registrar may, if he see fit, in the church or chapel whereof he is the regular minister, by himself, or by some minister nominated by him, read or celebrate the marriage service of the persuasion to which such minister belongs.

13. Parties intending marriage by license, under the provisions of the Act 3 and 4 Vict. c. 72, in a registered building situated in a district within which neither of the parties reside, may apply to and obtain from the Superintendent Registrar to whom notice of such intended marriage has been given a license for such marriage to be solemnised in the registered building stated in such notice.

14. When any marriage intended to be solemnised in the usual place of worship of the parties, or one of them, and such place of worship be a registered building, not situated in the district of either of the parties, Superintendent Registrar or Registrars to grant to the party applying a license or certificate, as the case may be, for such marriage to be solemnised in the registered building stated in such notice, providing such building be situated not more than two miles beyond the limits of the district in which the notice of such marriage has been given; and the party giving notice of such marriage shall, at the time of giving the same, state therein, in addition to the description of the building in which such marriage is to be solemnised, that it is the usual place of worship of one of the parties, and shall state the name of the party whose usual place of worship it is.

17. Proof of the observance of this Act and of the recited Acts not necessary to the validity of marriages.

18. Persons knowingly or wilfully making any false declaration, or signing any false notice required by this Act, for the purpose of procuring marriage, and every person forbidding the granting of a certificate of marriage by falsely representing himself or herself to be a person whose consent to such marriage is required by law, knowing such representation to be false, to suffer the penalties of perjury.

19. If any valid marriage had under the Acts by means of any wilfully false declaration, notice, or certificate, as to any matter in which a solemn declaration, notice, or certificate is required, all the estate and interest in any property accruing to the offending party by such marriage to be forfeited at the suit of Her Majesty's Attorney-General or Solicitor-General.

25. Act not to extend to Ireland or Scotland.

26. Act to come into operation on 1st January 1857.

Subscriptions and Donations are earnestly requested in support of these Charities, which have been established upwards of forty-four years, and are supplying a good religious education to nearly two thousand poor Catholic children. The Committee have to regret that, whilst the educational wants of the metropolis are every year increasing, the annual resources of these Charities are diminished. It is difficult to supply the places of those charitable benefactors who are every year called away to receive the reward of their good deeds. Donations will be thankfully received by his Eminence the Cardinal Archbishop; Thomas Martin, Esq., 30 Argyle-street, Regent-street; by the Rev. James Bamber, 49 Clarendon-square, Somers-town; or by the Western Branch of the London Joint-Stock Bank, 69 Pall Mall.

Form of Legacy to this Institution.

"I give and bequeath unto the Treasurer for the time being of the Associated Catholic Charities in London, the sum of £ , to be paid out of such part of my personal estate as I can lawfully charge with the payment of Legacies to charitable uses."

ST. PATRICK'S CHARITY SCHOOLS,

For the gratuitous education and clothing of the destitute offspring of the poor, at Tudor-place, Tottenham-court-road, and Asylum for Female Orphans bereft of both parents, lately at Heath House, New End-square, Hampstead, now removed to Norwood.

His Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, Patron.

St. Patrick's Charity is dependent on the voluntary subscriptions and donations of the benevolent, which have of late been insufficient for the promotion of its several objects; comprising the support of—

Two schools for 320 boys, superintended by Brothers of the Christian Schools;

One school for 140 girls.

Thus does the charity gratuitously afford to the children of the poor the blessing of a sound, useful, and virtuous education; and to female children bereft of both parents shelter, maintenance, and education in an asylum which is the only one in the district exclusively devoted to the gratuitous protection of parentless Catholic female orphans.

The Orphan Fund of St. Patrick's Charity is composed of the subscriptions of ladies, and exclusively applied to board, medical attendance, and rewards to the orphans for exemplary conduct during two years after they have been placed out in service. Every other expenditure for rent, clothing, and education, is provided for by the General Fund of St. Patrick's Charity, the annual contributions to which having of late years much decreased, it becomes necessary earnestly to invoke the benevolence of all, to rescue the institution from impending decay, and to perpetuate the blessings it has for more than half-a-century widely diffused.

Subscriptions and donations received by the Rev. Gentlemen of St. Patrick's Chapel; the Rev. William Waterworth, No. 9 Hill-street, Berkeley-square; Henry Barnewall, Esq., of Copthall-court, Throgmorton-street, and Richmond-hill, Surrey; the Commercial Bank of London, Henrietta-street, Covent-garden; and also (towards the maintenance of the female orphans) by Mrs. Henry Barnewall.

ST. FRANCIS'S CATHOLIC FREE SCHOOL, ST. GILES'S.

Established 1838.

ST. ALOYSIUS'S SCHOOLS,

Somers-town and Hampstead.

Patron—The Cardinal Archbishop of Westminster.
Temporal Director—The Rev. J. Bamber.

The religious ladies who for the last twenty-six years have conducted these schools, appeal to the Catholic public for assistance to enable them to continue their work of charity. It is now more than half a century since these schools were established for the education of Catholic children, during which time many have been the blessings which they have been the means of imparting. Under the care of these religious the children receive a solid English education; they are trained up to habits of industry, and are taught a thorough and practical knowledge of our holy faith. Each pupil is provided with good board and lodgings, and taught those things most suitable for her future position in life, whether she remain an inmate of her family, or be engaged in business, or seek her means of livelihood in service. They are also instructed in needlework, which is taken in at the schools and carefully executed. The terms are from 10*l.* to 12*l.* per annum, exclusive of clothes and school-books. Some, whose parents are reduced in circumstances, are received at a lower pension; and at the present time there are thirty-six orphans, or destitute children, who are fed, clothed, lodged, and educated free of all expense.

Besides the boarding-schools there are attached to these establishments day-schools, in which 220 children receive gratuitous education, forty of whom are fed and in part provided with clothing. During the last year fifty boarders and the same number of day-scholars have left the schools of St. Aloysius entirely fitted to take their places in their family circles, or to provide for themselves in the world.

It is painful to be obliged to state, that from the loss by death of many benevolent supporters, as well as from the the high prices of provisions, it has been found necessary to reduce the number of gratuitous admissions. It is to be hoped that these adverse circumstances may not continue, and that the patronage which has hitherto upheld these establishments will preserve their utility undiminished, now that it is more than ever necessary to guard the children of our holy faith from the proselytising influences of the anti-Catholic systems of education in operation.

During the last year these establishments have suffered an irreparable loss in the death of the saintly Rev. Father Nerinckx, who, for more than half a century, watched over these schools with more than parental care and affection. He has doubtless gone to receive the reward of his labours and charities; but the poor children have to deplore the loss of a father and protector. It is to be hoped that the good work which he commenced, and so successfully carried on, will be long continued after him by the generous support of the Catholic public.

Subscriptions and donations will be thankfully received by the Very Rev. Monsignor Searle, 8 York-place, Portman-square; the Rev. J. Bamber, 49 Clarendon-square, Somers-town; and at the London Joint-Stock Bank, 69 Pall Mall.

SCHOOLS OF OUR LADY OF COMPASSION,

Dunne's Passage, 154 High Holborn.

These schools were established more than three years ago by the Fathers of the Oratory, under whose direction they are still carried on.

They comprise an Infant School, a Boys' Day School, Girls' Day School, and Night Schools for those boys and girls who (being employed in selling fruit, sweeping crossings, and similar occupations) cannot attend school in the day-time.

Attached to the schools is the establishment called St. Philip's Home, which affords a refuge to young destitute girls of good character; and there is also an Industrial School, where a number of girls find employment. These, as well as the Girls' and Infants' Schools, are conducted by the Sisters of Compassion. By the permission of the Cardinal Archbishop, the school is used on Sundays as a chapel for the children. Mass is said for them, and confessions heard; and on one evening of the week there is a meeting of a Confraternity of Perseverance, consisting of those children who have been admitted to their first Communion.

The average number of children present daily is about 600; the number on the books being nearly 1200.

The schools are situated in the centre of a densely populated neighbourhood, being close to St. Giles's, Drury-lane, Seven Dials, &c. The children are of the poorest class. During the past winter and spring the distress among them was so great, that upwards of 100 starving children received food at the schools daily.

Subscriptions for the support of the schools, and donations towards the new school-buildings now in the course of erection in Charles-street, Drury-lane, will be thankfully received by the Rev. Father Hutchison, the Oratory, Brompton; at Messrs. Burns and Lambert; and at the London Joint-Stock Bank, 69 Pall Mall.

In case of subscriptions being paid into the London Joint-Stock Bank, care should be taken to explain distinctly that they are for the Catholic Schools of Compassion, in order to prevent mistakes.

EAST LONDON CATHOLIC INSTITUTION,

14 Red Lion-street, Wapping.

For educating and clothing poor children.

SPITALFIELDS CATHOLIC FREE SCHOOLS,

Spicer-street, Brick-lane.

Instituted 1825.

Patron: His Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, Archbishop of Westminster.
Spiritual Directors of the Children: The Marist Fathers.

These schools are situated in the midst of a densely-populated neighbourhood, comprising the parishes of Spitalfields, Whitechapel, and Bethnal-green, where poverty and vice abound to an extent perhaps unequalled in any other part of the metropolis. It has been computed that there are nearly 1000 Catholic children in this district requiring more or less gratuitous education. Of this number there are between 400 and 500 now in the schools, and great exertions are being made to secure the remainder. The building in Spicer-street was originally erected for boys and girls, and up to about two years since was found adequate for the purpose. But since the boys have been under the care of a religious Brotherhood, the number of scholars has been doubled, and the whole of the building is now required for their use. The girls' school, therefore, has been tranferred to Princes-street, where leasehold premises have been secured; and they are under the direction of the "Handmaids of Jesus and Mary," a community lately established by authority of the Cardinal Archbishop. These religious have under their care, besides large day-schools, an infant-school, a night, and a Sunday school.

Contributions towards these schools will be thankfully received by his Eminence the Cardinal, 8 York-place; by the Marist Fathers; by the Very Rev. Canon Last, Ingatestone; and by the Mother Superior, 15 Wood-street.

Additional schools have been provided in another part of the district.

TOTTENHAM, EDMONTON, AND PONDER'S END SCHOOLS.

These schools were opened to give religious education to the poor Catholic children in and about Tottenham, Edmonton, and vicinity.

Subscriptions will be thankfully received by his Eminence Cardinal

Wiseman; by the Clergy at all the Chapels: and by the Rev. J. H. Dale, Chapel-place, White Hart-lane, Tottenham.

HAMMERSMITH CATHOLIC SCHOOLS.

Subscriptions for the support of these schools will be thankfully received by the Rev. Daniel O'Keefe, Hammersmith; or by his Eminence the Cardinal Archbishop.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETY,

Patron: His Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, Archbishop of Westminster.

Subscriptions will be thankfully received by his Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, Archbishop of Westminster; the Very Rev. Provost Whitty, and the Rev. Chaplains of St. Mary's, 22 Finsbury-circus; the Rev. Chaplains of St. George's Cathedral, Southwark; the Rev. Chaplains of the Oratory and Virginia-street; Henry Barnewall, Esq., the Treasurer, Copthall-court; Thomas Barnewall, Esq., Commercial Bank, Henrietta-street, Covent-garden; and by the Honorary Secretary, Edward Firth, 2 Aldgate.

ASSOCIATION OF THE DAUGHTERS OF OUR LADY OF COMPASSION.

This Association, which was commenced in the year 1854 with the approval of the Cardinal Archbishop, consists solely of girls under the age of eighteen. Its object is to afford the young an opportunity of practising a work of charity by combining together to raise funds for the support of female orphans.

It is thought that the children, having a distinct work thus given them to be undertaken and carried on by themselves, are likely to feel a greater interest in it; and that the Association may thus become a useful instrument in initiating the young betimes in the practice of works of charity.

Already seven orphans are being supported in a Catholic orphanage by the alms of the children of the Association.

The subscription is 2½*d.* a month, or half-a-crown a year. A copy of the Rules, &c. may be obtained by writing to the Secretary, the Lady Victoria Fitzalan Howard, Norfolk House, St. James's-square; or by applying to the Fathers of the Oratory, Brompton, by whom donations to the Association will be thankfully received.

Subscriptions and donations will be thankfully received by his Eminence the Patron and President; the Vice-Presidents; the Directors; the Hon. Secretary, C. J. Pagliano, Esq., The Lodge, Brook-green, Hammersmith; and by the Assistant Secretary and Collector, Mr. T. Blount, 2 Leicester-place.

St. Joseph's Almshouses.

In connection with the above Society at Brook Green, Hammersmith. The Directors have the greatest satisfaction in informing the Catholic public that some of the Almshouses are now complete, and occupied. They have been built under the superintendence of Mr. Wardell, the architect, who is likewise building a new church on the same plot of ground. The whole of the fund has been expended, leaving a balance of about three hundred pounds still due to the builders. The present building will accommodate at least sixteen inmates; there will ultimately be rooms for forty. The committee or board-room is in keeping with the rest of the building, and does great credit to the architect. The Directors now call upon the benevolent for contributions towards the endowment fund; one hundred and seventy pounds have already been received for such purpose.

Subscriptions will be thankfully received, either for the completion of the almshouses or for the endowment fund, by any member of the Society, or by C. J. Pagliano, Hon. Sec.

The Almshouses—Cadogan-street, Chelsea.

Under the special patronage of his Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, Archbishop of Westminster.

There are eighteen respectable aged women comfortably accommodated rent-free in this Institution. There is ample space still remaining there for the erection of eight rooms more, but the Committee regret the total absence of means to carry up the buildings. Contributions for that purpose, and also to supply coals and other necessaries to the poor deserving inmates, will be thankfully received by the Very Rev. Provost Whitty, D.D.; by the Very Rev. James Canon O'Neal; and by the Very Rev. Monsignor Eyre.

BRIXTON CATHOLIC POOR SCHOOLS,

10 St. Ann's-road, North Brixton.

The above Schools are badly supported, and hence the necessity of thus calling attention to them in the Directory. The number of children at present attending the Schools does not exceed one hundred. Twice that number should attend; but they will not, so long as neighbouring Protestant Schools will give them gifts and gratuities. Will not some generous souls assist us under these circumstances?—Donations received by Right Rev. Bishop Grant; Rev. J. Cotter, Treasurer, St. George's Catholic Cathedral, Southwark; or the other Chaplains.

ST. EDWARD'S LYING-IN CHARITY,

Blandford-square.

The object of this interesting Charity is to provide the necessary linen and suitable nourishment for respectable married women during the month of their confinement. The principal merit of this Charity, under the administration of the nuns, is, that no relief in pecuniary aid is bestowed, and that the ladies visit the objects of their charity, and minister to their wants according to the necessities of each individual case. Particular attention is paid to the recommendations of Subscribers to the Charity. Subscriptions are thankfully received by the Rev. Mother, at the Convent; and by the rev. gentlemen at Our Lady's Church, St. John's-wood, and of St. James's Church, Spanish-place.

Rector pro tem.—The Rev. Henry Telford.

We hope to have a Community of Religious Brothers from Belgium at the head of this Institution in the course of this year.

There is accommodation in this establishment for 100 poor boys; but our means have obliged us to reduce the number to forty. The public is earnestly entreated to befriend this most important of our charities.

Subscriptions received by his Eminence the Cardinal Archbishop of Westminster, 8 York-place, Portman-square; by the Joint-Stock Bank, 69 Pall Mall; by the Very Rev. An account is open at the Commercial Bank, Henrietta-street, Covent-garden, in the names of the Very Rev. Monsignor Searle, and the Very Rev. Canon O'Neal.

Masters wishing for apprentices from this establishment are requested to communicate with the rector.

INSTITUTION FOR FIRST COMMUNION,

15 Wood-street, Spitalfields, London.

Under the patronage of his Eminence the Cardinal Archbishop.

"And whosoever shall give to drink to one of these little ones a cup of cold water, Amen, I say to you, he shall not lose his reward."—ST. MATT. x. 42.

The object of this Institution is to instruct young women of good character who have been deprived by poverty of the means of preparing for first communion.

The Institution is under the care of the Religious Handmaids of Jesus and Mary, who have generously devoted themselves, not only to instruct, but also to support those hitherto neglected young girls, whose simplicity, innocence, and ardent desire for instruction, render them truly interesting. It was established on the Feast of St. Anne, 1853.

During three years, one hundred and fifty young women, their ages varying from fourteen to twenty-two years, have been supported, clothed, and instructed in the Institution; one hundred and fifteen girls have been placed in good situations; sixty girls attending the Evening School have likewise obtained situations.

The greater number of these poor girls were brought up in the houses of Jews, deprived of all knowledge of religion. They have been supported and clothed gratis, with the exception of a few, whose friends have paid a small sum for their support. The young women are employed in washing and needlework.

Could the affluent and happy behold the scenes of misery, starvation, and utter destitution, that are witnessed every day by those who visit the lanes and courts adjoining Spitalfields, Whitechapel, &c., they would feel the importance and utility of an Institution, the object of which is to rescue hundreds of young girls from vice and misery, teach them habits of industry, and by placing them in good situations raise them from the state of degradation to which their parents have been reduced by poverty and ignorance.

The Handmaids of Jesus and Mary have also an establishment at 17 Princes-street, Spitalfields, consisting of an Infant School, attended by one hundred and sixty boys and girls under seven years of age; three Schools for Girls, containing one hundred and eighty children (of whom one hundred, aged from eight to fourteen years, on entering the Schools, were incapable of spelling any words of four letters correctly, or of adding two to any given number); an Evening School, attended by one hundred and thirty girls who are occupied at work during the day, or selling fruit in the streets: they receive religious instruction, and are taught spelling, reading, writing, arithmetic, and singing. There is also a Sunday-school, attended by two hundred and twenty children and adults: they are taught the same as in the Evening School. Attached to the School is a lending-library of useful and instructive books, suited to the young girls who attend. Books are distributed every Sunday after school. It must be observed that the greater number of children are so extremely poor as to require food and clothing, which the Sisters provide as far as means will permit. The Sisters devote a portion of every Saturday and Sunday to visiting and instructing the poor in their own houses.

During three years there have been nine first communions, amounting to five hundred girls, all instructed in the Institution, and provided with clothing and breakfast on the day of first communion.

The Handmaids of Jesus and Mary beg to state that their Convent and Schools are situated in the very poorest and most obscure district in London, abounding in vice and misery. The only Female Schools in Spitalfields depend entirely on their exertions for support. They have rent and taxes to pay for two houses, and have hitherto received very little assistance from the public. The Sisters hope that the Divine protection, so evident in the success that has attended their work for the poor of Jesus Christ, will induce the benevolent to contribute towards its increase, and enable them to receive many poor girls who have not made their first communion, and are daily applying for admission. A small annual subscription towards the funds of the Institution would preserve many young girls from idleness and vice, and produce a lasting improvement in their morals. The most satisfactory results have been visible in the honesty, industry, and piety of the girls who have been prepared for first communion in the Institution, and prove that the exertions made for them have not been unavailing.

Those who wish to contribute towards a work so meritorious, may apply to the Very Rev. Dr. Maguire, V.G., 8 York-place, Portman-square, or at his residence, 13 Bulstrode-street, Manchester-square, who will be happy to receive subscriptions, or to furnish any further information. The smallest donations in money, food, or clothing, will be gratefully received by the Superioress, 15 Wood-street, Spitalfields.

CATHOLIC REFORMATORY SCHOOL,

BLYTH HOUSE,

Brook Green, Hammersmith.

Patron: His Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, Archbishop of Westminster.

Trustees: Lord Petre; Lord Edward Howard; Hon. Charles Langdale; Charles Towneley, Esq.; the Count de Torre Diaz; and Rev. H. E. Manning, D.D.

The subject of Reformatory Schools has been so fully discussed in the last two years, that it cannot be necessary, even in this first Report of the Catholic Reformatory School at Brook-green, to enter upon the general topic of its importance.

It will be enough to make reference to two points.

The first, that in the session of Parliament in 1854, two Acts were passed, empowering magistrates to send, at their discretion, any children who may be convicted before them of contraventions of the law, and sentenced to fourteen days' imprisonment, to a Reformatory School for any period from two to five years.

The other, that from the extreme poverty and depressed social state of the Catholic population of this country, great numbers of children fall, year by year, under the sentence of the law, and may, by the operation of the above-named Acts, be placed by legal sentence in Reformatory Schools where no security can be taken for their religious education. Such period of detention may extend to five years, and no possibility of release would exist.

There is reason to believe that in London alone not less than from 400 to 500 Catholic boys are committed to prison every year.

The only means of averting or mitigating the evils to which our poor boys were thus exposed, was to establish a Reformatory School under the provisions of the law.

In the autumn, therefore, of 1854, shortly after the passing of the Acts referred to, his Eminence the Cardinal appointed certain persons to take the steps necessary for the establishment of a Reformatory School, and placed at their disposal the sum of 1000*l.*

After much difficulty in finding a place in any way sufficient or suitable for such a purpose, a house and garden were taken at Brook-green, Hammersmith, in which to begin the establishment of a Reformatory School, with its necessary provisions for industry and discipline, without delay.

It was, however, hoped that, by the charitable contributions of those who are interested in this great work of mercy, means might be found to transfer the School to a more capacious and adequate site in the country, where sufficient land may be obtained for exercising the boys in agriculture. And this is a point which is now once more earnestly commended to your charity and liberality.

A Committee was at the same time appointed, consisting of

Lord Petre.	Very Rev. F. Faber, D.D.
Lord Edward Howard.	Rev. J. Bamber.
The Count de Torre Diaz.	Rev. R. G. Macmullen.
The Hon. Chas. Langdale.	Rev. J. Kyne.
Sir R. Gerard, Bart.	Rev. W. Huchison.
T. W. Allies, Esq.	Rev. H. E. Manning, D.D.
Rev. J. M. Glenie.

The Committee proceeded to invite the assistance of the Very Rev. F. J. B. Scheppers, Canon of Malines, and founder of the Congregation of the Brothers of Mercy, whose labours in Belgium, at Vilvorde, Ghent, Alost, and St. Hubert, are well known, as also the confidence lately manifested towards them by the special commission of the Holy Father, to establish in Rome and the Pontifical States the Reformatory Prisons now in operation at Santa Balbina, St. Michaele, Termini, and at Perugia.

Canon Scheppers kindly responded to this invitation by visiting England, and by sending four of his Congregation to take charge of the Reformatory School.

They entered on their work of preparing the house, and fitting it for the use and discipline of a Reformatory School for fifty boys, in the summer of last year.

In the course of a few months the house was in a state to invite the visit of her Majesty's District Inspector of Prisons, Captain Williams, who kindly promoted, by all assistance in his power, the success of the undertaking.

On his report, the Secretary of State for the Home Department issued the certificate required by the Act 17 and 18 Vict. c. 86, declaring the School to be in conformity with the provisions of the statute, thereby empowering magistrates to sentence boys to be detained in it for education.

It having been ascertained, by direct communication with the Home Office, that nothing further was needed than to exhibit this certificate to the magistrates, certain members of the Committee proceeded to call on the magistrates of the metropolis, and to lay before them the original certificate, of which they afterwards forwarded printed copies.

An interval of some months elapsed, and it was found that but four boys had been sentenced to the Reformatory School.

At length it became known that the metropolitan magistrates were of opinion that the exhibition of the certificate of the Secretary of State did not constitute a sufficient authority for them to act upon, and that a direct communication from the Home Office was further needed. An application to the Secretary of State mmediately removed this difficulty, and a notification was addressed by his direction to the magistrates. A bill now before the Legislature provides against the recurrence of this inconvenience, by enacting that the publication of the certificate in the London Gazette shall suffice to authorise magistrates in sentencing children to any Reformatory School certified by the Secretary of State.

Nevertheless, the effect of this unfortunate occurrence was, that for many months the Reformatory School stood all but empty; and that during the same period a very large number of Catholic boys were sent to the public prisons, where most of them are at this moment detained.

An application has been made to the Secretary of State, praying, that in consideration of this disappointing event, a certain number of boys, selected for their fitness, may be removed to Blyth House, as in the case of the Protestant Reformatory School at Red Hill, under conditional pardon; to this request as yet no answer has been returned.

There are at this time in the Reformatory School twelve boys, whose conduct and industry give full satisfaction. Their time is spent partly in the ordinary school-instruction of reading, writing, &c., and partly in learning to work as tailors, in which one of the Brothers instructs them with great success. About ten more will be received by the end of this month.

The cheerful and orderly behaviour of the boys is very satisfactory; remarkable evidence of good conduct and of contentment with their position has appeared; and also a very perceptible reviving of their religious sense and obedience to duty.

It must not be supposed that the year which has elapsed since the arrival of the Brothers in England has been spent without other solid and important results. The whole work of establishing a Catholic Reformatory School in this country was a new and untried experiment. Every step had to be made for the first time; and difficulties greater and more numerous than any know, but those who had to overcome them, were to be met and cleared away.

These have been, we trust, finally removed; and we may now hope for a gradual and firm extension of a reformatory system for Catholic children.

In the course of the year past, the Brothers, of whom three were Belgian, have been occupied in preparing a complete system of rules for the management of the Institution, and in the training of novices. Two, who are English by birth, have already been admitted; one of whom has some experience of teaching, and the other is competent to direct the boys in the industry already mentioned.

There needs now only the means of extending a work, of which the system and organisation have been fully established.

At the commencement of the undertaking, it was found necessary to make an unusual effort to obtain the necessary funds; and it was proposed,

1st. To invest the sum of 1000*l.*, contributed by his Eminence, as a security for the liability the Trustees have kindly undertaken.

2d. To solicit a certain number of persons to engage for three years to contribute in the following proportions:

1.	Five or more, at	£20
2.	Ten or more at	10
3.	Twenty or more at	5

3d. To open a general account for donations and subscriptions of any amount.

4th. To endeavour, in the course of the next three years, to form a special fund for purchasing a site, and for erecting a suitable building to which the Reformatory School may then be transferred; and to request some five or more of those who are zealous in this work to undertake the office of making it known, and of obtaining contributions to this special Building Fund.

5th. To request a collection in some of the churches in London, in which this work of charity may be most fittingly recommended, once in each of the three next years.

The result of this effort, which was most kindly and liberally responded to, was to raise

1st.	In donations	£623	18	0
2d.	In subscriptions for three years .	350	0	0
3d.	Interest on money invested, about	40	0	0

The outgoing has amounted to about 1000*l.*, of which about 600*l.* is outlay, in the first instance for establishing and founding the School.

In conclusion, the Committee invite very earnestly the contributions of those who hitherto have not participated in this urgent work of mercy. They would chiefly desire that the general list of smaller contributions should be so enlarged as to relieve, at the end of the three years, the few persons who, with a generosity in many instances beyond the proportion of their obligations, have somewhat heavily taxed the means at their command. And they would, above all, ask of your charity and zeal, that no opportunity may be lost, and no effort may be spared, to obtain a more adequate house, with sufficient land about it, at some easy distance from London, to which the School, at the expiration of the next two years, may be transferred.

HENRY EDWARD MANNING.

Blyth House, Brook Green,
July 10, 1856.

The number of boys admitted is now sixty-four, and will be increased to seventy by the 19th November.

Subscriptions and donations will be received by the Rev. Dr. Manning, 78 South Audley-street; and at the Joint-Stock Bank, 69 Pall Mall.

THE MEDICAL BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION,

Established in 1843 by W. Brett, Esq., M.R.C.S.,

For the Medical Visitation and Care of the Sick Poor in the Warwick-street, Soho, and Spanish-place Districts.

Patron—His Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, Archbishop of Westminster.

The lease of 16A Maddox-street having expired, we have the honour to request of the patrons and subscribers of the Medical Benevolent Institution to address all communications respecting the Charity to William Brett, Esq., 37 Golden-square. The Medical Benevolent Institution and its saving influences among the diseased for many years are well known to the Catholic clergy, nobility, and gentry. The clergy and the noble ones of the Church support the Institution, and the Institution repays them in many blessings, because it enables them, at little or no cost, to do those good works which are the very essence of charity. Little need should we have to write of so vital a charity, which proveth men's works, but that Christmas draws near, the weather is cold, the sick poor cry for help, and some who ought to remember are oblivious. Many think it difficult to paint the rose; but it is infinitely easier to paint the rose, or describe the lightning's flash from east to west, and the judgment of the uncharitable, than to convey in words the rewards eternal of all those who, imitating Heaven's highest attribute—"mercy," consider the poor sick, comfort them in their grievous illnesses, and rescue their helpless fellow-Christians from the consuming fires and pains of acute disease, which, if not allayed by seasonable aid, necessitate either a rapid death or a life of suffering to the victims. We rejoice exceedingly that our wish, so often expressed in word and writing, has been accomplished. An hospital for chronic diseases has been just established under the auspices of our Cardinal Archbishop, that distinguished and generous Prelate, the first in every good work.

Every annual subscriber of one guinea is entitled to send three patients annually.

Subscriptions and donations received by W. Brett, Esq., 37 Golden-square; the Clergy; and the London Joint-Stock Bank, 69 Pall-mall.

INSTITUTION FOR CATHOLIC SERVANTS,

15 Blandford-street, Portman-square,

Established in 1846.

Under the patronage of his Eminence the Cardinal Archbishop of Westminster, all the Bishops, Clergy, Nobility, Gentry, &c.

President—The Most Rev. George Errington, Archbishop of Trebizonde.

Treasurer—Very Rev. Monsignor Eyre.

Secretary—Mr. Thomas Boyce.

This Institution being supported partly by subscriptions and donations, the patronage of all Catholic families is humbly solicited in aid of the funds, many of the servants being too poor to enter their names on the registry. The want of such an Institution to the despised and rejected Catholic servant would be a serious privation, depriving them of the means of obtaining knowledge of Catholic situations.

Lists of every description of servants forwarded on receipt of 30 postage-stamps, and for maids-of-all-work 12 postage-stamps. Forms of application by servants may be had of the Secretary, personally, or by letter, enclosing one postage-stamp.

Families subscribing one guinea will be supplied with every description of servant they may want during the year. Subscriptions for upper-servants, 5s.; under-servants, 2s. 6d.

SOCIETY OF ST. VINCENT DE PAUL.

The Society was established in England on the 12th of February 1844, under the sanction and with the full approbation of the late Right Rev. Dr. Griffiths, which sanction and approbation have been fully confirmed by his Eminence Cardinal Wiseman. The Society (which has, by the blessing of God, extended its branches to many parts of England) is itself only a branch of the parent Society, founded in Paris in the year 1833, and which numbers at the present day conferences or branches in almost every part of the world. It is composed of active and honorary members. The active members are chiefly young men, who meet together every week for the purpose of carrying out the objects of the Society. The first object of the Society is the sanctification of its own members by the exercise of the spiritual and corporal works of mercy. Its first and most essential work is the visitation and relief of the poor at their own dwellings. It is not necessary to describe the destitution which is to be found in the dwellings of the poor in London, or in any other of our large towns; but the duties of a Brother of St. Vincent de Paul, when he has entered these dwellings, are not merely to relieve, to the best of his ability, temporal necessities, which he does by carrying various relief in kind, but as far as his position as a layman will permit him, to encourage the poor in the performance of their religious duties—to exhort them to watch over their children, and observe the greatest punctuality in sending them to the various Catholic schools established in their neighbourhood—and to invite them to the practice of any other neglected duty. The patronage of orphans is also one of the chief works of the Society. The clergy generally have sanctioned and approved these efforts on the part of the Society, which now appeals to the Catholics in England to second its undertakings. One of the greatest inducements to do so may be found in the indulgences bestowed upon the Society and on those who shall come to its assistance, first by his Holiness Pope Gregory XVI., and more recently by his Holiness Pope Pius IX. Subscriptions and donations will be gratefully received by the President, George Blount, Esq., 28 Old Burlington-street; the Secretary, E. A. Gorman, Esq., 56 Baker-street, Portman-square; and by the Treasurer, Mr. J. G. Ross, 13 Bulstrode-street, Manchester-square; to which latter address may be forwarded clothes, shoes, blankets, or any other article of service to the poor. The President and Provincial Council do not merely ask for pecuniary help: they ask for the personal support of Catholic men. Any person desirous of becoming an active or honorary member, should he be unacquainted with any of the Brothers, will find a sufficient introduction in a letter from his spiritual director, addressed to any President of a Council or Conference.

The Manual of the Society, copies of the Rules and Indulgences, and every information connected with it, may be obtained at the above addresses; and all information relating to the Quarterly Bulletin, now published by the Provincial Council, may be had on application to the Secretary of the Bulletin Committee, Mr. George J. Wigley, 34 Hart-street, Bloomsbury.

ST. ELIZABETH'S INSTITUTE,

22 Soho-street, Liverpool.

The above Institute, so called from its being placed under the patronage of St. Elizabeth of Hungary, was solemnly blessed and opened, with the sanction of the late Right Rev. Dr. Brown, Bishop of Liverpool, on the 1st of August 1854. Several of the Catholic ladies of Liverpool, wishing to dedicate their leisure time to works of charity, thought they could not employ themselves in a manner more pleasing to God than by devoting themselves to the care of poor Catholic girls; these in many instances may be orphans, but not admissible by their age to the Catholic Orphanage; there are others again, who, though not orphans in the strict sense of the word, are frequently as destitute and as helpless. For this purpose, a house was taken in Soho-street, where poor children of good character are gratuitously sheltered, fed, clothed, instructed, and trained in the various duties of domestic servants. The children receive a plain education, suitable for servants; they are taught to read and write, to knit and sew, to wash, to bake, to wait at table, &c. &c. Besides being daily instructed in their religion by ladies who volunteer their services for this purpose, a priest goes every week to the Institute to attend to this important part of their education.

1st. A girl, to be admitted, must not be under eleven or over sixteen years of age; for it has been found by experience (and in the Institute the experiment has been tried) almost impossible to train a girl after her habits have been once formed. She cannot bear restraint; regular discipline is irksome to her; and she becomes dissatisfied; and were they to be admitted at an earlier age, it is feared that the funds of the Institute would not be adequate to the long period of training that would be required before they would be fit for service.

2dly. She must be destitute, temporally or spiritually, i. e. in danger of losing her faith or morals.

3dly. She must be recommended in all cases by the priest of the district in which she resides.

The children are employed in the morning in various household duties. A great portion of the afternoon they spend in knitting and sewing.

The Committee would feel obliged if the Catholic public would send to the Institute their plain sewing and knitting. Several of the children can turn out plain work in a manner that would do credit to more experienced hands.

There is always in the Institute a stock of poor clothes, the work of the children, baby-linen, men's shirts, women's under-clothing, &c., suitable for distribution to the poor. Purchasers may be supplied with the above articles at very moderate prices.

The Institute is supported by subscriptions, donations, and penny collections. A number of young ladies, with a zeal and untiring devotedness truly admirable, go from house to house to receive the alms of the people, and especially the working-class, for the support of these poor children.

The Committee, which is composed of the Chaplain, the Lady President, and the lady who discharges the duties of resident Superioress, meets every Tuesday, at one o'clock, for the despatch of business. Recommendations for admission are received on that day.

The house is at present quite full. Number of inmates, twenty-five. Gone to service, since August 1854, twelve.

The Committee are most anxious to extend the Charity; and for that purpose subscriptions and donations are earnestly solicited.

His present Holiness has granted a Plenary Indulgence for ever, applicable to the souls in purgatory, to all the benefactors of St. Elizabeth's Institute who shall go to Confession and Communion on the Feast of St. Elizabeth (19th November), and shall say three Our Fathers and three Hail Marys for the intentions of his Holiness.

"We cordially recommend to the benevolence of the faithful this meritorious Institution, which has so steadily prospered under the blessing of our venerable predecessor. We have made our canonical visitation of the house, and can testify, from personal and minute inspection, to the extreme cleanliness of the house from cellar to garret; to the healthiness, contentedness, and good manners of the children; to the prudent but not niggardly economy of the housekeeping; and to the scrupulous fidelity with which the funds are administered.

A debt of gratitude is due from us and the public to the ladies and Chaplain under whose superintendence it is placed, to the generous subscribers to its funds, and to the indefatigable and zealous young ladies who devote themselves to collecting the pence of the benevolent for its support.

We appoint the Very Rev. E. Canon Kenrick, M.R., Spiritual Director of St. Elizabeth's Institute; Mrs. Nicholas Roskell, President; Miss Gordon, Superioress.

✠ ALEXANDER, Bishop of Liverpool."

ADMIRAL SIR LUCIUS CURTIS, BARONET.—We have been requested by the gallant admiral to state that he is not a convert to the Catholic faith, as was erroneously stated in the United Service Gazette and other newspapers in 1848. The error was contradicted by Sir Lucius himself at the time, but of which contradiction we became only lately acquainted. In a letter to the editor, dated 9th December 1856, the gallant admiral kindly says: "I beg to assure you that I entertain a very high respect for the Roman Catholics, and there are many for whom I have a great regard."

LONDON:

BURNS AND LAMBERT, 17 PORTMAN STREET,

AND 63 PATERNOSTER ROW.

A RESPECTFUL ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

THE Editor begs to return his best thanks to the Right Rev. the Bishops in British India, Canada, and elsewhere, who have so kindly responded to his request by forwarding to him the statistics of their respective Dioceses and Vicariates for publication in the Catholic Directory, and which are now for the first time issued in extenso in England. By thus making the different portions of the Church in the British dominions abroad well known to the Catholics of Great Britain and Ireland; and, on the other hand, those in India and the British Colonies and Dependencies becoming in like manner acquainted with the advanced and advancing state of the Catholic religion in these islands, the Editor fondly hopes that the deep interest which all must feel for its extension over this vast empire on which, as we proudly boast, the sun never sets, will excite all to greater exertions than have yet been made for its promotion.

N.B. The Editor solicits, if convenient for their Lordships, an annual return corrected down to the latest date, and posted in time to reach him in the beginning of November. By transmitting to him also, in exchange, a copy of the Directory published in any Diocese or Vicariate, an additional favour will be conferred.

London, Dec. 15, 1857.

TO THE ADVERTISING PUBLIC.

As a long-established ANNUAL, enjoying a very large and extended circulation, the Catholic Directory offers great and unusual advantages to persons whose business requires more than ordinary publicity. These advantages are further evident from the fact that this publication is consulted throughout the whole year by its numerous subscribers, and others who wish to become acquainted with the information to be found only in its pages; so that every Advertisement inserted therein may truly be said to be under their view for twelve months, or until the appearance of the work for the following year.

All communications to be addressed to N.B. The words "Great Britain" should be added to the Address on letters or packets from abroad.

EXPLANATORY PREFACE.

THE Ecclesiastical Year commences with the first Sunday of Advent, and closes with the last Sunday after Pentecost.

The words Double, Semidouble, and Simple, occurring in the Directory, show the different degrees of solemnity with which the Offices of the Church are performed.

The word Double, subjoined to a Festival, denotes that the Office of that Festival is more solemn than that of a Semidouble or Simple.

The order of the Festivals is as follows: Double of the first class; double of the second class; double major; double; semidouble; and simple.

A Festival is called double when an entire Anthem in the Church Office is recited or sung before and after each Psalm, semidouble when only a word or two of the Anthem are sung before the Psalm, and the entire Anthem after it, as is the case on Sundays. A simple has only three lessons at Matins. A feria is any day of the week for which no Saint's Office is appointed.

The principal Solemnities throughout the year are denominated doubles of the first class. The Festivals instituted by the Church, in memory of the Incarnation, Birth, Resurrection, and Ascension of our Lord, and of the Descent of the Holy Ghost upon the Apostles, recal to our remembrance all that a good and merciful God has done for our salvation: and as the recollection of these Mysteries contributes powerfully to inflame the devotion of the Faithful, it is proper that these should be celebrated with more solemnity than other Festivals.

Among the Saints, there are some whose Festivals are celebrated more solemnly than those of others. Such are the Feasts instituted in honour of the Blessed Virgin Mary, Mother of our Redeemer; of the Holy Apostles, who preached the Gospel and planted the Church; and of some other eminent Saints.

Some of these greater Solemnities have an Octave; which including the day of the Feast, is a succession of eight days, on which the Office and Mass of the Feast are said: but in some cases, when another Festival occurs within the Octave, the Office and Mass of that Festival are said instead of those of the Octave.

Directions for using the Roman Missal or Mass-Book.

The Prayers and portions of the Holy Scripture, of which the Mass is composed, are in part unalterably the same, and partly different every day. Those that are fixed and invariable, are contained in what is called the Ordinary of the Mass, to be found at the beginning of the Missal. The parts that are changeable or proper,—viz. the Introits, Collects, Epistles, Graduals, and Tracts, Gospels, Offertories, Secrets, Communions, and Postcommunions,—form the subsequent contents of the book. As the Prefaces are not so frequently subject to change, they follow each other in regular succession in the Ordinary of the Mass.

In order, therefore, to find out the proper Mass of the day, look for that day in the Calendar at the beginning of the book; opposite to which may be seen a reference to the page wherein it is contained. If a Double should fall on a Sunday, then the Mass of the Double is said instead of that of the Sunday, unless it be a Sunday of the first class, viz. the first Sunday of Advent or Lent, Passion, Palm, Easter, Pentecost, and Trinity Sundays, which are never superseded. The Sundays of the second class, which cannot be superseded except by doubles of the first class, are the 2d, 3d, and 4th, of Advent, Septuagesima, Sexagesima, and Quinquagesima; as also the 2d, 3d, and 4th of Lent. It must, however, be remarked, that the Gospels for Sundays, thus superseded by Doubles, are never omitted, but are recited at the end of Mass, instead of St. John's Gospel; and also, that a commemoration of the Sunday, by its proper Collect, Secret, and Postcommunion, is always made immediately after the Collect, &c. of the Festival.

But as it sometimes happens that a Double is transferred to some future vacant day, on account of the Octave of some Festival of higher rank intervening, then the difficulty of finding out the day on which such transferred Festival is celebrated, as well as all other difficulties regarding the service, may be easily removed by consulting the DIRECTORY, published annually, as a Guide to the Morning as well as to the Evening Service of the Church.

Directions for using the Vesper-Book, or Book of Evening Service.

It appears necessary to explain the order, as well as the manner, in which that part of the public Liturgy of the Catholic Church called Vespers is recited or sung.

Our Father and Hail Mary being said in silence, the Priest, making the sign of the Cross, intones aloud the Versicle, Deus in adjutorium meum intende; to which the Choir add the Responsory, Domine ad juvandum me festina, with the Gloria Patri; and when five Psalms, with as many anthems, have been sung, the Priest sings the little Chapter.

Then are sung the Hymn, with its Versicle and Responsory, and the Magnificat, with its Anthem, followed by such Prayers and Commemorations as are suitable to the day; which, if it be neither a Double nor within the Octave of a Festival, are the common Commemorations or Suffrages, and are to be found after the Vespers for Sundays.

Every Double has first and second Vespers: the first are said on the Eve of the Festival, and the second on the Festival itself. Hence it often happens that the Vespers are not of the Sunday, but of some Double that falls on the ensuing day.

To find out the particular Vespers for every Sunday and Holiday throughout the Year, consult the Directory at the day of the month on which such Sunday or Festival falls.

N.B. It may be necessary to observe, that in dating letters by Saints' days, care should be taken not to date by the day to which the office of any Saint or other Feast may happen to be transferred. In commercial or business of any kind purely secular, it would be better to avoid this mode of dating letters, as troublesome questions might arise in the Law Courts in proving such dates.

SECULAR CLERGY COMMON FUND.

The attention of the Catholic public is earnestly solicited to the above fund. This institution is the principal support of the aged and infirm Clergy of the dioceses of Westminster and Southwark. Though founded above 150 years since, it is painful to relate that our limited means are not adequate to meet the numerous pressing wants of our poor clerical invalids. We confidently hope that there are many pious souls, blessed by a benevolent Providence with ample means, who will not allow the Lord's anointed ministers to pine away in penury and privation, after they have devoted the active energies of their lives, with edifying zeal and exemplary fervour, to the poor members of the flock of Christ. There are four Masses celebrated annually by every member of this Institution for the benefit of living and deceased benefactors.

Further particulars may be obtained of the Very Rev. Jas. Canon O'Neal, Administrator, Grove-road, St. John's-wood, N.W.

Form of Bequest to this Charity.

I, A. B., do bequeath to the Very Rev. James O'Neal, of Grove-road, St. John's-wood, London, or to the Administrator for the time being of the Institution called "The Secular Clergy Common Fund," the sum of , for the benefit of that Institution.

THE CATHOLIC CEMETERY, Cadogan Terrace, Chelsea.

This Cemetery, solemnly consecrated according to the Rites of our Holy Church, is the principal source of revenue for the support of aged and infirm clergymen of the dioceses of Westminster and Southwark.

Particulars may be obtained of the Very Rev. James O'Neal, V.G., Administrator, 13 Grove-road, St. John's-wood, N.W. The Cemetery contains spacious vaults and catacombs for families, and also family and common graves. There is also on the ground a neat mortuary chapel, and a resident Priest for the regular performance of the burial-service according to the solemn rites of the Catholic Church. As the Cemetery at Chelsea is under notice from the Government to be closed two years hence, the clergy of both dioceses have purchased two plots of ground, one in the east and another in the west end of London, which will be consecrated and opened as cemeteries in the course of the current year.

See notice of a new Cemetery to be opened at Kensal-green, at the end of the Statistics, p. 50.

The Fathers have likewise the direction of three large day-schools, attended by about 600 children; besides a Sunday and night school, frequented by 200 children.

There being no provision made for these schools, and the impoverished state of the congregation rendering it impossible to support them without assistance, the Fathers appeal to the charity of the Faithful to enable them to carry on the important work of educating the poor. The smallest contributions will be received by the Superior.

NEW CATHOLIC CEMETERY.

We feel much pleasure in stating that we have succeeded in obtaining a most eligible site at Kensal-green. Our Cemetery at Chelsea being under notice from the Home-Secretary's office to be closed in May 1858, we hope to be able to open the new ground at Kensal-green for the purposes of Catholic funerals by that time. The approaches to the new Cemetery are most commodious; the site is spacious (fifteen acres); and we shall be glad to afford to poor Catholics most decent and cheap accommodation; and there will be ample scope for the rich to select family-graves and catacombs. Further particulars may be obtained of the Very Rev. James Canon O'Neal, V.G., Administrator, 13 Grove-road, St. John's-wood, N.W.

On Thurs morngs at 8 Mass is offered for the Confrat of the B Sacrament; on Frid for that of the Sacred Heart of Jesus; and on Sat for that of the H and Immac Heart of the B V M. The members of each Confrater assist, and there is a short Discourse.

The Church is open all day for the faithful, from 6 in the morning (7 in winter) till the end of the evening services, except on Tues evenings, when it is closed at 6.

Mass is offered every day in the Petre Chantry for the repose of the soul of the late Hon. Edward Petre. This is the first foundation for the support of St. George's Church.

Bequests to St. George's Church must be left to the "Trustees of St. George's Roman Catholic Church, St. George's-road, St. George's-fields, Southwark, in the county of Surrey." The debt upon the Church still presses heavily.

R. † BERMONDSEY, Dockhead. Church of the Most Holy Trinity, Parker's-row, S.E. (1834-35.) Very Rev. Peter Canon Collingridge (Missionary Rector). Revv. James Laws and Michael M'Enery.

Mass on Sund at 8 and 10, and High Mass at 11. V and Ros at 6½. On H Ds Mass at 6, 8, and 10. In the aftrn Ros at 3½, and at night V at 8. On days of Dev Mass at 7½, 8, and 9; and at night Ros at 8. On other days, Mass at 7½ and 9. During Lent Compl on Wedn at 7 P.M. On all Frids Catechet Instruct at 7 P.M., followed by a short Service at 8.

To this Church are attached four Confraternities, viz. of the M.H. Sacrament, of the Rosary, of Christian Doctrine, and of the Way of the Cross. Catholic population attached is beyond 9000, consisting entirely of labouring people, whose poverty renders them incapable of defraying the necessary expenses of the Church. In this poor congregation the Chaplains are charged with the duty of attending four extensive workhouses; the distressed objects of which look up to them not only for spiritual assistance, but also for pecuniary aid. In addition to a large School, conducted by the Religious of our Lady of Mercy, there are four other numerously-attended Schools, all of which entirely depend for support on the Pastors, who take this opportunity of earnestly appealing to a generous public to assist them with the means of keeping open these Schools, and thus baffling the malignant designs of the adversaries of truth, and rescuing the souls of these poor children from the danger of perversion, to which, alas! they are so fearfully exposed. Any assistance for the Poor or the Schools will be most gratefully received by the Right Reverend Bishop Grant, and by the reverend Chaplains, 1 Parker's-row, Bermondsey, S.E.

ROTHERHITHE, Stroud Cottage, Trinity-road, S.E. Served from Bermondsey. Mass on Sund at 10½. Aftern Serv at 3.

SOUTHWARK, Webb-street, S.E. St. Mary's. Rev. F. Lawrence, O.C., and Rev. Simon M'Daniel. On Sund Mass at 8, 9, 10, and 11. Catech at 3. Baptisms and Churchings at 4. Ros Serm and Benedic at 7 P.M. H Ds Mass at 5, 8½, and 10. Ros Instruc and Benedic at 8 P.M. W Ds Mass at 7½ and 8½. Ros and other Dev Exercises at 8 P.M. Thurs Evngs at 8, Devs to the Precious Blood, with Instruc and Benedic. Confessions heard in English, French, and German every morng before and after Mass, and on Frid and Sat Evngs from 7 to 10. Confrats of the M P Blood, Ros, and St. Patrick are established in this chapel.

St. Thomas's and Guy's Hospitals attended.

The wants of this mission are as great as they are singular. The present temporary Chapel is badly ventilated, badly seated, and is hardly capable of accommodating one-fifth of the congregation. Every effort is being made to collect the necessary sum for the site and building of a new Chapel; and upwards of 250*l.* have already been collected from the poor of the district. But unless some external help is afforded us, many anxious years must pass before this most deserving and important mission can be provided with a suitable place of worship. How is it that those whom God has blessed with means are so particular, nay, even fastidious, about their own homes, whilst our dearest Lord is left day and night in the unseemly abode of a wretched upper room in Webb-street, in the centre of London, and of a densely-crowded Catholic population?

Donations towards the erection of a new Chapel will be most thankfully received by the Right Rev. Dr. Grant, St. George's, Lambeth, S.; and the local Clergy, Webb-street Chapel, Bermondsey, Southwark, S.E.

e is felt in this mission very great need of a larger church. The s totally inadequate to the needs even of the military portion of regation. The building is of wood, extremely wretched, and does not accommodate more than 350. The average number of Catholic soldiers in this garrison is alone over 1000; and to this we have to add a civilian congregation of more than 3000, mostly of the poorest class. Moreover, we attend 4 military hospitals, a military prison, a workhouse, and a convict prison for more than 1500 inmates. The following, from the pen of our Bishop, will serve to explain our necessities:

"When we look to the multitude of soldiers who cannot even enter the chapel at Chatham, and whom the utmost activity of the clergy cannot prepare for the Sacraments before they sail for the treacherous climate of India, we are filled with dismay."

From the above note, it will appear how desolate is still a large part of the Diocese of Shrewsbury. The Bishop most earnestly recommends this portion of his charge to the charity of the Faithful. Were there means to establish Missions in Wales, he has no doubt that soon a vast number of souls would be brought by instruction and example to the blessings of the true faith. There are yet remaining amongst the Welsh many Catholic traditions and practices, and they would soon recognise the reality of that of which they still admire even the shadow. Whatever means may be placed at his disposal, either for the establishment of Missions or for the education of Clergy, shall be most carefully and faithfully administered; and the benefactors of the Diocese shall have a constant remembrance in the Holy Sacrifice,—the only return, and the best, he has to offer.

† PONTYPOOL, Church of St. Alban's. (1844-46.) Rev. A. Clarkson, O.S.B. On Sund Mass at 9 and 11; Catech at 3. Aftn Serv at 6½. H Ds Mass at 9. W Ds Mass at 8.

TREDEGAR. Rev. John Dawson. Mass on Sund at 9½ and 11.

Hitherto all endeavours to purchase or rent land for the erection thereon of a School-Chapel have been ineffectual; and the only room which can be procured for divine worship on Sundays is in a public-house. Catholics about 1500.

† USKE, St. Francis Xavier's. (1846-47.) Very Rev. Joseph P. Wilson, V.G. Mass daily at 8; Sund at 11. V and Benedic at 6. Catholics about 200.

BRECON. Rev. John Davies. Mass on Sund. at 10½ in winter, and at 11 in summer. V. in winter at 3 P.M. and in summer at 6 P.M. Mass is said at Blaen Senny on H.Ds. solely at 10. An entirely Welsh congregation.

No School-house. Catholics 250, exclusive of soldiers and their families, amounting sometimes to 200 more. This interesting Mission consists almost entirely of Welsh Catholics (the only one of the kind now existing), there having been, it appears, a Missioner always here till the death of the Rev. William Lloyd, in prison under sentence of death for his faith, in 1679. From that period there was no resident Priest, for a considerable time, at Brecon, till 1788, since which time it has been seldom vacant.

GLAMORGANSHIRE.

CARDIFF, St. David's. (1841-42.) Revv. Fortunatus Signini, Stephen Bruno, and John Bailey, O.C. On Sund Mass at 8, 9½, and 11. On H Ds Mass at 5, 8, and 10. On W Ds Mass at 7 and 8. Rosary on Tues and Frid Evngs at 7. Benedic on Thurs Evngs at 7.

Catholics about 8000, mostly of the poorest class. The large outlay wanted for an increase of church accommodation, together with the heavy debt still remaining on account of the Convent and the Schools, which are now in full work, render this promising Mission, notwithstanding its numbers, unable to supply its necessities without aid from Catholic charity.

ABERAVON, BRITTON, AND NEATH STATIONS. Rev. Wm. Marshall. Mass on one Sund at Aberavon at 9 and 11; on the next, 1st Mass there at 10, and the 2d at Neath at 11. On H Ds Mass at Aberavon at 9. Catholics about 970.

ABERDARE. Rev. E. A. Glassbrook, O.S.B. Mass on Sund at 8½ and 11. Aftn Serv at 3. Catholics, all labourers, about 700.

BRIDGEND. Rev. Henry Sutton. On Sund Mass at 11. Evng Serv at 4.

Catholics about 700. A small Chapel, with School-house, has been recently erected by the charity of two converts.

DOWLAIS, St. Illtutus'. (1844-46.) Revv. Patrick Millea and Michael Sinnott, O.S.B. Mass on Sund at 9 and 11. Catech at 3 P.M. V. with Instruct at 6 aftn. On HDs Mass at 9, and Evng Prs at 7. On WDs Mass at 8. Benedic of the B Sacrament the 1st Sund of the month. Rosary on Tues and Thurs at 7.

Mass at Merthyr every 2d Sund at 9; and one Sund of each month at Drorhew. Catech Instruc to the children in Dowlais and Merthyr on Wed from 6½ to 8.

Catholics at Dowlais and Merthyr about 3600.

SWANSEA, St. David's. (1846-47.) Rev. Peter Lewis. Mass on Sund at 9 and 11. On W Ds at 8. V at 6½. Ros on Wed and Frid at 7½ P.M.

No Mission-house! Catholics about 2500. Church accommodation much too small. Funds required to enlarge the church and to build schoolrooms, for which ground has been recently granted by the Town-Council. The congregation, consisting chiefly of the very poorest class, are quite unable to meet the wants of this growing Mission.

TREFOREST AND NEWBRIDGE, St. Dubritius'. (May 14, 1857.) Rev. Austin Neary. Sund Mass at 10½. Baptisms and Catech Instruc at 3. V and Serm at 6½. On H Ds Mass at 8. Evng Serv at 7. Mass on W Ds at 8. Ros every Wed at 7.

Catholics about 800. No Mission-fund! Catholics all labourers.

PEMBROKESHIRE.

PEMBROKE DOCK AND HAVERFORDWEST. (1846-47.) Rev. Oliver Murphy. Catholics, exclusive of soldiers, about 300.

The adorable sacrifice will be occasionally celebrated in Tenby, a cheap and delightful watering-place, for the accommodation of the nobility and gentry who wish to visit this healthy and picturesque locality, upon their giving notice to the Rev. Oliver Murphy.

CAERMARTHENSHIRE.

† CAERMARTHEN, St. Mary's. Rev. Lewis Havard, jun. Mass on Sund at 11. Catech from 2 till 3½. Evng Prs at 6, with Discourse. On W Ds and Ds of Dev Mass at 8. Catholics at Caermarthen and its several widely-separated stations, about 265.

The Mission is dependent for support entirely upon alms, and the scanty resources of the Diocese.

SOCIETY FOR THE RELIEF OF INFIRM PRIESTS IN THE CLIFTON DIOCESE.

There formerly existed in the Western District a fund for the relief of such poor Priests as, from old age or other infirmity, were no longer able to live by the altar they had served. The want of such a fund has been deeply felt, and it is our object to revive it; in fact, a sum of money has been already bequeathed for the purpose.

We can scarcely conceive a work more truly useful and charitable than this; for Priests ought surely to have some provision against old age and infirmity; and it could not be expected or wished that they should either be always, even to the very last moment of their lives, battling with extreme want, or should contrive to wring enough out of the meagre resources of their ministry to supply not only food and raiment for the present, but also this necessary provision for the future. All who are acquainted with the pecuniary condition of our Missions will know that we are not exaggerating their poverty; and we have, consequently, some claim on the laity for assistance towards this fund.

All Priests of the Diocese are alike invited to become members of our Society, though the Secular Clergy are more especially considered, because, as a matter of course, they can have no share in the provision so properly made by the religious bodies for their own members. In fact, it would be well to correct, in some degree, this apparent anomaly: that the Secular Clergy should, in temporals, be so much worse provided for in their old age than their religious brethren.

Earnestly, then, and lovingly, we commend this charity to all friends of the Clergy—to all, indeed, who esteem "the labourer worthy of his hire," even though his life be prolonged beyond his power to labour; and we have only to add, that, in grateful return for all charity, the Holy Sacrifice will be offered up every year by each of the rev. members for all benefactors, living and dead; and every donor to the amount of 10*l.* and upwards shall have, besides, one Mass offered up on his behalf by every one of the members.

With the usual complement of Professors and others.

Situated in one of the healthiest parts of England, and built expressly for its present purpose; St. Mary's College receives Students from the age of eight years and upwards, to be prepared for commerce, and for the learned professions, equally as for the Church. The system pursued in it embraces, besides the classical languages, French, Italian, and German, which are taught to all who pursue the ordinary course of studies, Mathematics and Natural Philosophy, assisted by very complete apparatus, as well as History, Geography, Elocution, and other branches of learning becoming either a scholar or a gentleman. Every care is taken of the health and comfort of the pupils; and it need not be added, that their moral and religious instruction is an object of the utmost solicitude and attention. The College is aggregated to the London University, and several of its pupils have been presented there for examination, both for matriculation and bachelorship of arts, with most satisfactory success. The course of studies is likewise directed to meet the matriculation-examination of Trinity College, Dublin.

For particulars, apply to the President, the Right Rev. Monsignor Weedall, D.D.; or to the Right Revv. the Bishops of Birmingham, of Northampton, of Nottingham, or of Shrewsbury.

OF

LATE ARCHBISHOP OF PARIS.

Little did we imagine when, in the year 1849, we presented to our subscribers a portrait and biographical memoir of the illustrious and ever-to-be-lamented Martyr of the Barricades, that we should again have to perform a similar duty in memory of another highly distinguished and martyred victim, his immediate successor in the Archiepiscopal See of Paris. In the case of Monseigneur Affre, the fatal bullet which deprived the Church of God of one of its brightest ornaments, came from an unknown hand; but in the present melancholy instance, the holy and anointed one, while engaged in a religious function in a church, and amidst a large assemblage, was struck down by the poniard of an assassin,—that assassin, horrible to think, being a priest, and one too to whom Monseigneur Sibour had been a kind and generous benefactor! This awful sacrilege was deeply felt and deplored by the religious world, as well by those inside as by those outside the Church generally; for we cannot forget the impression made upon us when reading the notices of the assassination in some of our public journals, that the writers contemplated it with somewhat different feelings, as the harbinger of a revolt by the second order of the clergy against episcopal authority.

As a full and an excellent life of Monseigneur Sibour, from the pen of M. Poujoulat, has been lately published at Paris, it is not our intention to do more than give an abstract of that work, leaving to those who may desire to know more of the distinguished career of the illustrious prelate to peruse the work itself.

Marie Dominique Auguste Sibour was born on the 4th of April 1792, in an ancient Roman city named St. Paul-Trois-Châteaux, the capital of the Tricastin country, and one of the most ancient episcopal cities of the Gauls. Many churches and a Dominican convent attested the former importance of this city, now reduced to a population of 2500 inhabitants. The Sibour family from which our Prelate came were originally of Upper Dauphiné. During the fifteenth century three brothers of that name quitted their native region, the eldest of whom, the ancestor of our Archbishop, settled at St. Paul-Trois-Château. This brother, a well-to-do citizen, purchased a mansion built—it was said—upon the ruins of an ancient Palace of Justice, from which the house so erected went by the name of the Palace. This was the abode of the Sibours till the year 1812. Andrew Sibour, grandfather of the Archbishop, filled for twenty-five years the functions of Consul in this town: he had six sons and two daughters. The second of these sons, Alexander Aimé Sibour, was the father of our Prelate.

From his earliest years young Sibour showed a predilection for religious things, and all at once he was seized with a desire to become a chorister (enfant de chœur). It was his practice thus early to take long walks in the fields, which always terminated in the chapel of St. Juste, to which the faithful of that part of the country resorted in pilgrimage on the 20th of July, the feast of the saint. At the age of eight, young Sibour was sent to an educational establishment at Pont-Saint-Esprit, conducted by a learned ecclesiastic, the Abbé Rane, under whose tuition he remained till the year 1807, when the abbé was appointed rector of the Academy of Poitiers. During the seven years young Sibour was under Abbé Rane, his great application, intelligence, and piety were fully appreciated by that worthy man, who observed, that if his pupil persevered, he would become "a remarkable priest." Young Sibour continued his studies, and finished his rhetoric. He was now nearly fifteen years of age; and having resolved to embrace the ecclesiastical state, and being by birth a subject of the Bishop of Valence, the Abbé Barthélemy Gros, curé of Pont-Saint-Esprit, applied to his lordship to permit young Sibour to enter himself for the Diocese of Avignon; a request with which the Bishop complied, though not without some difficulty, on account of the penury of his subjects fitted for the sacerdotal state. Auguste Sibour was tonsured at Avignon; and was admitted into the great Seminary of Viviers as a student in philosophy in November 1807.

The Abbé Deluol, now a priest at the Seminary of St. Sulpice, who was a fellow-student in theology with young Sibour in the year 1808, says of him, that "he was always very studious; most exact in the discharge of all his duties; of a sweet disposition; amiable and modest, and of a rare piety." In proportion as the young seminarist advanced in the science of religion, and understood its beauty and harmony, his mind was raised more strongly towards God, and his heart attached itself more ardently to the thought of entering the sacerdotal state. A pious Prelate, the Bishop of Viviers, recently appointed to the Archiepiscopal See of Tours, in a circular issued by him on the occasion of the death of the Archbishop of Paris, has alluded to these early years, showing with what edification Monseigneur Sibour had preserved the memory of them.

"Almost all the members of our clergy," said Monseigneur Guibert, "have known the pious and saintly Archbishop, who was born in a neighbouring Diocese, only some leagues from our episcopal city. Many of them were his fellow-students when he studied in our great seminary. When he came from time to time to visit his native place, he loved to behold again the cradle of his clerical education; it was a happiness to him to meet here the old companions of his studies, and discourse with them on the years of his youth spent under the roof of that house. We have ourselves seen him, after he became Archbishop of Paris, enter one day with a religious emotion into the narrow cell in which he had lived in the seminary, and piously kneel therein."

After passing two years at the great Seminary of Viviers, the young Sibour, obedient to the orders of the Bishop of Avignon, went to continue his studies at the Seminary of St. Charles, where he remained two years. At the head of this celebrated ecclesiastical establishment was M. Sollier, a priest of great merit, whose name Monseigneur Sibour never afterwards mentioned without profound veneration. The science of divinity was young Sibour's more cherished study, but he perceived the necessity of applying himself to human learning also; being convinced, that for a priest to labour usefully in modern society, and to exercise some empire over mind, he ought not to be a stranger to any thing honourable to human intelligence, thereby uniting in his person much faith and science.

To complete his studies, Auguste Sibour, by permission of his Bishop, went to Paris near the close of the year 1811, and was admitted into the little Seminary of St. Nicholas-du-Chardonnet. He mentioned his intention of following the curriculum of the College of France; and not wishing to separate his new studies from the ecclesiastical, he requested permission to occupy a chamber in the seminary. His distinguished air, his manners and comportment, secured for him what he desired; he was made a professor, and so arranged his time as to follow the public course most renowned, and to labour at his leisure in his room. The young professor thus spent three years; during which he amassed great stores of learning, and had the gratification of being noticed by the celebrated Cardinal Maury, whom he occasionally visited.

The Seminary of St. Nicholas-du-Chardonnet having been closed on the first arrival of the allied armies at Paris, the Abbé Sibour returned to Pont-Saint-Esprit, to the bosom of his family, to wait the definitive issue of events. After the restoration of Louis XVIII., he returned to Paris for a short time, and again went back to Pont-Saint-Esprit. He returned to Paris in January 1817, by permission of his Bishop, to continue his studies, but under the express condition to return to the Diocese as soon as should be ordained to the priesthood. For a time the abbé had some doubts as to his vocation, and he hesitated; but a sojourn at Rome dispelled these misgivings, and he was ordained at Rome, which he left for Paris on 27th September 1818, not without hopes of again revisiting a city which he loved profoundly, and where his heart had felt more strongly than any where else the ineffable sweets of contemplation.

The first post which Monseigneur Sibour held at Paris was that of vicar of the parish of the Foreign Missions, of which M. l'Abbé Desgenettes was curé. The new vicar had soon need of repose; he had more zeal than strength, more energy than health, and he suffered from time to time from pain in the chest. Early in May he was obliged to return to Pont-Saint-Esprit for the benefit of his health, having obtained the permission of the Cardinal de Talleyrand-Périgord, Archbishop of Paris, to remain there till it should be re-established. In the permission the Cardinal spoke of our abbé as "a subject whom he valued very particularly for his merit and virtue." M. de Talleyrand-Périgord most assuredly never imagined that the young vicar of the Foreign Missions would be one of his successors in the See of Paris. The friends of the abbé in the Foreign Missions had the pleasure of his return to Paris at the close of 1820, but no longer to exercise the sacred ministry among them; for he became vicar of the parish of St. Sulpice, of which the venerable M. de Pièrre was curé. We find Monseigneur Sibour again at Pont-Saint-Esprit in April 1821, to regain a health which could little resist sacerdotal fatigues. To relieve him from duties above his strength, M. l'Abbé Martin de Noirlieu obtained for him the appointment of Almoner of the Royal College of St. Louis; but he remained only one year in this house, to the regret of all its members, his passion for study urging him in search of more repose than he had yet met with. His desires were accomplished on the re-establishment of the See of Nîmes, of which he was made canon in December 1822, by Monseigneur Petit-Bénoit de Chaffoy, a venerable Bishop of the old régime. Monseigneur Sibour's canonry lasted seventeen years.

It would be impossible, in this necessarily brief sketch, to give a history of the distinguished career of Abbé Sibour during these years as a preacher, and a defender of the clergy in the warfare against them during the last years of the Restoration. Of the estimation in which Canon Sibour was held by his brethren of the Chapter of Nîmes, his appointment by them of vicar-capitular, on the death of the Bishop, affords a strong proof. He discharged the duties of his new office with delicacy and circumspection. Monseigneur Cart, who succeeded Monseigneur de Chaffoy, did not take possession of his See for many months, and the capitular administration was prolonged. In September 1839 the canon of Nîmes was nominated to the See of Digne; and was consecrated in the metropolitan church of Aix, on 23d February 1840, by Monseigneur Bernet, the Archbishop. His biographer, M. Poujoulat, who was present at his consecration, observes, that the countenance of the Prelate, while crossing the floor of St. Saviour's Church, bareheaded, in rochet and camail, holding his baretta between his hands, and advancing towards the choir, had something of a sublime sadness about it. Meeting his lordship shortly after his consecration, M. Poujoulat said to him, "My lord, you look like a victim who has been led to the altar." "A victim!" replied the Prelate, with a melancholy smile; "ah, that is well said. What is a Bishop but a victim?" This observation, made on the day of his consecration, was prophetic.

If ever there entered into the heart of Monseigneur Sibour a desire to be raised to the episcopal dignity, it must have been at a time when, reflecting on the grave defects of the new constitution of the Church of France after the storms which had swept over her, he felt that he had courage to put his hand to the work, and devote himself to a reformation so desirable. Now Bishop of Digne, and in some degree in possession of the right to speak and to organise, he consecrated all the leisure which the administration of his Diocese permitted to the accomplishment of a design long meditated. In his views he was aided by his cousin and friend, M. l'Abbé Léon Sibour, who devoted to the Bishop all the time he could spare from his duties as professor of ecclesiastical history at Aix. The result was a work intituled Institutions Diocésaines, the publication of which was, from the boldness of the views enforced, an event in the Church of France. The Abbé Léon, who was of a prudent and reserved disposition, had advised the postponement of the publication; but the Bishop would not be stopped by the apprehensions of his friend. He foresaw the good to be accomplished, and to which he attached the greatest hopes; and as he believed that the time was near at hand for effecting his views, he would have reproached himself with weakness had he in the least delayed the issue of the work. These Institutions treat chiefly on the relationship between the Episcopate and the Chapters.

In October 1842, Monseigneur Sibour, along with other French Bishops, accompanied Monseigneur Dupuch, the Bishop of Algiers, to Africa, carrying along with them the relics of St. Augustine, Bishop of Hippo, which Monseigneur Dupuch had obtained from the old basilica of Pavia. Shortly after the translation of the relics had been completed, Monseigneur Sibour returned to his See, whence he proceeded to Rome, to give an account of his administration to the Pope, and to submit to the judgment of his Holiness his Capitulary Statutes. He remained there only two months, the affairs of his Diocese requiring his early return. While at Rome, his society was courted by the most distinguished members of the Sacred College and the Prelature, and by the leading lay circles, who were charmed by his politeness, the graces of his mind, and the urbanity of his manners. Pope Gregory XVI. was delighted with the very worthy Bishop of Digne, as he called our Prelate; and by a decree of 15th April 1843, approved the Capitulary Constitutions, to obtain which approbation was the chief object of Monseigneur Sibour's visit to Rome.

No man longed more for the triumph of the Church, or showed greater fervour for its success, than Monseigneur Sibour; and when the prayers of the Bishops of France for the return of England to Catholic unity were asked, the zeal of our Bishop for its accomplishment was displayed in one of his most eloquent pastoral letters.

After the assassination of Monseigneur Affre, in June 1848, the importance of a successor to the martyred Bishop was immediately recognised; but at the same time it was felt that such a successor must be a reformer imbued with the spirit of the times, a prelate of a large mind and religious courage, of a tender compassion for the wretched, and capable of shining amidst the population. Such was the Bishop of Digne considered to be; and he was nominated, by acclamation as it were, to the Archiepiscopal See of Paris. Notwithstanding the dangers and difficulties which presented themselves, Monseigneur Sibour resolved to accept the charge.

The first time Monseigneur arrived at Paris as Archbishop nominate, he shed tears at the sight of Notre Dame, at the view of that great city, recently the scene of a dreadful fratricidal combat. The first visit he made was to General Cavaignac, the antique simplicity of whose manner struck him very much; and to the last he preserved a profound recollection of a chief who did not fall, but descended from power, and whose disinterested services have already become historical. The ministers, the members of the National Assembly, the clergy, and men of the world, who then became acquainted with Monseigneur Sibour, were enchanted by his manners and noble ideas. He returned to his late Diocese for a time to arrange affairs before taking a final leave of it; and about the middle of October left his poor Diocese, which he loved, and of which he was the beloved, never more to return to it.

On the 18th of October 1848 the new Archbishop of Paris, at the sound of the great bell of Notre Dame, and amidst a great multitude, advanced towards the gate of his metropolitan church, where he was received by the first vicar-general of the Chapter, M. Jacquemet, now Bishop of Nantes, who, in addressing him, observed, that the Church of Paris had seen with joy the arrival of a pastor disposed to give his life also for his flock; to which remark the Archbishop replied, that he was happy to hear from a friendly mouth sentiments which filled his heart. After all the clergy had defiled before him, standing at the pontifical throne he intoned the Vespers of the Octave of St. Denis; and after Vespers, he blessed for the first time the faithful of Paris. The Te Deum, mingled with the accents of the organ, filled the sacred enclosure with a current of religious harmony; and the hymn being finished, the clergy accompanied the Archbishop processionally to his residence in the isle of St. Louis. The people who had assisted at the solemn ceremony wished also to follow the Prelate.

The first grand Mass celebrated at Notre Dame by Monseigneur was a solemn Requiem, in memory and for the repose of the soul of Monseigneur Affre, his lamented predecessor. This took place on the 25th of October; and on the same day Monseigneur Sibour, in grand official costume, visited the spot where that Prelate fell mortally wounded. At his request, the same grand vicars who had accompanied Monseigneur Affre to the barricades attended Monseigneur Sibour on this occasion. As soon as the presence of the Archbishop became generally known, the population of the Faubourg St. Antoine was in motion, pressing to get a view of his grace, and asking his benediction. All the way from the Bastille to his residence, the Archbishop was occupied in blessing mothers and their children, crosses, medals, and chaplets; and when these religious objects were wanting, the popular piety presented sous to him to bless, which became medals. This pilgrimage lasted more than two hours. The Archbishop next visited the Faubourg St. Marceau, one of the most miserable quarters of Paris, where that truly renowned angel of charity, Sister Rosalie, and her noble assistants, spent themselves in works of mercy. On entering the Rue Mouffetard, his grace was welcomed with the acclamations of the people, who flocked from the neighbouring streets. Here, accompanied only by a Sister of Charity and his secretary, he left his cortége, and disappeared through small gates, or through narrow and obscure alleys, plunging sometimes into dark recesses, and at other times mounting rickety stairs, to reach the abodes of the unfortunate, scarcely discernible from the feeble light which reached them; hovels without air, where the poor sufferer lay on straw or on the bare ground. The Prelate spent four hours visiting these abodes of misery, speaking words of consolation and kindness to the wretched, and leaving behind him tangible marks of his charity.

But not satisfied with visiting the abodes of poverty and wretchedness, the good Bishop went to the prison of St. Pélagie, then crowded with prisoners, who had been engaged in the insurrection of June. His first visit was to the wounded, whom he comforted, impressing upon them ideas of order and peace. The poor families of the prisoners shared in his pious liberalities; and General Cavaignac, at his request, restored to liberty some of the captives from whom society had nothing to fear.

The winter of 1848-9 was a severe one for labourers and the working-classes; thousands of families, from the interruption given to trade by the insurrection, having been thrown out of employment. Monseigneur Sibour, whose charities were well known, had incessant demands made upon him; the impossibility of providing for which, from his own means, he soon saw: but he resolved to give as much as his limited resources would permit; and that his alms, as well as those of others, might be applied with discernment and be truly beneficial, he proposed to follow the example of the Apostles, by appointing faithful and zealous intermediate distributors; and for that purpose, he desired that each arrondissement of Paris should employ the Sisters of Charity to distribute their alms. This plan, however, was abandoned; and the Archbishop, in lieu of it, established a General Association of Charity in the Diocese of Paris. A committee directed the Association in each parish, and all the committees met together every month. There was a general council, and a council of administration. The Association adopted the plan of a general work called l'Œuvre des Familles, the benefits of which will ever remain inseparable from the memory of Monseigneur Sibour. The nature of the work is explained in the following note, appended at the end of the statutes of the General Association by the Archbishop: "To extend this idea of the adoption of families, we beg of messieurs the ecclesiastics, and all charitable persons, to repeat often the following observation: The number of poor form, in ordinary times, the tenth of the population. If ten families take charge of one family, the problem of misery would be solved, humanity would be consoled, religion fortified, society saved."

The Archbishop had not been many weeks in possession of his See, when he began the organisation of his Diocese, of which it is unnecessary here to give the details; but there is one part of his early administration too important to be overlooked. Monseigneur had long felt the absolute necessity of procuring for the Church in France full freedom of action in her own proper sphere, of which his diocesan institutions were the incipient step; and he now perceived that the time had arrived for furthering an object he had long desired. To attain this, he gave his adherence to the Republic; and to hasten its accomplishment, he resolved to hold provincial councils. By the organic articles the badge of slavery was affixed on the Church, as no general or provincial council could be convoked or held without the permission of the government; but Monseigneur Sibour, after consulting with his suffragans, determined to call a council, without applying for such permission; and accordingly he summoned one to meet on the 17th of September 1849, in the Seminary of St. Sulpice.

The Archbishop had passed the months of July and August, and the first half of September, at St. Germains, labouring most assiduously in arranging all the important matters to be brought before the council; and on the eve of the opening, a preparatory sitting was held at St. Germains with his suffragans. While deliberating on the points to be brought before the council the following day, the organic articles knocked at the gate in the person of their representative, M. Lanjuinais, a very honourable, mild, polite gentleman. The Archbishop rose and went into his cabinet to receive the minister of worship, who, in measured and courteous language, explained to his grace the situation of the government with reference to the approaching council; —that this situation was embarrassing to the government, which sincerely wished to second the desires of the Bishops; that there was a certain law which they should regret to see violated; that the tribune and the press might complain; but the difficulty could be overcome if his grace would apply to the government for permission to hold the council.

No Prelate was better armed than Monseigneur Sibour on the question of the organic articles. He exposed to the minister the radical nullity of that law, and expressed his surprise to find it appealed to under a government whose existence had been founded on the right of meeting; and he added, that to ask an authorisation to meet, would be an acknowledgment of a right to prevent the meeting of the council,—a right which he would not admit. After accompanying the minister to the door with his accustomed urbanity, Monseigneur Sibour rejoined his venerable suffragans, to whom he related what had passed between him and M. Lanjuinais. On the following day a decree appeared in the Moniteur, granting permission to the provincial councils to meet during the year 1849, and the government thus relieved itself from its difficulty. The council accordingly met on the 17th, and closed their sittings on the 28th September. A number of important decrees were passed concerning the hierarchy and ecclesiastical persons, faith, discipline, and the means useful for advancing the progress of ecclesiastical science.

Monseigneur Sibour was desirous of going to Rome to assist at the proclamation of the dogma of the Immaculate Conception, but had no hope of getting away, on account of the heavy burden of his diocesan duties. However, at the urgent request of Pope Pius IX., he undertook the journey; and on arriving at Civita Vecchia, he was received by an escort of honour, sent thither by the pontifical authority. The Archbishop beheld at Rome a sublime spectacle, which struck him much in its bearing upon the unity of the Church,—finding himself amidst two hundred Bishops, from different parts of the world, sitting face to face around the Sovereign Pontiff in the grand basilica. The Archbishop felt a strong and holy desire to do his best to extend this magnificent unity; and as the Pope formally expressed his wish for the adoption of the Roman Liturgy in the Diocese of Paris, Monseigneur Sibour, in fulfilment of his own strong inclination to draw closer the ties with Rome, introduced in principle the Roman Liturgy into his Diocese on 1st May 1856; but as its adoption of the Roman Liturgy required great preparation to put it in practice, Monseigneur Sibour appointed a diocesan commission to carry out the plan, reserving to himself to fix the time when it should commence. It may be here observed, that while Bishop of Digne he had pronounced for the return of the Roman Liturgy, and was one of the first Bishops to favour the wishes of the Holy See upon this point.

During his short administration, Monseigneur Sibour was indefatigable in carrying out the organisation of his Diocese. The council had ordered an annual examination of young priests during five years; and to assist them in their ecclesiastical studies, our Prelate drew up three ordinances in the month of December 1849. Instead of an annual retreat, he established quarterly general conferences, to be held in a church, to which all the priests of the Dioceses were invited. Under his auspices the Faculty of Theology of Paris was canonically restored; and he gave a new extension to the ecclesiastical establishment at the Carmes, of which the learned M. l'Abbé Cruice is the director. The re-opening of the church of Ste. Généviève, and the establishment of a community of chaplains connected therewith, for preaching and other duties, are due to the Archbishop. For men he prescribed a course of religious instruction on Sunday evenings, in the churches of St. Sulpice and St. Eustache in the city, and in the churches of Ste. Marguerite, Ste. Généviève, and St. Laurence in the faubourgs; and for the general population he directed conferences to be held in all the parish churches of Paris, for enforcing the duties of religion upon the minds of the population. But the religious instruction of the rising generation was his particular care, which he displayed by founding numerous free schools for poor children.

In closing this memoir, it is not our intention to give the details of the awful tragedy which took place in the church of St. Etienne-du-Mont in the afternoon of Saturday, 3d of January 1857, at the opening of the Novena of Ste. Généviève, and which fell like a thunderbolt on all Paris, and filled the Christian world with astonishment and dismay. The saintly Prelate was in the very act of blessing a child and the assassin himself, when the miscreant plunged the dagger into his heart. The death of Monseigneur Sibour was glorious, that of his murderer ignominious.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF THE CARDINAL PRIESTS OF THE HOLY ROMAN CHURCH.

[The Titulus, or Title, to which a Cardinal Priest is named is a church, generally very ancient, of which he is appointed superior, with jurisdiction, right to a throne, and to pontificalia in it. The body of Cardinal Priests thus represents the clergy of Rome. A Cardinal Priest therefore is said to be the titular, or priest, of the title of a given church in Rome, and he only obtains this nomination by personally visiting Rome.]

THE CATHOLIC CHURCH IN INDIA, THE BRITISH COLONIES AND DEPENDENCIES.

The following statistics refer to the state of the Church in India prior to the recent mutiny or outbreak. The ruins of our Churches, Convents, Schools, and Orphanages, in Agra, Delhi, Meerut, Sealkote, Lucknow, and Cawnpore, and the unheard-of cruelties and assassinations which preceded and followed the mutiny, are now so well known as to make further allusion to them unnecessary. Our pecuniary losses have been great, but these can be repaired,—not so the lives of our martyred priests and laity; but the prayers of the faithful will continue to be offered up for the repose of their souls. In deploring the misfortunes which have befallen us, we no less lament over those of our Protestant brethren; and hope that the remembrance of the atrocities to which we have all, in common, been subjected will infuse into us a spirit of Christian charity for one another.

The greater and lesser seminaries are exclusively for natives; the Colonial College for Europeans and East Indians. There are two convents for women of caste; one of the Carmelite order, and the other of the Sacred Heart of Mary, in which a school is kept for girls of caste. There are two hospitals supported by the mission; and several schools, both Tamil and French, for native boys.

During the French Revolution the French Capuchins were replaced by Italian Capuchins, who remained at Pondicherry until the year 1829, when the French Government sent out a missionary under the title of Prefect-Apostolic. His jurisdiction extends to the French settlements of the East, viz. Pondicherry, Mahé, Chandermagore, and Yanum. In Pondicherry, however, it is restricted (like that of his predecessors the Capuchins) to Europeans, and all that wear hats. He has two convents under his care, one of the Sisters of St. Joseph, the other of the Visitation. The latter keeps an orphanage, and is devoted to the education of the poor; in the former a boarding school is kept. The population at Pondicherry under the jurisdiction of the Prefect-Apostolic is 1500. Another convent of the Sisters of St. Joseph at Vicariate-Apostolic of Quilon.

Right Rev. F. BERNARDINO of St. Theresa, Discalced Carmelite, Bishop of Heraclea, and Administrator-Apostolic of Quilon.

An ecclesiastical seminary, for the education of native clergy, has been lately established, as well as many charity schools. There are several indigenous students in the seminary. There are 120 Catholic churches and chapels, and 49,000 Catholics; Schismatics, 7000; Protestants, 30. None of the churches are in any way subject to the control of the British Government. Vicariate-Apostolic of Verapoly.

His Grace the Most Rev. F. R. LUDOVICO of St. Theresa, Archbishop of Chyrra, Vicar-Apostolic. Residence, Verapoly, near Cochin.

Right Rev. F. Bernardino of St. Theresa, Administrator; Very Rev. F. R. Charles of St. Elias, Apostolic Missionary, Rector of the Seminary; and the Rev. Leonardo of St. Louis.

Churches of the Latin Rite.

Number of churches, 25; affiliated chapels, 29; native priests, 397; Catholic population, 69,180.

Churches of the Syrian Rite.

Number of churches, 111; affiliated chapels, 76; native priests, 397; Catholic population, 158,826. Grand total of the Catholic population of both rites, 228,006.

This vicariate is divided into parishes and affiliated chapels, with a proper number of native clergy, under the direction of European missionaries, so that it differs little from an Italian bishopric.

The Presbytery of Verapoly is an immense building, erected gradually in the space of nearly two centuries, in the form of a convent for missionaries and native priests employed there. Adjoining is the Episcopal Palace, with its apartments for offices, and two great seminaries, one for Latin, and the other for Syrian native clergy. Also, houses for catechumens, and an hospital, are there situated. All these buildings, as well as the cathedral church, are situated in an island called Verapoly, surrounded by the waters of a considerable river, which, after forming several small islets in its course, flows into the sea at Cochin. This pleasant and extremely cultivated island is less than a league in circumference.

This vicariate, though comparatively small in extent, is, however, the largest in Catholic population and native clergy of all the vicariates-apostolic now existing in India.

Except a few parishes, which are in the territories subject immediately to the East India Company, all the rest are situated in the territories of the Rajahs of Travancore and Cochin.

In this vicariate there is a great seminary for Latin native clergy, and fourteen for Syrian Malabar.

About seven years since the mission, with permission of the Holy See and Government, established a press, in which are printed, in the Malayalam, useful books adapted to the devotion and instruction of the Catholics. From the two houses of catechumens, more than 1000 heathens are being baptised yearly, besides many Nestorians, and some native Protestants. In all the parishes there are many charity-schools for the instruction of youth. The Syro-Nestorians, who are in Malabar, amount to about 30,000. They have their own churches and clergy.

In many other places there are chapels for the Catholics, who, to the number of 1000, renounced the Goa jurisdiction the same year. Two convents have been erected for the instruction of girls, one in Calicut, and the other at Mahé. In Mangalore, the foundations of another convent were laid in 1854. In Calicut and Mangalore there are catechumenates for the instruction of infidels. In the southern district are Malacca and Singapore. At Malacca there are two stations; one in the town, where a splendid church, dedicated to St. Francis Xavier, has been lately built; and another among the Jacons and Mantras, for whom a chapel has been erected. Each station has a school, and a place for catechumens. Singapore possesses a large and well-built church, dedicated to our Saviour, under the title of the "Good Shepherd;" to which are attached two schools, directed by the Christian Brothers and the Sisters of the "Holy Infant Jesus;" a female orphanage under the care of the Sisters, and a catechumenate for the Chinese. Curates—The Very Rev. Monsignor R. C. Poirier, Domestic Prelate of his Holiness Pope Pius IX., V.G.; Rev. Thomas B. Lee; Isidore Albertini; William Ford; and P. E. B. Lange, Secretary to the Archbishopric.

The magnificent cathedral in this parish has lately been richly decorated, and a superb marble altar-piece from Florence placed therein. That stupendous building has lately been raised by his Holiness the present Sovereign Pontiff to the rank of a basilica, and is the largest and handsomest church in this part of the world. Besides four commodious and handsome chapels already existing in this parish, independently of the magnificent cathedral, his grace the Archbishop has erected, solely with the voluntary contributions of the Catholic population, a very spacious via crucis, leading to a Calvary, on which stands a very tasteful and elegant chapel, dedicated to God under the auspices of the Mother of Sorrows. That chapel is erected on an eminence fronting the sea; and from all sides of the Gulf of Paria may be seen by mariners, with a very large cross standing before its door. Several asylums for the destitute poor have lately been erected by his grace; and two confraternities, the one composed of gentlemen, under the name of "Conférence de St. Vincent de Paul," and the other composed of ladies, under the name of "Les Amantes de Jesus," both created by his grace, attend daily to the wants of the suffering and destitute poor.

There are 100 pupils in the boarding-school, where the blessings of a useful, ornamental, and religious education are imparted with the most consolatory success. The day-school is highly respectable. Five elegant churches, in mason-work and slated, averaging each 120 feet in length, and 50 feet in width, were already erected in this island; and the Rev. Francis de Casta has lately built a very neat and spacious church in the parish under his spiritual control. The highest praise is due to those missionaries, and their zealous and devoted congregations, for these splendid monuments of their piety and munificence. About thirty years ago there were but one Catholic priest and a wretched little chapel in this island.

Black River, St. Austin's P. Rev. A. M'Govern (salaried). Two chapels (one as parish church of St. Sauveur). Population, 10,091.

Savanne, St. James's P. Rev. C. Conway (salaried), and Rev. — Dorbec. One chapel at Petite Savanne. Population, 9871.

In the different parishes there are 18 schools for the poor, under the special care and direction of the parish priests. On the arrival of Bishop Collier, in 1841, there were only three parish churches and three chapels in Mauritius. Since that time, seven new and handsome parish churches have been built, and two of the three old ones enlarged; and also twenty-one new chapels, eight of which are well built of stone, and four of them may be styled churches, containing each about 2000 persons.

In 1845, his lordship returned from Europe with a small community of nuns of the Order of Loretto, who are established in a beautiful convent at Richeterre, three miles from Port Louis. Their wall of enclosure comprises fifteen acres of delightful grounds, fish-ponds, and avenues, chiefly planted with fruit-trees, around which winds the aromatic vanilla. Outside, and adjoining the enclosure, twenty-five more acres of good land, partly cultivated and partly wooded, with out-houses, stables, coach-houses, dependencies, &c., belong to the convent. The convent has generally thirty boarders; and seven creole ladies and a lay-sister have been added to the community.

The Sisters of Charity were founded in Mauritius by Bishop Collier, in 1850, when a creole lady took the veil of that order. This worthy and zealous superior, at the end of only seven years, finds herself at the head of twenty professed Sisters of Charity, and of two convents. The Sisters of Charity, besides attending the sick, whom they receive in their establishments annexed to their convents, maintain, lodge, and educate 100 orphans or more, and teach 200 more day-scholars at their convents, and 600 children in their two or three schools in Port Louis, and at Pamplemousses. They have also the care of a "Leproserie," lately founded by the Catholics in Port Louis. These establishments, founded and supported by Catholic charity, possess in immovable property a value of at least 75,000 dollars, or £15,000.

The Society of St. Vincent de Paul was established here about eighteen months ago, and the most respectable gentlemen have eagerly enrolled themselves in it; so that, in so short a time, it numbers three conferences in Port Louis, and three or four in the country, who are doing an immense amount of good to the poor and to society. Deo gratias.

ST. EDWARD'S CONVENT OF OUR LADY OF MERCY, POOR SCHOOLS, AND HOUSE OF MERCY,

Blandford-square, London.

The Ladies of this community have at present under their fostering care above 400 poor children of the congregations of St. John's-wood and Spanish-place receiving gratuitous education. The fruits of their charitable labours are becoming daily more clearly developed in the mental improvement of their little pupils, and more particularly in their external neat appearance and personal character. We regret to have to state, that their largest schoolroom is still employed as a temporary chapel. Thus the sphere of their usefulness is considerably abridged by the want of means to build their new chapel; whilst the outstanding debt of 2000*l.*, with the interest on the same, for the erection of the school and convent premises, is a source of serious embarrassment to the community.

THE HOUSE OF MERCY.

The object of this branch of the Institute of our Lady of Mercy is to protect and train well-conducted young females to habits of industry. The Nuns receive their little pupils into the elementary schools at the tender age of two years; and they devote themselves with untiring solicitude to impress upon their minds and hearts the conviction that the faithful discharge of their duties in this life is the best and safest passport to the happiness of the next. Oh, how charming it is to see those pious ladies moulding the wayward wills of their little pupils to the sweet influence of order and discipline, whilst they store their minds with the knowledge of their duties as subjects and Christians, and inflame their hearts with the love of God!

From the elementary schools they are raised in due time into the House of Mercy, where they are thoroughly instructed in laundry and needle work, and in all the duties of domestic service. Here they are boarded and lodged and preserved from all external contagion of vice until they are provided with suitable situations. The ladies also receive young women of good character into the Institution during the time they are out of situations, and improve them in the knowledge of domestic duties, until they provide proper situations for them. There is ample space for the accommodation of 60 young women in the House, but the heavy debt upon the building-account is a serious drawback upon the efficiency of the Charity. There are at present 60 young women in the establishment, many of whom have to repose on the floor of the dormitory for want of means to purchase bedsteads and proper furniture for them. The present high price of provisions greatly augments the embarrassments of the administration of this Charity.

The pious sex are specially invited to patronise this Charity by laundry and needlework, which is executed with the greatest care and skill, and which is an important source of maintenance for the objects of the charity. Subscriptions and donations will be thankfully received by his Eminence Cardinal Wiseman; by the Joint-Stock Bank, Pall Mall; by the Very Rev. Provost Manning; the Very Rev. William Canon Hunt; the Rev. Edward Hearn; the Very Rev. James Canon O'Neal; and by the Rev. Mother, at the Convent.

N.B. Cast-off clothing will be thankfully received by the Rev. Mother, to fit out the young women for their situations. The Convent van conveys the clothes to and from the laundry every week. For more ample details of this Charity, please to refer to the Report in the Directory for 1855.

CONVENT OF THE LITTLE SISTERS OF THE POOR,

Nazareth House, King-street, Hammersmith.

Patrons: His Eminence the Cardinal Archbishop; the Most Rev. Dr. Errington, Archbishop of Trebizonde; his Grace the Duke of Norfolk; Lord Edward Howard.

Patronesses: The Duchess of Norfolk, Lady Edward Howard, Lady Fullerton.

The Little Sisters of the Poor, on taking possession of their new Convent, feel it a sacred duty publicly to express their deep sense of gratitude to all those kind and generous benefactors, of whatever religious creed, who have lent them aid and assistance in this holy undertaking.

The kind patronage, or rather paternal affection, extended to them by his Eminence the Cardinal Archbishop of Westminster, has been emulated by all the Archbishops and Bishops of England and Ireland; no less by the Rev. Clergy of both countries, who have every where warmly recommended the appeal of the Little Sisters to their respective flocks.

This unstinted patronage, so general and so kind, has enabled the Little Sisters to discharge the greater part of their liabilities for the portion of the work which has been completed. On their part, faithful to their engagement, they do not fail every week to offer up the Holy Sacrifice and their Communions for all their benefactors; and it is their intention to do so in perpetuum, so long as this monument of public charity shall last, in order to bring down the special benediction of the Heavenly Father upon all those who have helped to provide so happy an asylum for His aged and afflicted poor.

Doubtless the same bountiful Providence which has hitherto prospered this good work, will effect its completion; and therefore the Little Sisters feel that they ought not to relax their exertions, but on the contrary, strenuously persevere in them. For great expenses must yet be incurred in order to provide the furniture and fittings necessary to carry out the objects of the institution; and at the same time the Little Sisters feel that the institute cannot develop the due amount of its beneficial action, so long as it is encumbered with debt, which they have no funds to liquidate, their only means of supporting their poor inmates being the alms which they solicit daily at the door of the benevolent. The friends, therefore, of the community propose to assist them in their expenses by a bazaar to be held in the spring of next year; and the Reverend Mother humbly and earnestly begs the kind aid and patronage of Catholic ladies to furnish the bazaar with needle-work or other fancy articles suitable for the purpose.

The Little Sisters will be able to receive about 120 aged and infirm poor women into their new house. This great increase in the number of their poor clients will multiply their necessary wants in proportion; but at the present season of the year, the difficulty of supporting the additional number is greatly enhanced, on account of the absence of so many families who, when in town, supply them with broken victuals. They, therefore, venture very earnestly to request that all those families, to whom the care of the poor is of interest, will allow them to collect their broken food. The Little Sisters will be truly grateful to be permitted to call for it at such times as may be most convenient. They would also be most thankful for any old linen, and left-off wearing apparel, and shoes, which may be forwarded to them free of carriage.

The rules for the admission of inmates are as follows:

1. Candidates for admission must be above sixty years of age, and must be provided with a certificate of baptism in every case.
2. An admission-fee of 2*l.* 14*s.* must be paid to provide bedding,
3. All money sent by the friends of the inmates for their use, should be placed in the hands of the Reverend Mother, and not given to them. Compliance with this rule would prevent many serious abuses.
4. The inmates may receive the visits of their friends on the first and third Sunday in each month, from one till four o'clock in the afternoon.
5. The inmates are allowed to go out to visit their friends every night, on Thursdays.

Donations will be thankfully received on behalf of the Sisters, by His Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, 8 York-place, Baker-street; by the Very Rev. James Canon O'Neal, V.G., Our Lady's Church, Grove-, St. John's-wood; at the Commercial Bank, Henrietta-street, ent-garden; or by the Reverend Mother, Madame Victoire Lar-er, at the Convent.

CONVENT OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD,

Arno's Court, Brislington, Bristol.

Much interest has existed for some time in the country on the sub-f Reformatory Schools. Two were opened for Catholic boys a ars ago; but as none appeared likely to be established for girls, eligious of the Convent of the Good Shepherd, at Arno's Court, igton, near Bristol, were requested to commence this work. They ted; though with much regret they were obliged to give up a class itents, which they had conducted with much success for four They were happily able to place all the poor objects of their care in various asylums of their order, or in service, and prepared to the young delinquents, as it is one of the objects of their institute, and one with which they were well acquainted, the Mother House of Angers, in France, having a Reformatory containing 300 children connected with it. A Reformatory School was, therefore, certified by the Government at Arno's Court on the 8th of July 1856. It was filled so rapidly by children from various prisons in England, that it has become necessary to add a considerable building to enable two or three hundred children to be received, to facilitate the carrying-out their education, and the teaching them various trades.

Through the kind and generous assistance of several friends (to whom the Order of the Good Shepherd owes a deep debt of gratitude) the building has been commenced, and will be finished during the present year.

Eighty-seven have already been received; their improvement has been most satisfactory, and gives every encouragement to hope that by far the greater number will return to the world, at the end of their term, useful and religious members of society. There still remains one addition to be made to the Reformatory, which, as the children increase, becomes absolutely necessary, that is, a Chapel large enough to contain them. The two small rooms which now serve that purpose are entirely full, and not half the number have the privilege of seeing the altar. God has hitherto so wonderfully supplied the wants of this house, that He will doubtless put it into the hearts of the benevolent to assist in supplying a Chapel for the poor children of St. Joseph, under whose patronage this class has been placed.

Subscriptions may be sent to the Right Rev. Dr. Clifford, Bishop of Clifton, Bishop's House, Clifton; the Superioress, Mrs. Anne Radcliffe, Arno's Court, Brislington, Bristol; or to her account at Messrs. Baillie and Co., Old Bank, Bristol.

ORPHANAGES.

ST. BEDE'S CONVENT OF MERCY,

Sunderland.

Subscriptions and donations are earnestly requested towards the completion of the Convent-chapel, &c. Owing to the generosity of kind benefactors, the Sisters of Mercy have succeeded in getting up a portion of the building; but their funds are now exhausted, and unless assisted by the charity of those who interest themselves in the training of youth, and the religious instruction of the poor, the Sisters will be obliged for the present to suspend the enlargement of their Convent, so much needed as well for the Community as for the accommodation of the children and adults under their care.

Contributions for this object will be gratefully received by the Lord Bishop of Hexham, Darlington; Very Rev. Joseph Canon Brown, Carmel House, Darlington; Rev. James Bamber, 49 Clarendon-square, London; Very Rev. John Canon Bamber and Rev. F. Kirsopp, St. Mary's, Sunderland; or the Rev. Mother, Convent of Mercy, Sunderland.

ASYLUM FOR DESTITUTE ORPHANS,

St. Mary's Orphanage,

North Hyde, Hounslow, Middlesex.

Visitors.—The Very Revv. Provost Manning, D.D., and Canon O'Neal.
Chaplain.—The Rev. John Moore.

We are happy to be able to inform the friends of this interesting Institution, that a branch of the Religious Community of the Brothers of our Lady of Mercy from Malines, in Belgium, have commenced the administration of this Institution at Michaelmas last. The zeal and great experience of these Religious Brothers are the best guarantee for the moral and religious training of the poor children committed to their care. There are about forty poor children placed there at the present time under their charge. We deeply regret that admittance has been denied to several poor destitute orphans, because the Managers do not feel justified to augment the heavy existing debt upon this Establishment by admitting more children than their current income can support.

The premises are sufficiently spacious to accommodate 100 poor children; and we earnestly invite the friends of the orphan and of the destitute to co-operate with us in this great work. We have made arrangements with the Trustees of the Patriotic Fund for the education of three poor military orphans; and we shall be happy to aid any lady or gentleman to obtain the patronage of that fund for any poor naval or military orphan that may be recommended to us for admission into his or any other Catholic institution.

Subscriptions will be thankfully received by his Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, Archbishop of Westminster; at the Joint-Stock Bank, 69 Pall Mall; by the Very Rev. Provost Manning, Westbourne-grove North, Bayswater, W.; and by the Very Rev. James Canon O'Neal, V.G., at our Lady's Church, Grove-road, St. John's-wood, N.W.

Masters wishing for apprentices from this Establishment, and persons wishing to send boys there, are to apply to the Very Rev. Canon O'Neal.

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE,

Clapham Rise, S.,

DIRECTED BY THE BROTHERS OF THE CHRISTIAN SCHOOLS.

Under the patronage of his Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, Archbishop of Westminster; and the Right Rev. Dr. Grant, Bishop of Southwark.

The Brothers of the Christian Schools, founded nearly two hundred years ago by the Venerable John Baptiste de la Salle,* have now made a foundation in England, in which they offer to the Catholics of this country the benefit of their long experience in teaching. Their numerous establishments, spread throughout France, Belgium, Italy, and America,—amounting to more than eight hundred,—sufficiently prove the favour with which they are regarded.

In the hope of promoting the religious education and training of youth, they have opened a college at Clapham, near London, similar to those existing in France, at Passy, Nantes, Lyons, Toulouse, Beauvais, Marseilles, and previous to the year 1793, at Rouen, Rheims, St. Omer, Nancy, Montpellier, &c.

The college stands in a most healthy and agreeable situation, near Clapham-common, and about half-an-hour's drive from the centre of London, with which there is communication by omnibus every ten minutes. The gardens and recreation-grounds attached to it are truly beautiful and spacious, and contribute greatly to the health and happiness of the pupils.

Their object is to provide the sons of respectable families, and particularly of persons in business, with a solid Commercial education, grounded upon a thorough religious training.

The health and happiness of the pupils are objects of their constant attention. Each pupil is provided with a good separate bed, has a warm bath every week, and finds under the devoted and parental solicitude of the Brothers all the comforts of home. The pupils are never left alone, and one of the Brothers sleeps in each dormitory.

The course comprises all the usual branches of a solid English education, together with the French and German Languages (taught by Masters of the respective Countries), Drawing, Vocal and Instrumental Music, Drilling, &c. Particular attention is paid to all that regards a good Commercial education and the higher branches of Mathematics.

BENEDICTINE CONVENT,

Menin, West Flanders, Belgium.

Asylum and House of Retreat for Ladies.

Prospectus.

This Establishment, situated at the extremity of the city, is conducted by a religious community of the Order of St. Benedict. The whole of the buildings, apartments, chambers, corridors, promenades, and galleries, are well ventilated, and kept with the greatest care, neatness, and cleanliness. Many beautiful windings in the large gardens are at the service of the ladies for their walks and recreation.

The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass is daily offered up in the Church of the Convent, and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament given.

The object proposed by this House is to offer a peaceful retreat to ladies who have determined to lead a retired life, and also affording a sure and agreeable refuge to persons of the sex affected by indispositions which are of a nature to render life in a family difficult or impossible.

Every care which the most scrupulous exactitude can demand is constantly and superabundantly bestowed upon the inmates; they never cease to be the object of a charity as tender as it is patient; the watchfulness used in their regard extends to all times and to all places. The distractions which their state requires are ever anxiously procured for them: such as walks in the gardens and boundaries of the Convent, going out accompanied by confidential persons into the environs of the city, and carriage-drives, &c.

An able and renowned physician, gifted with a lengthened experience, belongs to the Establishment, and administers to the wants of the sick and indisposed with all that zeal and knowledge which their condition requires.

The Benedictine Nuns (who make it a duty to neglect nothing, in order to enter as largely as possible into the views of the families who give to them their confidence) are always happy when the Almighty blesses their pious efforts, and enables them to restore to the bosom of their family and to society the persons intrusted to their care.

The pension is not the same for all the lady pensioners. It varies in proportion to the quality of the apartment and the number of rooms made use of, as well as other exigencies. Each lady always takes her meals in her own apartment.

No lay person belongs to or enters the house: they are all religious who attend upon the inmates.

The nourishment is both healthy, abundant, and varied. There are, however, different tables, as there are different classes of persons.

Ladies who wish to engage the first class, and enjoy the advantages of the first table, pay an annual pension of from 1600 to 2500 francs (64*l.* to 100*l.*); and beyond that sum, according to the number of rooms they wish to occupy, the extraordinary cares or attention they may require, and the quantity of dishes they wish for their meals.

As regards the ladies who come under the second class, and who make use of the second table, their pension is on an average from 1000 to 1500 francs (40*l.* to 60*l.*). The ladies, besides their meals, which are often varied in their kind, are allowed wine every day.

Persons of the third class pay a pension of from 700 to 900 francs (28*l.* to 36*l.*). The table for this last class of persons consists of good soup and two dishes of meats, without dessert. They have the wine of the Convent every Sunday and festival-day.

The House provides, without any charge, furniture for the apartments and for the bedrooms. As regards washing, repairs, clothing, &c., should families desire it, the Convent will supply them at very moderate charges.

The pension is paid quarterly in advance. Should a lady leave before the expiration of a quarter already commenced, there is no deduction made, except in the case of a complete cure.

N.B. Families who select the Convent of the Benedictines at Menin for persons insane, are earnestly requested to provide them with certificates, and the other official papers required in such circumstances, for their admission into the Convent.

Applications to be made to the Reverend Prioress, Madame Devloo, Dames Benedictines, Menin, Belgium; the Rev. P. Smith, St. Nicholas' Church, Francis-street, Dublin; Rev. Richard Vandepitte, 6 Juvenal-street, Liverpool; M. A. M'Donnell, Esq., 23 Clarendon-buildings, South John-street, Liverpool.

INSTITUTION ST. LOUIS, under the high patronage of his Grace the Archbishop of Tours.—We beg to inform Catholic families, that at Tours, a town situated in what is justly called the garden of France, a college has been for some years established for young gentlemen, with special classes in the French language for the English pupils.

The successful result that has hitherto accompanied our efforts for the education of the children committed to our care, has determined us to give greater development to this part of our institution. The mildness and salubrity of the climate; the purity of the pronunciation of the French tongue, which is considered the best in France; the paternal devotedness of the Professors of the establishment; the spirit of piety which prevails throughout the school; the high patronage of his Grace the Archbishop of Tours,—all concur to enable us to answer fully all the expectations of parents or guardians.

Parents who could wish to afford their children the advantage of travelling in Switzerland, Italy, Belgium, or Germany, during the two months' vacation (August and September), instead of taking them home, can have the opportunity of intrusting them to the care of an experienced Professor of the establishment, acting as travelling tutor.

The terms are 40*l.* a-year, including every thing.

Form of Bequest to the Catholic Poor-School Committee.

I give and bequeath to the Hon. Charles Langdale, or other the Chairman for the time being of the CATHOLIC POOR-SCHOOL COMMITTEE, whose receipt shall be a good discharge to my executors, the sum of £ ., to be paid exclusively out of such parts of my personal estate as I can by law charge with the payment thereof; and to be applied under the direction, and to promote the charitable objects of the said Committee, or such of them as are not contrary to the true intent and meaning of the statute 9 George II. c. 36.

Plenary Indulgences

have been granted by our Holy Father the Pope to all subscribers who go to confession and communion,

Upon the 23d April, Feast of St. George, or within the Octave.

Upon the Feast of the Sacred Heart, or within the Octave.

Upon the 13th October, Feast of St. Edward, or within the Octave.

 It is requested that all remittances may be made to the Secretary, either by cheques payable on a London Banker, or by Post-office Orders drawn to his name at the Charing-cross Post-office; but not by Stamps.

Applicants for Grants must apply to the Secretary for the requisite Forms.

On the 27th September 1847 the eight Bishops of England and Wales issued a letter creating and nominating the Catholic Poor-School Committee, "it being the unanimous intention of the Bishops to carry on henceforward the great work of the religious education of the children of the poor by the assistance, and through the instrumentality, of this new Committee." The Committee, thus formed originally, now consists of forty-five Members,—one priest and two laymen from each of fifteen Dioceses. Its office and functions will be best attested by the following extract from the Synodal Letter of the Council of Oscott, 1852: "Make your schools equal in every respect to those which are open to allure away our children; avail yourselves of every encouragement and every improvement which tends to raise the standard of your education; and let there be no pretence tenable for sending Catholic children elsewhere. In effecting these most useful purposes, and procuring means for encouraging a high order of education, as well as extensively diffusing its blessings, we consider that the Institution established by us, and known as the 'Poor-School Committee,' has been eminently useful, and deserves our public approbation and our joint recommendation. Composed as it is of priests and laymen selected from all our Dioceses, it has attended to their several interests with fidelity and impartiality; and it has been the instrument for obtaining assistance and means for education, which, without its co-operation, would not have reached us. Through it the character of our poor-school teaching has been signally raised; and the erection of normal and training schools, which we now owe to its exertions and zeal, promises to secure on a stable basis the future enjoyment of this blessing. We therefore exhort and urge you to support this excellent Institution, by your liberal contributions, by your hearty co-operation, and by your friendly encouragement."

Subscriptions and Donations are earnestly requested in support of these Charities, which have been established upwards of forty-five years, and are supplying a good religious education to nearly two thousand poor Catholic children. The Committee have to regret that, whilst the educational wants of the metropolis are every year increasing, the annual resources of these Charities are diminished. It is difficult to supply the places of those charitable benefactors who are every year called away to receive the reward of their good deeds. Donations will be thankfully received by his Eminence the Cardinal Archbishop; Thomas Martin, Esq., 30 Argyle-street, Regent-street; by the Rev. James Bamber, 49 Clarendon-square, Somers-town; or by the Western Branch of the London Joint-Stock Bank, 69 Pall Mall.

Form of Legacy to this Institution.

"I give and bequeath unto George Blount, Esq., or Treasurer for the time being of the Associated Catholic Charities in London, the sum of £ , to be paid out of such part of my personal estate as I can lawfully charge with the payment of Legacies to charitable uses."

ST. PATRICK'S CHARITY SCHOOLS,

For the gratuitous education and clothing of the destitute offspring of the poor, at Tudor-place, Tottenham-court-road, and Asylum for Female Orphans bereft of both parents, lately at Heath House, New End-square, Hampstead, now removed to Norwood.

His Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, Patron.

St. Patrick's Charity is dependent on the voluntary subscriptions and donations of the benevolent, which have of late been insufficient for the promotion of its several objects; comprising the support of—

Two schools for 320 boys, superintended by Brothers of the Christian Schools;

One school for 140 girls.

Thus does the charity gratuitously afford to the children of the poor the blessing of a sound, useful, and virtuous education; and to female children bereft of both parents shelter, maintenance, and education in an asylum which is the only one in the district exclusively devoted to the gratuitous protection of parentless Catholic female orphans.

The Orphan Fund of St. Patrick's Charity is composed of the subscriptions of ladies, and exclusively applied to board, medical attendance, and rewards to the orphans for exemplary conduct during two years after they have been placed out in service. Every other expenditure for rent, clothing, and education, is provided for by the General Fund of St. Patrick's Charity, the annual contributions to which having of late years much decreased, it becomes necessary earnestly to invoke the benevolence of all, to rescue the institution from impending decay, and to perpetuate the blessings it has for more than half-a-century widely diffused.

Subscriptions and donations received by the Rev. Gentlemen of St. Patrick's Chapel; the Rev. William Waterworth, No. 9 Hill-street, Berkeley-square; Henry Barnewall, Esq., of Copthall-court, Throgmorton-street, and Richmond-hill, Surrey; the Commercial Bank of London, Henrietta-street, Covent-garden; and also (towards the maintenance of the female orphans) by Mrs. Henry Barnewall.

St. Patrick's Auxiliary Schools.

1. Infant School, Crown-street.—2. Evening School, Tudor-place. 3. Sunday School, Tudor-place.

ST. ALOYSIUS'S SCHOOLS,

Somers-town.

Patron—The Cardinal Archbishop of Westminster.
Temporal Director—The Rev. J. Bamber.

The religious ladies who for the last twenty-seven years have conducted these schools, appeal to the Catholic public for assistance to enable them to continue their work of charity. It is now more than half a century since these schools were established for the education of Catholic children, during which time many have been the blessings which they have been the means of imparting. Under the care of these religious the children receive a solid English education; they are trained up to habits of industry, and are taught a thorough and practical knowledge of our holy faith. Each pupil is provided with good board and lodgings, and taught those things most suitable for her future position in life, whether she remain an inmate of her family, or be engaged in business, or seek her means of livelihood in service. They are also instructed in needlework, which is taken in at the schools and carefully executed. The terms are from 10*l.* to 12*l.* per annum, exclusive of clothes and school-books. Some, whose parents are reduced in circumstances, are received at a lower pension; and at the present time there are thirty-six orphans, or destitute children, who are fed, clothed, lodged, and educated free of all expense.

Besides the boarding-schools there are attached to these establishments day-schools, in which 220 children receive gratuitous education, thirty of whom are fed and in part provided with clothing. During the last year fifty boarders and the same number of day-scholars have left the schools of St. Aloysius entirely fitted to take their places in their family circles, or to provide for themselves in the world.

It is painful to be obliged to state, that from the loss by death of many benevolent supporters, as well as from the the high prices of provisions, it has been found necessary to reduce the number of gratuitous admissions. It is to be hoped that these adverse circumstances may not continue, and that the patronage which has hitherto upheld these establishments will preserve their utility undiminished, now that it is more than ever necessary to guard the children of our holy faith from the proselytising influences of the anti-Catholic systems of education in operation.

These establishments have lately suffered an irreparable loss in the death of the saintly Rev. Father Nerinckx, who, for more than half a century, watched over these schools with more than parental care and affection. He has doubtless gone to receive the reward of his labours and charities; but the poor children have to deplore the loss of a father and protector. It is to be hoped that the good work which he commenced, and so successfully carried on, will be long continued after him by the generous support of the Catholic public.

Subscriptions and donations will be thankfully received by the Very Rev. Monsignor Searle, 8 York-place, Portman-square; the Rev. J. Bamber, 49 Clarendon-square, Somers-town; and at the London Joint-Stock Bank, 69 Pall Mall.

EAST LONDON CATHOLIC INSTITUTION,

14 Red Lion-street, Wapping.

For educating and clothing poor children.

SPITALFIELDS CATHOLIC FREE SCHOOLS,

Instituted 1825.

Patron: His Eminence Cardinal Wiseman.

School Establishments: Spicer-street, Brick-lane, Spitalfields, for boys; Princes-street, Mile-end, New-town, for girls and infants.

These schools are under the direction of the Marist Fathers, and are situated in the midst of a poor and densely-populated neighbourhood, comprising the parishes of Spitalfields, Whitechapel, and Bethnal-green. To enable the managers effectively to carry out their objects, they confidently solicit the assistance of the benevolent.

The smallest contribution will be thankfully received by his Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, 8 York-place, Portman-square; by the Marist Fathers, Monastery, Albert-place, Mile-end, New-town; by the Trustees, W. J. Lescher, Esq., 10 Chapel-street, Grosvenor-square; and J. Swiney, Esq., 4 Bretts-buildings, Hoxton (or to their account, at the Commercial Bank, Henrietta-street, Covent-garden); by the Treasurer, Mr. Connery, Thomas-street, Whitechapel-road; or by the Secretary, Mr. Napper, 16 Selby-street East, Waterloo-town, Bethnal-green.

TOTTENHAM, EDMONTON, AND PONDER'S END SCHOOLS.

These schools were opened to give religious education to the poor Catholic children in and about Tottenham, Edmonton, and vicinity.

Subscriptions will be thankfully received by his Eminence Cardinal Wiseman; by the Clergy at all the Chapels; and by the Rev. J. H. Dale, Chapel-place, White Hart-lane, Tottenham.

HAMMERSMITH CATHOLIC SCHOOLS.

Subscriptions for the support of these schools will be thankfully received by the Rev. Daniel O'Keefe, Hammersmith; or by his Eminence the Cardinal Archbishop.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETY,

For the Relief of the Aged and Infirm Poor of the Metropolis.

Patron: His Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, Archbishop of Westminster and Metropolitan.

This society is the oldest Catholic charitable institution in London, having been instituted in the year 1761, and presents every guarantee to subscribers that their alms will be faithfully and duly administered, the officers being entirely honorary, and the rules such as to preclude imposture. Each subscriber of one guinea per annum for three years, is entitled to recommend one poor person as a weekly pensioner; each donor of ten pounds at one time, the same; and each subscriber of five guineas per annum can recommend two poor persons.

Subscriptions and donations will be thankfully received by his Eminence the Cardinal; the Very Rev. Provost Manning, D.D., St. Mary's, Bayswater; the Rev. Clergy of St. Mary's, Moorfields; St. George's Cathedral, Southwark; of the Oratory; and SS. Mary and Michael's Commercial-road East; H. Barnewall, Esq., Hon. Treasurer, Copthall-court; T. Barnewall, Esq., Commercial Bank, Henrietta-street, Covent, garden; and the Honorary Secretary, Mr. E. Firth, 2 Aldgate.

ASSOCIATION OF THE DAUGHTERS OF OUR LADY OF COMPASSION.

This Association, which was commenced in the year 1854 with the approval of the Cardinal Archbishop, consists solely of girls under the age of eighteen. Its object is to afford the young an opportunity of practising a work of charity by combining together to raise funds for the support of female orphans.

It is thought that the children, having a distinct work thus given them to be undertaken and carried on by themselves, are likely to feel a greater interest in it; and that the Association may thus become a useful instrument in initiating the young betimes in the practice of works of charity.

Already seven orphans are being supported in a Catholic orphanage by the alms of the children of the Association.

The subscription is 2½*d.* a month, or half-a-crown a year. A copy of the Rules, &c. may be obtained by writing to the Secretary, the Lady Victoria Fitzalan Howard, Norfolk House, St. James's-square; or by applying to the Fathers of the Oratory, Brompton, by whom donations to the Association will be thankfully received.

AGED POOR SOCIETY.

Right Rev. Dr. Grant, Bishop of Southwark.

The Right Rev. Dr. Morris; the Duke of Norfolk; Lord Stourton; Lord Clifford; Lord Stafford; Rev. Dr. Doyle; Rev. W. J. O'Connor; Rev. Dr. Baldacconi; Rev. Dr. Melia; Rev. E. Price; Rev. W. Dolan; Rev. J. Kyne; Rev. J. Cotter; Rev. D. Santry; J. Hercy and Kenelm Digby, Esqs.

Subscriptions and donations will be thankfully received by his Eminence the Patron and President; the Vice-Presidents; the Directors; the Hon. Secretary, C. J. Pagliano, Esq., The Lodge, Brook-green, Hammersmith; and by the Assistant Secretary and Collector, Mr. T. Blount, 2 Leicester-place.

St. Joseph's Almshouses.

In connection with the above Society at Brook Green, Hammersmith. The Directors have the greatest satisfaction in informing the Catholic public that some of the Almshouses are now complete, and occupied. They have been built under the superintendence of Mr. Wardell, the architect, who is likewise building a new church on the same plot of ground. The whole of the fund has been expended, leaving a balance of about three hundred pounds still due to the builders. The present building will accommodate at least sixteen inmates; there will ultimately be rooms for forty. The committee or board-room is in keeping with the rest of the building, and does great credit to the architect. The Directors now call upon the benevolent for contributions towards the endowment fund; one hundred and seventy pounds have already been received for such purpose.

Subscriptions will be thankfully received, either for the completion of the almshouses or for the endowment fund, by any member of the Society, or by C. J. Pagliano, Hon. Sec.

Under the special patronage of his Eminence Cardinal Wiseman, Archbishop of Westminster.

There are eighteen respectable aged women comfortably accommodated rent-free in this Institution. There is ample space still remaining there for the erection of eight rooms more, but the Committee regret the total absence of means to carry up the buildings. Contributions for that purpose, and also to supply coals and other necessaries to the poor deserving inmates, will be thankfully received by the Very Rev. James Canon O'Neal.

BRIXTON CATHOLIC POOR SCHOOLS,

10 St. Ann's-road, North Brixton.

The above Schools are badly supported, and hence the necessity of thus calling attention to them in the Directory. The number of children at present attending the Schools does not exceed one hundred. Twice that number should attend; but they will not, so long as neighbouring Protestant Schools will give them gifts and gratuities. Will not some generous souls assist us under these circumstances?—Donations received by Right Rev. Bishop Grant; Rev. J. Cotter, Treasurer, St. George's Catholic Cathedral, Southwark; or the other Chaplains.

ST. EDWARD'S LYING-IN CHARITY,

Blandford-square.

The object of this interesting Charity is to provide the necessary linen and suitable nourishment for respectable married women during the month of their confinement. The principal merit of this Charity, under the administration of the nuns, is, that no relief in pecuniary aid is bestowed, and that the ladies visit the objects of their charity, and minister to their wants according to the necessities of each individual case. Particular attention is paid to the recommendations of Subscribers to the Charity. Subscriptions are thankfully received by the Rev. Mother, at the Convent; and by the rev. gentlemen at Our Lady's Church, St. John's-wood, and of St. James's Church, Spanish-place.

ST. JAMES'S, SPANISH-PLACE, CHARITY SCHOOLS.

Under the management of the Clergy, assisted by several lay members of the congregation.

The Schools are:

1. High-street; 2 for boys, 1 for girls, and 1 for infants.
2. Winchester-row; 1 for boys.
3. Moore-street; 1 for girls and infants.
4. Gray's-buildings, Duke-street; 1 for girls and infants.

Subscriptions will be gratefully received by the Treasurer, the Rev. James Bamber, 49 Clarendon-square, Somers-town; W. J. Lescher, Esq., 10 Chapel-street, Grosvenor-square; and A. Blount, Esq., 1 Montague-place.

STRATFORD, WALL END, AND WEST HAM CATHOLIC SCHOOLS.

INSTITUTION FOR FIRST COMMUNION,

15 Wood-street,

AND ST. ANNE'S GIRLS' AND INFANT SCHOOLS,

17 Princes-street, Spitalfields.

Under the patronage of his Eminence the Cardinal Archbishop.

The destitute state of the Irish poor in Spitalfields induced some charitable ladies to open an Institution for young women, who had not made their first Communion, in consequence of being sent to service at an early age. They are happy to inform their kind benefactors that this work has been attended with the most satisfactory results. Two hundred young women have been removed from the service of Jews, from Workhouses, and other miserable situations, where faith and morals were equally exposed to danger. During some months, they were supported and instructed in the Institution, and good situations procured for them. As Spitalfields was not provided with any suitable Girls' School, the ladies, encouraged by the Divine blessing, which gave success to their work, purchased the lease of a house in Princes-street, where at present above five hundred children and adults receive the benefit of gratuitous education, who were formerly wandering in idleness about the streets, or attending Protestant schools.

These two most efficient establishments depend entirely on charity for support; they have no Annual Subscribers; and earnestly appeal to the sympathy of the benevolent in behalf of poor Irish children, compelled by necessity to leave their native land.

The smallest donation will be thankfully received by his Eminence Cardinal Wiseman; the Very Rev. Dr. Maguire, V.G.; Very Rev. Canon Last, Ingatestone Hall; by the Marist Clergy of Whitechapel; and by the Superioress, 17 Princes-street, Spitalfields.

INSTITUTION FOR CATHOLIC SERVANTS,

15 Blandford-street, Portman-square,

ESTABLISHED IN 1846.

Under the patronage of his Eminence the Cardinal Archbishop of Westminster, all the Bishops, Clergy, Nobility, Gentry, &c.

President—The Most Rev. George Errington, Archbishop of Trebizonde.

Treasurer—Very Rev. Monsignor Eyre.

Secretary—Mr. Thomas Boyce.

This Institution being supported partly by subscriptions and donations, the patronage of all Catholic families is humbly solicited in aid of the funds, many of the servants being too poor to enter their names on the registry. The want of such an Institution to the despised and rejected Catholic servant would be a serious privation, depriving them of the means of obtaining knowledge of Catholic situations.

Lists of any description of servants forwarded on receipt of 30 postage-stamps, and for maids-of-all-work 12 postage-stamps. Forms of application by servants may be had of the Secretary, personally, or by letter, enclosing one postage-stamp.

Families subscribing one guinea will be supplied with any description of servant they may want during the year. Subscriptions for upper-servants, 5s.; under-servants, 2s. 6d.

ST. MARY'S ORPHANAGE FOR DESTITUTE BOYS,

Footscray, Kent.

This Orphanage has been established in connection with the Diocese of Southwark, and sanctioned by the Lord Bishop, for the support and education of destitute boys who have lost one or both parents.

Application for admission, and further information, is to be made to Miss Ryale, Catholic School, Footscray, Kent.

The Orphans will be under the immediate superintendence of the Priest of the Mission of Chiselhurst.

Donations in aid of the Orphanage may be paid to the Rev. Dr. Todd, Chiselhurst; the Rev. J. Cotter, St. George's Cathedral, Westminster Bridge-road, Lambeth; the Rev. J. E. North, Deptford; the Rev. J. G. Wenham, Mortlake; Henry Bowden, Esq., Chiselhurst; or to the account of Michael Fottistall, Esq., at the London Joint-Stock Bank, Pall Mall.

CATHOLIC BLIND ASYLUM,

59 Brunswick-road, Liverpool.

This Institution was established in 1841, by the exertions of a few zealous Catholics, under the patronage of the Right Rev. Dr. Brown, the late Bishop of Liverpool, and was presided over by the late lamented Dr. Youens, up to the time of his death. It has since received the cordial approval of his Holiness the Pope, who, to mark his earnest desire for its success, has bestowed upon it his Pontifical benediction.

Under such distinguished auspices, as might be anticipated, it has continued to realise the purposes for which it was founded. Demands for admission have been so great, that the Committee, a few years ago, were compelled to engage a larger house, with more ample accommodation.

Its Objects.

The promoters have in view to protect the poor blind from danger both as to body and soul; to train them up religiously; and to teach them some trade adapted to their capacity; whereby they can hereafter, if they so wish it, wholly or partially provide for their own subsistence.

Its Resources of Maintenance.

It has no other available means of support than:

1. The charity and inadequate pensions of the pupils. 2. The sale of work executed in the school, which does little more than meet the cost of the raw material. 3. Occasional musical entertainments, principally confined to the Catholics of Liverpool. 4. A list of subscriptions and donations given by them to the public.

Its Claims upon the Public.

Assuredly a School and an Asylum for the Blind have the highest claims upon Catholic charity, independently of the peculiarly distressing privation to which the inscrutable dispensations of a merciful Providence have subjected them, in the fact that it is the only establishment of the sort belonging to Catholics in the United Kingdom. The inmates at the present time, male and female, number about thirty; collected together from the remotest localities in England and Ireland.

The following particulars may be useful and interesting to the public:

RULES and REGULATIONS for the government of the CATHOLIC BLIND ASYLUM, established in Liverpool, A.D. 1841.
